ASK UNCLE LENIN

Advice for the masses!

All serious questions will be answered.

Dear Uncle Lenin,

I have a problem. Earlier in the semester, one of my professors began to make what you might call advances to me. I didn't resist at first because I didn't feel anything particularly harmful or wrong was going on. Now, however, enough is enough and that's way too far. I really don't know what to do. I don't want to find myself in trouble. Signed, confused.

Dear Confused,

What you should do is sit down with the professor in question and have a long serious talk. He is taking advantage of you and should realize that this is wrong. If the friendly approach doesn't work, it's time to seek help from higher authorities.
