

Quakers drop two more

By Pete Fraunholtz

The Guilford Men's basketball team lost twice last week in two outings to close out the regular season at 12-15.

The last, and what turned out to be one of the most exciting home games of the year saw Guilford blow a 13-point lead in losing to Wingate on Wednesday night. It was a successful bank shot at the buzzer in overtime that left the Quakers on the bottom end of a 71-69 score.

Guilford burst out of the gates to take a commanding 43-30 halftime advantage. Greg Sims contributed 12 points to an outstanding team effort that left Wingate flustered. The second half began much the same way, as Sims and Wayne Freeman were continually left with uncontested shots, thanks to the excellent passing of Sporty Jeralds and Ben Barrett.

Unfortunately, the Quakers couldn't maintain the momentum. Inadequate offensive movement, which resulted in poor shot selection and a lack of offensive rebounding helped to stymie Guilford's attack. Meanwhile, Wingate caught fire. Their consistent jumpshooting opened up the middle of the Guilford zone defense, leaving their big men with open short-range shots.

Wingate battled back to close the margin to two before senior Terry Miller tied the score at 67 with 1:20 remaining. Guilford then put on another impressive display of team basketball, using continuous movement to hold the ball for the last shot. However an errant pass gave Wingate the ball for a final shot. Wingate missed, and the game was forced into overtime, setting the stage for the winning bank shot. The victory was Wingate's tenth against eighteen losses.

On Saturday night, Elon College, caught in a battle with High Point for second place in the conference, outscored Guilford 43-29 in the second half and won 80-61, improving their conference record to 9-5. The Quakers kept pace with the Fighting Christians in the first half, trailing by only two at intermission. But Elon, in clinching second place, pulled away after halftime, and took a twenty-point lead at one point. Postell Seymore led Guilford with 18 while turning in a fine defensive effort. Seymore was followed by Barrett and Freeman in the scoring column who finished with 14 and 11 respectively.

The Quakers travel to Catawba on Tuesday for their first round contest in the conference playoffs.

Women netters open

By Mary Busken

As the temperatures rise and spring fever starts to spread, Guilford's women's tennis team is gearing up for a banner season.

Led by returning standout seniors Shirley Dunn and Sue Ireton, and sophomores Kerry Kennedy and Leesa Shapiro, the Lady Quakers and Coach Gayle Currie plan to dominate Carolinas Conference play and come away with the title trophy from the conference playoffs in March.

Dunn, who recently received the distinguished English Athlete Award, will lead the Quaker attack on the courts. In last season's play, Dunn was runner-up in both the state tournament singles and the Region II doubles competition. This past fall, Dunn took first place at the Greensboro City tournament and also has competed in the Charlotte Invitational and most recently in the Avon Tennis Championships.

Ireton, the other outstanding senior, also had a rewarding season last year. She placed first in the state #2 doubles, third in the state #2 singles, and was runner-up in the conference singles and doubles competition.

Kennedy was Guilford's MVP last season and winner in both the #3 singles and #1 doubles at the conference playoffs. Shapiro is returning to action this spring after an injury-laden season last year. Currie expects her to be a top challenger in the top three singles this season.

New additions to the squad are sophomore transfers Kris Lajeskie and Stacey Cooke, and freshman Tammy Strickland, Lele Levay, and Lili Carpenter, who is ranked a respectable 53rd in the tough Florida rankings.

The squad launches its season when they travel to Florida over Spring Break to battle with powerhouses Flagler and the College of Charleston. Other tough matches include Miami of Ohio and perennial troublespots High Point and Davidson.
