

Despite chronic operating difficulties, WQFS managers Dave Mallette, Rolf Damien, Pete West, Tim Little, and John Steeley still manage to "have a lot of fun," with an educational objective.

WQFS trying to expand to 24 hours

WQFS-91 FM, the Guilford College radio station, has again resumed operation after a series of setbacks. For nearly a month, WQFS was entirely non-functioning with various problems.

One problem was that the entire radio station had to be rewired. The production room is still non-functioning at present. WQFS is in need of "more financial support" for full operation.

Thus, WQFS "the biggest organization" on the Guilford College campus, is at present not entirely pleased with its financial backing, but remains optimistic about the future.

No longer operating on the 90.7 frequency, WQFS is now broadcasting on the 91 frequency spot. Once hampered by merely 10 watts of broadcasting power, WQFS is now a 1,900 Watt station.

This gives the station a broadcasting range all over the triad area. The station currently receives "requests" from as far away as Reidsville and High Point.

According to John Steely, WQFS has achieved one of its primary objectives, to "really represent Guilford outside Guilford." Other goals include the "constant presentation of music -- new music" and "continued action with other groups."

WQFS broadcasts informative communiques about social activities occurring on campus and in the Greensboro area. The public, in the near future, will be able to listen to WQFS twenty-four hours a day, twice weekly. The radio station is in need of about 10 to 15 new DJ's.

A note from the station: A word to the wise before one attempts to join the WQFS staff, one must be committed to work many hours in apprenticeship before ever going on the air. But, not to discourage those interested in joining the ranks with WQFS team, the ultimate concern of the station is still "to have a lot of fun" while under an "educational" objective.

Are you looking for a part-time job?

Job Location and Development offers students a listing of local part-time work. The following are present job openings in the Greensboro area:

Position: Part-time Collector, telephone collection of delinquent accts., $4.44 per hr., Mon.-Fri. 5-9, Sat. 8:30-1:00.

Position: Custodian for office cleaning, $3.50 per hr., evening hrs.

Position: Performer with ability to sing, dance, clowning, $4.00 per hr., hours open.

Position: Editorial Assistant with excellent typing skills, knowledge and interest of sports to collect sports data, $3.47 per hr., Fri. & Sat., 5 p.m.-1 a.m.

Position: Temporary Stockroom Collator, 4-6 weeks., must stand while working, $4.25 per hr., 20 hrs. per wk.

Part-time Shipper, in good physical condition to pack & unpack boxes, shipping, stockroom work, $3.35 per hr., Mon.-Fri. 11-3.

Position: Field Consultant, test & fit hearing aids, negotiable salary, hrs. open.

Position: Waitress or waiter with experience, $3.75 per hr., 10-12 hrs. per week.

Position: Service Agent to clean and gas cars, $3.65-hr., M-F 2:30-10:30.

Position: Waitress, W, TH, 11-2, F 11-3, or weekends, Tip Scale.

PART-TIME JOB OPPORTUNITIES For further information contact the Job Location and Development Office in the Career Library in Founders Hall at the following times: M 11-12, T 11-12 and 3-5, TH 11-12, and F 11-12.

WOMEN AND WORK IN THE THIRD WORLD...

A series of lectures and exhibits focusing on non-elite women, their traditional work roles, and the impact of modernization on their lives will be presented Feb. 3 and Feb. 8. The schedule is as follows:

FEBRUARY 3

1. African Women Dr. Risa Ellovich 3:30 p.m.
Dept. of Sociology and Anthropology
N.C. State University

2. Muslim Women Dr. Marilyn Waldman 7:30 p.m.
Dept. of Comparative Studies
Ohio State University

FEBRUARY 10

3. Latin American Women Dr. Maritza Almeida 3:30 p.m.
Dept. of Foreign Languages and

Dr. Carol Clark
Dept. of Economics
Guilford College

4. Chinese Women Mary H. Israel 7:30 p.m.
Outreach Coordinator
University of Virginia

** All lectures will be held in the GALLERY of FOUNDERS HALL **

PHOTOGRAPHIC EXHIBIT
LOBBY OF FOUNDERS

CRAFT/BOOK EXHIBIT
COLLEGE LIBRARY

Sponsored by Intercultural and Women's Studies.