

Southwestern Company

geson, soon to be a student manager and already a one-year veteran of the program, "Southwestern is also a great way to gain job experience. It's definitely the best preparation for the future that I've had. You learn and discover so many new things that the opportunities are endless. When the big companies like IBM and Xerox look at your resume and see you worked for Southwestern, a lot of times they will hire you right on the spot." Many Southwestern alumni have gone on to become U.S. governors, doctors, lawyers, military officers, ministers, actors as well as top Southwestern executives.

The program draws students from all over the country, and even some from British and French colleges. The students come for different reasons; boredom, lack of a challenge, and the need for money.

Amy Weidig, a junior who worked in Spokane, Washington, joined because she wanted "something challenging and exciting to do over the summer." A challenge is what most students get, as many work 13 hours a day, six days a week, sometimes dealing with hostile and unreasonable customers. Most feel it's worth it, though. Weidig felt that "it was a good experience for me. I brought back a lot of important skills and learned how to control my emotions when dealing with people. Basically, I learned how to be a professional."

PARIS SEMESTER ABROAD: Would you like to see Paris in the spring and receive Guilford credit for the experience? Apply for the 1990 Paris Semester Program. If you are now taking French 110 or 210, or if you have completed these courses or placed out of them, you are eligible to apply. Elizabeth Keiser of the English Department is this year's faculty leader. Program descriptions and application materials are available from Martha Cooley or Miriam Collins in the Off Campus Education Office, Founders 205. Deadline for applying is Oct. 9.

GUILFORD COLLEGE WRITERS SERIES: On Monday, Sept. 25 at 7:30 p.m. in Founders Gallery, Gerald Barrax will read from his poetry. Barrax is editor of Obsidian II: Black Literature in Review and advisory editor of The Norton Anthology of Afro-American Literature. Three collections of his poems have been published: Another Kind of Rain, An Audience of One, and The Deaths of Animals. The reading will be followed by an informal craft discussion.

EARN EXTRA CASH! Have fun calling alumni and parents of Guilford. Enjoy nightly coupons for local restaurants and free weekly personal calls anywhere in the U.S.! Wednesdays and Sundays from Sept. 27-Nov. 4 from 6-9 p.m. Great communications experience! Contact Lillian Lyndrup, Ext. 318, about helping with the Loyalty Fund Phonathon.

TAKE HIS BREATH AWAY or SWEEP HER OFF HER FEET: On Sunday, Oct. 1 at 3 p.m., you are invited to attend a program on basic self defense (techniques with Sanday Casterlow).

MILNER HALL LUAU '89! Help us say "goodbye" to summer by coming to our luau which will feature a D.J. with all the hits, a live steel drum band, a pig roast, a virgin bar, and so much more! Leave October 6 from 8 p.m.-1 a.m. open on your calendar. Come help us bid summer its last farewell!

BOARD OF VISITORS SCHOLARSHIPS: The Board of Visitors currently provides scholarships for students attending Guilford semesters abroad. The purpose is to aid students in obtaining the funds to cover expenses beyond the cost of Guilford's fee (e.g. airfare & personal expenses). You are encouraged to pick up application materials in the Off Campus Education Office, Founders 205.

PRELAW NOTES: The 1989-90 edition of THE OFFICIAL GUIDE TO U.S. LAW SCHOOLS has arrived after a six-month delay. Students interested in going to law school are urged to consult it for information about the 276 accredited law schools in the U.S. The guide has a two-page spread on each of these schools. You may use the guide when Alex Stoesen is in, or you may purchase one for yourself for $12.
