

The Guilfordian

Volume 77 Issue 18

Guilford College, Greensboro, N.C.

March 26, 1993

Photo by Ben Cadbury

Students united for Mar. 19's clean-up effort of the recent snow storm's fallen trees. See story page 16.

Peeping Tom alarms campus... again

Matthew Levy
Special to The Guilfordian

A voyeur was found peering into a shower stall in Shore Hall on Thursday, March 28 at 10:33pm. The man was spotted by the victim and another resident, but neither were able to give a clear description.

Two similar incidents occurred in Binford Hall on Jan. 18 and 20, but it is unknown whether the events are related, according to Security officer Don Jackson.

The suspect in the former incidents was described as being a white male with short, dark brown hair, approximately 25 years old and 5'8" with a medium build. Witnesses said the suspect was wearing a mustard or brown leather jacket, blue jeans, and tennis shoes.

After Security received a report Thursday night, an officer searched the area, but was unable to locate the suspect. He took a report and the information was used to post Security Alert Bulletins regarding the incident.

A mandatory meeting was held on Sunday at 10:00 for Shore residents, at which Officer Jackson and Helen Mulhearn and Carrie Eby from Security informed residents about the incident.

A 24-hour lockdown has been ordered at Shore for at least a week, during which passage will be allowed through only one door.

Jackson reminded residents not to prop doors open or to let strangers into the dorm and to make sure it is clear who visitors are coming to see. Also, residents were asked to keep room doors locked and to close and lock the kitchen window after using it.

Security officers will be continuing regular patrols of Shore; however, Jackson stressed the importance of reporting incidents immediately, this being the most likely way a suspect would be apprehended.

Gall S. Kasun
News editor

Jim Newlin, Chief Financial Officer at Guilford College, will resign on May 3 to accept the position of executive director of the Eastern Music Festival.

"Having grown up on the campus and having spent most of my professional career here, it has been difficult to come to terms with leaving," explained Newlin.

"I will always appreciate the professional and growth opportunities that Guilford has afforded me and I hope in return, I have carried my share of the load. What I will miss most are the friendships that have been established over the past 27 years.

"My move to the Eastern Music Festival is an easy transition, since I served as its executive director many years ago and also served on its board for eleven years. Hopefully my knowledge of the Festival will allow me to provide the leadership that it needs and deserves," said Newlin.

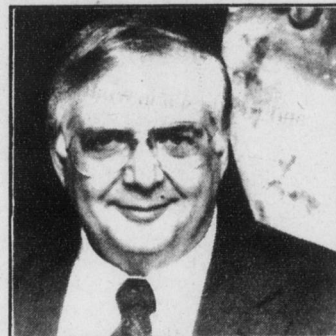

Photo by Ben Cadbury

Newlin

Newlin is a Guilford graduate. He began working for Guilford in 1965 as assistant business manager. He served as business manager from 1973 to 1981 and then as director of financial affairs through 1984.

Newlin then assumed the position of Director of Finance and Development until 1986 when he became vice-president for finance and development.

"Jim Newlin has added very substantially to the strength of Guilford College during his 28 years on the staff," said President Bill Rogers.

"We are deeply indebted to him for his vision, his unwavering loyalty, wise judgment, and his responsible shepherding of the assets of Guilford," explained Rogers.

Newlin has worked closely with Senate, WQFS, the Alumni Board, Friends Center, and several architects, contractors, government regulators, auditing firms, and donors.

"Jim has devoted his professional life to the college; he has served with imagination, vision and energy, and skill," said Provost Dan Poteet. "The college doesn't replace a man like Jim. It will be a challenge to find ways to carry on the work that he has been doing."

"Jim Newlin has been an inspirational and informative source for those of us at WQFS, past and present," said WQFS manager Jen Fuller. "For me personally, he has always been one of the most approachable administration members."

"We will deeply miss the personal presence of Jim and this depth of perspective which he has brought. But he will not be far away, and he has assured us that we can continue to draw on his counsel, his memory, and his support," said Rogers.

Community Senate's Student Loan Fund "funding futures"

Gwen Beetle
Staff writer

The Guilford College Student Loan Fund is holding the annual Loan Fund Auction. The auction will be held Wednesday, April 7th, to raise money for low-interest student loans. The Student Loan Fund was initiated in 1983 by the Community Senate, as a response to federal cutbacks in financial aid, in order to provide assistance for students in need.

The fund currently consists of over $398,000 and the Senate is hoping to raise approximately $20,000 at this year's "Funding Futures" auction, which will have a British royalty theme.

This year's auction is being sponsored by the Community Senate and will be held in association with WFMV-TV, the Airport Marriott Hotel, and various other friends and patrons of the college. The Senate is currently working on securing further donations from Greensboro area businesses as well as donations from students, alumni and staff. Items to be auctioned off include trips, dinners, jewelry and other merchandise and services.

Photo by Ben Cadbury

Pruden

Michael Pruden, Student Loan Fund Auction Committee chair, said he would like to encourage current Guilford students to donate items for the auction.

"I can't emphasize enough how important student donations to the Student Loan Fund Auction are. In the past, students have donated everything from babysitting to tutoring services. Believe it or not, such items are very valuable commodities to many people and contributing really is easy," says Pruden.

Student contributions, as well as helping the cause, also help send out a message about Guilford College. Pruden commented, "I believe the auction is a worthy cause; it sends a positive message that students really want to help other students to make higher education more affordable and accessible." Many students attend Guilford supported by loans from this fund. Final deadline for donations is March 31.

"Funding Futures" will be held at the Greensboro Airport Marriott Hotel. Starting at 7:30 there will be a preview reception with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres. The bidding will start at 8:30.

Tickets are $15 with RSVP, $25 dollars at the door and $3 dollars for Guilford students. Tickets will be on sale in Founder's lobby; donors get two complimentary tickets.

Pruden further commented, "I encourage students to come to the auction and bid and to take advantage of the great deals available."

Index

Perspectives...3

Features..... 7

Sports.....11

News.....2

WQFS

