Measles break out in English

The Guilford County Health Department has confirmed that an Interlink student has contracted a case of rubeola (hard or measles). The college is cooperating with the Health Department and is taking all appropriate steps under their direction.

More information about ruboela may be obtained at the Guilford County Health Department at 333-3338.

Jewish Federation offers activities

The Greensboro Jewish Federation has invited all Guilford students to participate in its Scholar-in-Residence Weekend with Dennis Prager.

Prager, a radio commentator and talk show host, has been writing and publishing his own journal about life's great issues. He is also working on his third book, Happiness is a Serious Problem.

Prager will lecture several times during the weekend.

The Federation office may be contacted for a schedule of events and additional information or to register for any of the weekend programs at 272-3189.

IRC picnic to be held Friday

The International Relations Club (IRC) is sponsoring a picnic by the lake on Sept. 17 from 5 to 7 p.m.

"All international students and American friends are invited," Teodor Kolev, IRC treasurer, said. "Come and meet with new people and learn more about IRC."
