Fall service trips in works

Over thirty people have expressed interest in participating in Midwestern and Florida relief work over fall break.

The largest group of students will travel to Missouri, where they will work with volunteers from the Friends Disaster Service in repairing damage from the summer floods.

A smaller group is interested in continuing the contacts made last year in Hurricane Andrew relief.

Planning meetings are being held each Monday, 7:00 p.m. in the Hut. Committees are forming to plan travel, meals and fund-raising. Cost per student is estimated at $40, depending on receipt of outside funding sources.

For more information, Carrie Eby and Max Carter may be contacted. Faculty and staff are strongly encouraged to participate, as College personnel are needed to accompany student groups.

History club open house

An open house for history majors and those interested in the major will be held Weds., Sept. 29, 7 p.m. in Founders. History department professors and history club officers will attend.

"The history club has a lot of things planned this year," said history club president Sarah Smith.

A historical walking tour of the campus will be given at 12:30 on Sat., Sept. 31, for Family Weekend. It will depart from the steps of Sternberger.

"Everyone is welcome to all of our events, history major or not," Smith said.
