

THE GUILFORDIAN

GUILFORD COLLEGE // WWW.GUILFORDIAN.COM // REENST

LOCAL FARMS, LOCAL PEOPLE:
FIND OUT WHERE YOUR FOOD
COMES FROM. SEE PAGE 7

NEWS

Documentary exposes role of North in slave trade

The slavery documentary "Traces of the Trade" showed at Guilford on Oct. 27. Dain Perry and wife Constance R. Perry of the DeWolf family featured in the film join students and faculty for the screening.

SHARP HALL/GUILFORDIAN

By Helen Gushue
STAFF WRITER

Slavery and racism in the United States is a topic most people avoid at all costs. But for some, the reality of what happened and the discrimination that still exists today is harder to ignore.

On Oct. 27, the documentary "Traces of the Trade: A Story from the Deep North" was screened as the second installment of the White Privilege Series sponsored by the Multicultural Education Department and the Center for Principle Problem Solving (CPPS).

The producer and director Katrina Browne began the project upon discovering that her ancestors, the DeWolfs, were the largest slave-trading family in U.S. history.

"It blows away the myth of (slavery) only being in the South, and follows them (the descendants of the DeWolf's) having conversations around the impact of this information

SEE "DOCUMENTARY" ON PAGE 3

NEWS

Guilford's green party

SOLARPALOOZA SHARES GUILFORD'S SUSTAINABILITY EFFORTS WITH LOCAL COMMUNITY THROUGH FARMERS' MARKET, MUSIC, EDUCATION

By Alex Minkin
STAFF WRITER

"It is easy for an institution to claim to be green," said Environmental Sustainability Coordinator Jim Dees. "What we're doing here is not window dressing; this is the future of Guilford College."

On Oct. 27, an event dubbed Solarpalooza celebrated Guilford's campuswide solar hot-water installation system among the other green initiatives begun during Guilford's theme year of sustainability. This celebration featured local music, a farmers' market, and tours of Guilford's new solar hot water systems.

"We have taken a huge step in reducing our carbon footprint," said Dees. "We are here to celebrate a major

SEE "SOLARPALOOZA" ON PAGE 2

SHARP HALL/GUILFORDIAN

On Oct. 27, students took part in Solarpalooza, a celebration of Guilford's sustainable initiatives. Senior Emma Tessler checks out the farmer's market; the gala also included local live music and tours of new solar water-heaters on campus.

SPORTS

With early wins, golf high in rankings, spirits

By Ryan Gordy
STAFF WRITER

Smack! A typical Guilford College golf team practice begins at the driving range where the players just rear back and let fly as the team works on its ball-striking.

Afterwards, first-year coach Corey Maggard, assigns goals for the day, whether that is working on their putting game or their iron shots. Then the team usually plays nine or 18 holes to cap off the day, if they get past the drills. Maggard forces his team to hit drill shots from 100 yards or less. The team will be

SEE "GOLF TEAM" ON PAGE 11

WWW.LATIMES.COM

Secretary of Health and Human Services, Kathleen Sebelius, offers a public apology in a press release. In 1946, the U.S. intentionally infected Guatemalans with STDs as a part of a medical experiment.

WORLD & NATION

New evidence links spread of STDs to CIA

By Helen Gushue
STAFF WRITER

1946: the year the United States intentionally infected Guatemalans with sexually transmitted diseases (STDs). 1,500: the number of subjects involved. 700: the estimated number of Guatemalans who contracted the disease. 64: the number of years it took for this ethical violation to be uncovered.

According to the United States Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), the United States intentionally infected Guatemalan prisoners, mental patients, prostitutes, and soldiers with syphilis, gonorrhea, and chancroid. The study was conducted from 1946-1948 as part of an experiment to study the use

SEE "CIA" ON PAGE 6

This week online

WWW.GUILFORDIAN.COM

VIDEOS

Midterm Elections, 2010
Ashley Lynch, Millie Carter

GNN with Ashley Lynch
& Millie Carter

Rally to Restore Sanity
by Justin Kirchner

Solarpalooza
by Jack Sinclair

Halloween Fest
by Ashley Lynch

PHOTOS BY JACK SINCLAIR

STORIES

Fall sports update

By Ryan Gordy