NEW ORLEANS CONFERENCE.

For the last ten years students of our country have felt the great need of getting together to discuss problems important in all colleges. This need, to a great extent, has been filled linson, E. Griffin, R. Reeves, M. Chinby district conferences of each of the organizations in college. It is the purpose of the students at such conferences to discuss freely and fully the problems in their college. The purpose of the student body for sending delegates to conferences is that they might bring back new ideas for helping to build up the morale of the student body.
