EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The athletic season is at hand, bringing with it hard work, friendly rivalry, enthusiastic class spirit, and the rewards of a game well played. The Seniors began wearing their class colors on Wednesday and the other classes have followed. Teams, it is quite evident that your respective classes are backing you with all their loyalty and enthusiastic interest. They want a peppy game, a quick game, an interesting game, and above all, a clean game. Foul play on the part of the winners will take the joy and the glory from the most spectacular victory, and, on the part of the losers, will plunge them into a shame and a defeat that is real.

Every student on the campus will be gathered around the court on Thursday to witness the inter-class games, and excitement will run high. Class spirit will reign supreme, and that friendly and wholesome rivalry that is the making of an event of this kind will be evidenced on all sides. It is possible that, in all this crowd, an unfriendly and antagonistic spirit will be aroused, that it may even be made manifest, and spread; this is possible, but not probable. It is wrong, unreasonable, entirely destructive, and undesirable. The right attitude and good sportsmanship are needed not only on the field of battle, but in those who watch and cheer.

The Christmas holidays are drawing near, and with them a respite from the cares and duties of college life, but not until they actually arrive, should there be a laxness on the part of us who are students. The results of the deficiency reports have been of great interest, and the percentage of failures and near failures are, in some cases, quite alarming. Don't wait till examinations make of your deficiency a permanent record, but now, while there is yet time, improve your standing.

The student body as a whole, are much interested in the scholastic progress of Salem in this critical period of her long history, and greatly desire that she be recognized by the National Association.

Before the beginning of the present term, Alice Clewell Memorial Building was not formally thrown open for visiting, and, consequently, only a small percentage of interested persons has been given the opportunity of inspecting the new dormitory. On Tuesday evening, Nov. 28, from 7:30 to 10:30, the students, faculty, and Board of Trustees of Salem College will act as hosts and hostesses at a general housewarming, to which every student and resident of Winston-Salem is invited. At that time, the visitors will be given the opportunity of seeing the living arrangements of the most modern college dormitory in the South.

SENIORS HOSTESS TO CAROLINA MUSIC CLUBS.

After the concert on Monday night the Seniors were hostesses to the members of the University of North Carolina Music Club. The occasion was a reception in the living room of Alice Clewell Building.

The guests were greeted at the door by Miss Josephine Shaffner, Mrs. H. E. Rondthaler, Miss Lula May Stipe, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Heath, and Mr. C. H. Higgins. During the evening a delicious salad course with punch was served by Misses Eleanor Shaffner, Mary Pfohl, Marion Cooper, Lois Crowell, Alice Dunklee, Jean Abell, Lillian Moseley, Evelyn Tucker and Louise Latta.

We Wonder Why.

Alice Cilley (answering telephone call): "Hello! This is Alice Cilley. Did you want me?"

Answering Voice: "No, we don't want you. This is the police station."

Heard in the Chemistry Lab.: "Mr. Higgins, please put a quarter in the meter. The gas is out."

Miss deBarritt (to Lit class): Who introduced blank verse?

(No response.)

Miss deB.: Why, don't you remember? It was Sighit and Worry! (Wyatt and Currey.)

JOKES.

Mabel Chinnis: "I can't drink any more water."

Senior: "Why?"

Mabel Chinnis: "Because I'm afraid I'll rust my iron chest".

Pud Griffin: "I'm giong to Cuba when I graduate."

Alice Rulfs: "What do you want to go up there for?"

E. Connor: "You know Pud has always wanted to go to South America."

Miss Jackson: "That's good! Now you hit that with real decision."

Edith Hanes: "No'm I didn't. I hit it with my fist."

Marion Yongue: "Bee, make me a sentence with 'chronicle' in it."

Ella B. Jones: "The girl had an attack of chronicle appendicitis."

WALKING CLUB VISITS CITY WATER WORKS

"Oh! a non-working union?" replied Mr. Higgins.

"Uh-huh! I thought it looked like it," was the small boy's retort.

Girls! you'd better go hiking when the next opportunity presents itself. This wonderful autumn weather will soon be over. Take advantage of it while it lasts.
