

JOKES

Why They Missed Fame
Lots of men would have left their foot-prints
Time's eternal sands to grace,
Had they gotten mother's slipper
At the proper time and place.

Bishop—"Who can tell me what the Epistles were?"
Laura Howell—"I can. They were the wives of the apostles."

At the Polls
"What is your age, Madame?"
"I've seen thirty summers."
"How long have you been blind?"

Wife, reading newspaper to husband—"Here's a couple that have been married after fifty years of courtship."
Husband—"We'll I'm not surprised."
Wife—"Why?"
Husband—"He was probably so weak he couldn't hold out any longer."

Judge—"Take your choice, sixty days in jail or sixty dollars."
Culprit—"I'll take the sixty dollars"

Teacher-to-Boy—"Use the word fascinate in a sentence."
Boy—"I had a girl who had twelve buttons on her dress but she got so fat she could only fascinate."

Miss deBarritt (addressing class on "Romeo and Juliet") "Do you all remember in the balcony scene where—
E. Tyler (in breathless attention) "Yes'm!"

Miss deBarritt: Miss Lyerly, take out the card on which you have written the notable lines taken from "Midsummer Nights Dream" and read them to us.
Hickory: "Oh, I left them in the book, Miss deBarritt, I didn't take them out."

To Rachel Davis and K. Kincaid who are speaking of sines, cosines and tangents—
Polly Wolff: "You have to know a lot of math to work that chemistry, don't you?"

Nancye Lowe: "These soup bowls are the hardest things to pass."
Margaret Nicholls: "Not as hard as exams, though."

H. Uzzle (to Julia Bethea, who is reading marriage statistics) "What makes you always read those for?"
J. Bethea: "Because I want to see if more men than women get married."

MEETING OF REGISTRARS

On March 2nd and 3rd, a meeting of the registrars of North Carolina Colleges was held in Greensboro at N. C. C. W. On the first afternoon Dr. Thomas Wilson of U. N. C., Dr. Paschal, Wake Forest; Dean Wanamaker, Trinity; Dr. Hood, Davidson; Dr. Boomower, Meredith; Miss Moore, N. C. C. W.; Miss Forman, Salem, the registrars of the seven North Carolina colleges belonging to the Southern Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools, met.

Saturday, the representatives of all North Carolina colleges were invited to attend the meeting and a State Association of College Registrars was organized with Dr. Thos. Wilson of U. N. C. as chairman and Miss Moore of N. C. C. W. as secretary. The additional members were Miss McLean, Queens; Miss Brock, Greensboro College for Women; President Case, Atlantic Christian College; President Longaker, Lenoir; Miss Robinson, Chowan; Miss Turner, St. Mary's; Mr. Hollingsworth, Mitchell; Mr. Owen, N. C. A. & E.

The members of this organization who represent colleges in the Southern Association, also belong to the National Association of Registrars which meets every other year.

The work of these meetings was concerned chiefly with the work of the high schools of the State as shown by their 1922 graduates now in college freshman classes. Plans for a uniform definition of what constitutes an acceptable unit for college entrance was left to a committee who will report in May. Through this work it is hoped that all high schools may have this information for use of 1923 graduates.

This State Association of Registrars will be a great help to both colleges and high schools and we look forward to other reports from the work begun by them.
