

MISS WEBB LECTURES

AT MUSIC HOUR

On Thursday, October 25th the weekly music hour took the form of a talk on the violin, and violin playing. Miss Webb began by telling her audience the pleasures as well as the difficulties of violin study, not only as a solo instrument, but also as one part of an orchestral whole. She explained the mistaken illusion that one must be able to sing or play the piano, else there would be no hope of the violin being other than an instrument of torture in his hands. She then discussed the construction of the instrument and explained to her audience different effects which often surprise and puzzle those who know little about violin playing. These were illustrated by Miss Laura Howell who skilfully played several passages.

The lecture was followed by a short programme of violin numbers, selected to illustrate combinations of instruments. The programme was as follows

Violin Duet—Esther Eörd and Elizabeth Parker.

Violin Solo, with Harp accompaniment—Mary Pfohl and Eleanor Shaffner.

Violin Solo with Organ accompaniment—Isabel Wenhold.

Violin Solo with Piona accompaniment—Laura Howell.

Miss Webb stressed the fact that the study of the violin is well worth while. After this interesting lecture her audience will be better able to appreciate violin playing because of a wider knowledge of the technique of this instrument.

Mrs. Meinung—"Would you like to put small feather stitching on this garment?"

Freshman—"I would; but really, I have no small feathers."

CHAPEL HILL HAS NEW COFFEE HOUSE

Chapel Hill students at last have a public place where they can while away their time nochalantly and sip their afternoon tea. In other words Chapel Hill has a real Coffee house, just like those you find in New York or London or any large city.

Its owner and proprietress is Miss Nancy Battle, of Chapel Hill. It is the old Seton Barbee place next to the Methodist church. No one passing through the town could miss it, for a big black and yellow sign facing the street beckons every one to enter. It reads "Nancy's Coffee House—Hot Waffles At all Hours."

FIRST MEETING OF FRENCH CLUB THURSDAY EVENING

The first meeting of the French Club was held Thursday evening, Oct. 25th, at 6.30 o'clock. Those present answered the roll call with a current event selection from French newspapers, and Miss Minnie Smith, head of the French department, gave a short lecture on "Men of France who are in the Public Eye Today. After a short initiation of the new members, the meeting was adjourned.

Miss Burrell, explaining problem to class in geometry—"Every one please watch the blackboard when I run thru it again."

MISS RACHEL DAVIS IN INFIRMARY.

Miss Rachel Davis is at present in the infirmary as a result of an accident which occurred Friday evening. She was to play a part in the program at the Y. W. C. A. meeting, and was hurrying to the recreation room when she fell the entire flight of stairs. The fall resulted in a bad cut on her head, but Dr. Pfohl was immediately summoned, and stitches were taken. The school extends to Miss Davis best wishes for a speedy recovery.

An Unincorporated Corporation—Miss Forman—"Do corporations have to have charters?"

Nettie Allen—"They don't if they are not incorporated."

WORLD NEWS

The revolt started Monday, with General Metaxas as leader, but was put down with little difficulty, although some fighting resulted, and there were heavy casualties in the rebel ranks. One of the more important battles, near Chalcis, occurred when Colonel Diras and his detachment had a skirmish with a small portion of the national army under General Othonios. There were fourteen hundred mutineers, eight hundred of whom were taken prisoners.

At Schismature and Katerina the rebels fled, and their officers were captured. The same news comes of Zeiras from Saloniki. Colonel Plastiras also fled the revolution which resulted in the downfall of King Constantine. It is believed that the uprisings in Macedonia and Peloponessus will soon end.

*The President and Cabinet
And governors of every State
Must help the dry enforcement laws
And everyone co-operate.*

President Coolidge very forcibly addressed the meeting of thirty-seven governors on the subject of dry enforcement. He presented the following six points: Co-operation by national authorities in all enforcement activities; state educational endeavors in behalf of temperance; conventions of municipal, county and state enforcement officials and of the press; calls by the governors upon the prosecuting attorneys; adoption by the governors and federal government of some action to impress lawless citizens with the sanctity of the law.

Governor Purviss, of Minnesota, suggested a seventh point, that the national government shall arrange with state boards of education to teach children in the schools the results of the use of alcoholic beverages. All those present seemed heartily in favor of these provisions except Governor Ritchie and Governor Smith, who accepted them—with reservations. The importance of law enforcement was stressed, both in relation to the present issue and on the general principle of respect for the Constitution.
