

SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS IN EVIDENCE AT SALEM

The spirit of Christmas is already in the air at Salem. The railroad officials were here last Monday to take the orders for tickets. With breathless suspense, the long line waited to give their orders, some going to Florida, some to Georgia, to South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Virginia, and New York. On next Monday, the men will be back again with the tickets.

Saturday night, there will be a Christmas banquet in the dining room and then a Christmas tree in the living room with a real Santa Claus. Sunday, there will be a wonderful Christmas vesper service in the library. Bishop Rondthaler will preside and Christmas carols will be sung. There will be a Christmas tree with small figures, representing the shepherds, Mary and the Christ-child.

Then when Wednesday comes—all aboard for the best place on earth, home.

WALKING CLUB GOES ON REGULAR SATURDAY HIKE

Last Saturday afternoon the Walking Club, under the leadership of Dean Shirley, took a delightful hike out by Granville and through the woods to Ardmore. When going through a narrow woods road, the leaders with Dean Shirley thought they would play a trick on the others by hiding behind some trees; so when the hikers with Miss Jackson came to this point, thinking they were lost, and turning to see what was the matter, they discovered the others in hiding.

After this they walked steadily and at 5:45 all twenty walkers were pleased to hear the dinner bell on Salem Campus.

MISS BARROW ENTERTAINS BUSINESS STUDENTS

On Monday afternoon Miss Barrow delightfully entertained all of her business students, at the home of her sister on South Main Street. The guests were received in the spacious living room, where they spent the afternoon making Christmas presents. Chocolate and vanilla brick ice cream and delicious cakes were served. The afternoon was enjoyed to its fullest extent by all who were so fortunate as to be included in the invitation.

FACULTY MEMBERS ENTERTAIN UNIVERSITY WOMEN

EXCHANGES

There are 176 colleges in the United States that offer a course in Journalism. Robert E. Lee introduced into Washington and Lee University the first course to be taught in an American college.

Harvard has a 15-year-old student, while Princeton has a 12-year-old entrant. Columbia wins with an 11-year-old prodigy who speaks 12 languages.

The following is an extract from the November issue of the "Inter-collegian," which should be of special interest to the students on the eve of the great Indianapolis Quadrennial Convention of the Student Volunteer Movement, which is to be held at the end of the month:

NEEDED

One hundred thousand college and university students whose minds do not stay working at the coasts of the Northern American continent but reach out in eager inquiry to every part of the world. Whose imaginations are sufficiently vivid to appreciate another Nation's problems from the other Nation's point of view. Whose sympathies are sufficiently wide to include every son of man in need. Whose courage is sufficiently high to face ridicule and intolerance, and whose humility is sufficiently deep to escape the false pride consequent upon persecution.

Who are idealists in their dreams and realists in their actions.

Who have learned how to become citizens of the world society in their cares and outlook.

Who have faith in the God from whom every family in heaven and on earth derives its name and nature.

Wake Forest College is this week making application for membership in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference at the annual meeting being held at the University of Maryland just outside Washington. Under the regulations of the conference any institution which wishes to become a member of the body must secure a sponsor from among the institutions already members. North Carolina State College is sponsoring Wake Forest's application. At present only Carolina and State are the North Carolina members of the body.

The Alumni News Fiction of the Davidsonian for the week of November 8, is most original. On one page, there is the Class Prophecy for the Class of 1902. On the other are the pictures of the members with their names and present occupations showing just how they have, or have not, fulfilled the prophecy.

The "Davidsonian" records the recent event which will be an exciting bit for gossips:

LURID SCANDAL IN CHEMISTRY LAB.

Al. K. Hall, and two goodlooking young ladies were discovered in the Chemistry Laboratory at an early hour Monday morning by the watchman on his round. They had evidently stayed there all night. The affair is to be regretted and every effort is being made to hush it up as much as possible. It is thought that the case will be tried before the tennis court sometime this week. It is with deepest regret and sympathy that we are compelled to publish the names of the young ladies—Misses Mollie Kule and Jennie Raytor.

MACDOWELL CLUB PRESENTS A TALE OF TWO CITIES

All people connected with Salem College are glad when a moving picture is announced to be shown on the following Saturday. Salem feels that it owes much to the MacDowell Club for bringing to Winston-Salem "A Tale of Two Cities," a picture taken from the famous and widely read story of that name by Charles Dickens. It was with great anticipation that students of both College and Academy, faculty, and friends gathered in Memorial Hall on Saturday night. Everyone was expecting something fine, but they were not anticipating a picture which might be classed with "The Birth of a Nation" and other super-productions. The Tale of Two Cities is a picture of the French Revolution, and depicts the people, customs, and terrible conditions which existed during this period. It is a Fox production with William Barnum portraying the leading character.

In no other way can history become so real to people as by seeing the happenings and events. When one is not able to see the actual happenings, there is perhaps no better way of learning than through the medium of moving pictures. Perhaps "A Tale of Two Cities" is not the most entertaining picture that the MacDowell Club has brought to Salem. It is not the most amusing picture, but it is by far the most instructive. Everyone who saw it feels that she has seen a picture which is truly great.

"Jigger" Shaw (upon seeing, posted on the bulletin board outside of Chapel, a Christmas carol composed by Adam)—Goodness, but that must be an old song!
