

Beta Beta Phi Sorority Entertains Plebes

Frances Young, of Winston-Salem, guest of honor; several alumnae of Recent Years Present.

The Beta Beta Phi Sorority was at home Thursday afternoon at five o'clock to their plebe, Frances Young of Winston-Salem. The room was attractively decorated in black and red, the sorority colors. A delicious salad and ice course was served. Miss Young was presented with a course of roses and orchids. Besides the guests of honor and the active members of the chapter, the following alumnae were present: Elizabeth Griffin, Josephine Shaffer, Agnes Pihl and Eleanor Shaffner. The resident Betas returning to Salem this year are Ellis Aston, Lebanon, Virginia; Hannah Weaver, Asheville; Louise Woodard, Wilson; Elizabeth Parker, Norfolk, Virginia; Helen or Virginia Griffin, Wilson, and Margaret Perry, Taxwell, Virginia. Later in the afternoon, a number of friends were invited to meet Miss Young, who has recently returned from Wisconsin to resume her studies at Salem College.

Presbyterian Girls Invited To Tea

The Presbyterians from the Faculty and Student Body were delightfully entertained Monday afternoon at the Presbyterian Church by the ladies of the Auxiliary. The entertainment was not in honor of Salem College, but as guests they were permitted to attend this special meeting of the Auxiliary, where the rare privilege of meeting Mr. and Mrs. Swinhart, missionaries to Korea.

A splendid program was given, the chief features of which were: the devotional service lead by Mr. Swinhart, the vocal solo rendered by Miss McAlphine and the address delivered for Mrs. Swinhart. The entire audience listened breathlessly as Mrs. Swinhart told some-thing of Korean life and costume, and of a most interesting trip she made from Korea to China. There was something almost pathetic in her description of the peculiar birth which came over her, when, after traveling many miles alone, she came suddenly upon the home of the American consul and looking up saw old Glory waving in the breeze. Mrs. Swinhart is a speaker with much personal charm and magnetism and the interesting and instructive message she brought will long be remembered.

After the conclusion of the program delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The head of the Education department reports an increasing demand for courses in English and modern languages. It is hoped that more two hour courses of this kind will soon be offered for Juniors and Seniors.

Dr. Willoughby's Seminar, Myths in Classic Literature, met last Saturday from 2:45 to 3:45. Seven city and county teachers were enrolled. They are very enthusiastic and are scouring the city library for materials.

TWAS EVER THUS

This a custom, we find, with some sages Of various tempos and ages To shut themselves up in their cages And eam in what knowledge they can. They wrestle with figures and symbols; They know the circumference of things— And methods of making rice timbales To satisfy palate of man. They accumulate wisdom and learning And prove themselves men so discerning, They're justification for sparing The mental set-up of their kin. But with all their superior station We seek, if you please, information Concerning their social relation. With the world they are all living in, For man is a sociable creature; Gregariousness is a feature. Of classes—both pupil and teacher— And one cannot work live alone. So they who are really the sages Take time from their toil through the ages For occasional bridge in their cages And talk with their friends on the phone. —P. B.
