RIDING—

For the next two weeks only, a well-known riding instructor will be available to Salem girls for instructions in riding. The instruction will be given for $1.50 an hour, and for groups of four the price will be reduced to $1.25 each. Ye Salem horsewomen, don't forget to take advantage of this offer!

SOCCER—

The soccer season closed about a week ago when the Juniors were defeated by the Frosh, thus giving the soccer championship to the Freshmen. This sport was entered into with great zeal and enthusiasm this season. Among the many outstanding players the following were picked as the 1929-1930 Soccer Varsity: Mildred Fleming, Lillie Taylor, Wynne Brown, Adelaide Webb, Eleanor or Williamson, Laila Wright, Ruth Carter, Edith Kirkland, Margaret Richardson, Adelaide Winston.

"Shorty" Biles, Hazel Bradford, Doris Kimel, Daisy Litz, Hortense Carson, Virginia Harris, Amelia Gooch, Mecum Rawlings, Billie Philpott, Jo Walker and Lyda Wemeladorf.

HOCKEY—

With the closing of the soccer season hockey rules as the supreme sport at Salem. Every afternoon so far the classes have been well represented. Playing hockey is an excellent way in which to spend at least part of the required efficiency hours. It is great sport, and already this year some keen competition and real sportsmanship have been shown down on the lower athletic field. There will be hockey practice every afternoon from three-thirty to five o'clock. Get to work and play hockey, Juniors, Seniors, Frosh and Nobs! Who's going to win those silver hockey sticks for varsity?

"The Lost World."

That, perhaps, explains why this picture at the Colonial, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week is so refreshing and thrilling.

For Virginia Valli and Jason Robards, the lovers of the story, and for Robert O'Connor, who plays the part of a detective, the Nargasso Sea proves to be inhabited. There's a little colony there under the rule of an ex-walching captain, portrayed by Noah Berry. Fifty men two women make up the colony.

While the story is sweepingly imaginative, it is based upon scientific facts. For this reason it is more likely to intrigue and entertain for every sort of person.

The scenic values of the island of Sawad and derelict ships are immense; so is the artistic quality of the photography and technical work which reproduces miles of wrecked ships of every century back to the Spanish galleons.

"The Isle of Lost Ships" is a film about which we must repeat that most luckeyey admission: "You can't afford to miss it." It is different with its artistic and imaginative and adventurous phases.

THE CAROLINA

The Carolina Theatre opens this week with "Evangeline" starring Dolores Del Rio. It is adapted from the poem by Longfellow which is familiar to all lovers of literature. This superb drama may be seen on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

A storm has hit town—no, just Clara Bow in her new starring vehicle, "The Saturday Night Kid," but it is truly a storm, running four days, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It may tear the theatre down—who knows? James Hall, one of the screen favorites is co-starred with Miss Bow, and do they make a pair! Clara is here with all of her well-known attractions. In an all talky directed by Edmund Sutherland Miss Bow is supported by the petite Jean Arthur and Edna Mae Oliver.

If you really want to see a good, all-round picture, with plenty of ups and downs see Clara Bow in "The Saturday Night Kid," at the Carolina Theatre.

World News

Prince Humbert of Italy and Princess Marie Jose of Belgium are to be married. This wedding will unite the royal houses of Italy and Belgium.

It was reported that a ghost had been seen by the people living near Frankham Woods, in England. More than a thousand persons spent Wednesday night hunting the ghost. The hunters carried everything from guns to ukuleles. The ghost was evidently frightened, because he failed to appear.

Urban F. Dittman, Jr., of Montana, very casually stepped into his plane the other day. He did not tell anyone where he was going, but left a note stating what he intended to do. He is on a solo flight across the Atlantic. The Golden Hind is the name of his plane. Nothing has been heard from him nor has his plane been seen since Tuesday.

A parachute which sails instead of drops to the ground is the latest contribution of army research engineers. It is steered in the same way as a small sail boat is guided and thus one can tell where he is going to land. This has been tried and has proved very successful.

Herbert Hoover, Jr., is now an Army aviator. He signed up in the Air Reserve Corps and will have two weeks' training in San Francisco.

We are continually breaking old records and making new ones. Sarah Eleanor Dutton, 41 of Atlanta, Ga., was struck by a motorcycle and had been unconscious for two hundred and fifty hours today.

THE AUDITORIUM

If you like intelligence, humor, humanity, splendid acting and the depiction of real characters, actual men and women, then you will like Richard Barthelme in "Young Nowhere."

"It is a story rather like that of "The Tale of David." In Young Nowhere, Barthelme has added the most wistful and appealing character of all to his gallery of impersonations.

Marian Nixon has the feminine lead. Her role is that of Annie Jackson, the lonely chambermaid who is just as lonely and friendless as Binky.

"Young Nowheres" was originally a magazine story by I. A. R. Whyte. It is devoid of hokum and, incidentally, it has no theme song. Auditorium—First half of next week, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, October 28, 29, 30.

Their love was shot with song, spiced with Irish humor—sweet and pure as the shamrock, and yet—here was a stable boy and she a great lady. Noble commoner and noble lady, beset with the barriers of position, wealth and prejudice. The scene shifts to America, and then—! See "Lucky in Love" and find out what happens in this all song picture. Motion Downey and Betty Lawford in "Lucky in Love" at the Auditorium last half of next week, Oct. 31, Nov. 1 and 2.

"Linger Longer Letty," will be on the stage. This is a play written by Ann Nichols, author of "Abbie's Irish Rose."

THE COLONIAL

The fact that "The Girl in the Show," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-talking production which will be at the Colonial theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, presents a play within a play offers something promisingly new in the way of picture entertainment and enables us to see an interesting parade of American dramatic statistics. The play which is presented is "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and it is splendidly interpreted by the following cast of actors: Bessie Love as "Little Eva"; Theodore Roberts as "Simon Legree"; Frank Nelson as "Uncle Tom"; and Mary Doran as the immortal "Topsy."

The romance of Hattie Hartley, fourth of her family to play "Little Eva," is woven into the dramatic plot with strong threads of comedy, concerned with the trials of a troupe stranded in Centralia, Kansas. This production was successfully directed by Edgar Selwyn.

No producer has dared to be so imaginative and succeeded in being likewise so strikingly realistic and convincing as the producers of "The Isle of Lost Ships," since the time when the same company sponsored
