President Hoover and Joseph P. Colton, Acting Secretary of State, feel confident that the American Citizens in Santo Domingo are not in danger of their lives. President Vasquez is reported to have resigned his post and the rebels are moving upon Santo Domingo. The State Department is closely watching the trend of affairs on the Island to be sure that American Citizens are not in danger.—Twin City Sentinel.

President Hoover is to have another breakfast conference, at which time his guests will include the highest ranking officials of the treasury and leading Republican Senators and Representatives. The budget situation will be the chief topic for consideration, but it is evident that other matters with a more particular political slant will be discussed.—The New York Times.

India's masses demand release from the British Power that has ruled them for a century and a half. At the 1929 All-India Congress in Calcutta this was the chief issue. For centuries this vast land of 318,000,000 inhabitants has been divided against itself by differences in caste, religion, politics, and race but they are united in this.—The Review of Reviews.

Great Britain and America have been trying hard to have total abolition of the submarine. France and Japan were opposed to this and fought against it. Italy mildly supports submarine abolition. France and Japan won their fight against abolishing the submarine, but agreed to humanize it. Secretary Stimson and Premier MacDonald are the most outstanding Americans at the Conference now.—The Literary Digest.

In summing up Hoover's year in the White House we conclude that he has made a great headway on all of the five points he started out with as his aim. These were: First, he promised relief to the farmer; second, the tariff he urged for; third, the solution he volunteered to find for prohibition; fourth, the disarmament he hoped to contribute to world peace; and fifth, the fresh store of confidence he found it necessary to pump into a startled public after the sudden smash of stocks in Wall Street. He has not only accomplished something along these lines but he has also substituted direct dealing with the press, upset the settled policy of the Treasury Department in the matter of income-tax refunds, demanded a housecleaning of his own party, launched the first National Conference on Child Health to be held in twenty years, and suggested, in his proposal for the neutrality of food ships in time of war, a profound change in the philosophy of international relations.

Five vegetables in one—a squash with potatoes for roots, greens and salad for leaves, and young shoots like asparagus; such is the chayote—once only of Mexico, but now becoming widely popular in other parts of the world. It is a one-seeded plant and the first car-load ever to go to Florida was sent recently to a northern market. It bears shipment well and is not affected by an eight-or ten-day shipment. It is expected that in time the chayote will be of more value than the common squash, since it can be used in a great number of ways.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Dr. Rondthaler announced in Chapel services on Thursday morning that the Winston-Salem Community Chest drive had begun and that there would be a box in Main Hall to receive any donation that Salem College or Academy girls would be willing to make. Envelopes in which the donations were to be placed were given to the presidents of the different classes to distribute among their members.

Dean Vardell announced that there would be no music hour on Wednesday. He suggested that the hour be spent in watching Dr. Rondthaler's elm trees grow.

The flag was raised Thursday morning in honor of our famous poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Friday, March 7, is final pay day for the budget. All students who paid only one-half of the fee during the first semester must finish on this date.

The following interesting announcements were posted on the bulletin board during the past week: A 1930 tour to Europe has been organized and conducted by Miss Alicia Wolfe. The tour includes France, Italy, Holland, Belgium, England, Germany, Switzerland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Austria. All those who are interested in such a trip should consult the bulletin board for more detailed information.

A graduate fellowship of one thousand dollars has been offered for the Academic year by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, for the study of home safety as an index for good home management.

The Sixth National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest on the Constitution will hold its final contest at Los Angeles on June 19, 1930.

Intercollegiate News

At Carolina—

The traditional Sophomore banquet will follow a different plan this year and take the form of a week-end party on March 8. This is the first time that the sophomores have undertaken girls at their annual function.

At East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, the student council is entertaining the student body and faculty at a Masquerade Ball on March 13.

Dr. Francis P. Gaines, now president of Wake Forest College, has accepted an election to become president of Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va.

In a recent investigation of the "Wake Forest Alumni News" it was discovered that 27.51 per cent of the operating expenses of that college are borne by the students.

At least 430 students at Carolina are working at regular scheduled jobs, according to a survey made there by the Y. M. C. A. This "mood" an entertainment of jobs or fellowships. Approximately 70% of the students earn some portion of their expenses.

Mr. A. G. Ridgely of the Firestone Rubber Co., who recently interviewed a number of business students at N. C. State College, stated that the students at that college are the best all round group of students that he has seen anywhere.

Students at Converse College have recently lost the privilege of sitting in the balconies of churches, which were formerly very popular with the college girls and the Wofford boys. Girls are also required to sign to attend one church, her own denomination, during the year.

May Day at Converse College will have as its theme for 1930 "Sherwood," an entertainment by Alfred Noyes. Try-outs have been held, and plans are now well under way.

At The Theatres

In case you didn't get to see "Sunny Side Up" or if you want to see it again, it will be the feature at the Colonial the first half of next week. I don't think I need say anything about this picture starring Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell.

"Playing Around" will be the feature for the last half of next week. It is taken from the story "The Girl from Woodworth's," by Vina Delmar. I read the original story and thought it quite good.

Alice White, William Bakewell and Richard Carlyle are the stars.

Colonial, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, March 6, 7, 8.

We were not able to get pre-reviews for the pictures at the Carolina and Auditorium next week.

Leather Stocks

The old trapper paused and listened intently. "Not far from where we now stand," he said in his slow Western drawl, "lie the famous alkali deposits of the Firewater desert. A slight shift of the sandstone placed on the tongue has all the effects of a quart of Bacardi rum. Recently there have been several expeditions from Eastern colleges in search of this deposit. I can't imagine what they plan to do with it. However, I am the only white man who knows where it is located."

Suddenly the still night air was pierced by a terrible scream. "Whoop! Double whoopee! Scalp 'em, scalp 'em! Wal-hoo-wah! Bring on squaws. Ugh! Ugh!"

"There," sighed the old scout sadly. "Another reekin' just bit the dust."—Broken Jug.
