LITTLE THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

If there be no nobility of descent, all the more indispensable is it there should be nobility of ascent... a characteristic in them that bear rule so fine and high and pure that as men come within the circle of its influence they voluntarily pay homage to that which is the one pre-eminent distinction, the royalty of virtue.

—Henry C. Potter

People will remember the shining of the sun long after they have forgotten the thunderstorm.

She Answers The Letter

When I shall hear you coming on the stairs
Step after step ascending to my door
Set wide for welcome, even as before.
When I shall turn and see you standing there,
The April sunlight lying on your hair
When you came in and walk upon my floor,
Nothing will ever matter any more.
Let gray November fall. I shall not care.
Here is a fire, brade wine and goodly bread,
And our sweet row of books along the wall,
And here is love awaiting love that all
Our hunger may be fully comforted.
And I will loose the twilight of my hair
When I shall hear you coming on the stair.
—Barbara Young

WHEN DAY IS DONE

Around this time of year, when old officers lay aside their robes of dignity and they are taken up by the new, there is always a mingled feeling of sadness and regret. Sadness because one cannot hold for always the things that life offers, for life is but a succession of things to be taken up and at sometime laid aside. Regret because perhaps one has not the feeling that she has fulfilled her own ideas or those of others, the office which she has held that perhaps she did not put out her best efforts as had been expected of her to do. But that is just past and buried—and this is present!

The selection of officers for the five major organizations for 1930-31, has apparently been so wisely made, that the outlook should dim the sadness and regret of a backward glance. In a way it might be said that we are standing on the threshold of a new year. The new foundations and principles formed in these last few weeks will be the basis for carrying on our work in the coming years. It is gratifying to note the vigor and the enthusiasm with which these new officers have taken charge, and in the face of such evident ability, how could one be pessimistic?

For some of us this change does not mean getting out of activities entirely, for some of us will still carry on, but those of us who are giving over our last vestiges of honor are satisfied to see them go into capable hands. The Salem Spirit has been an inspiring guide, and this year she seems to send a brighter light into the unknown, but hopeful future of us all.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Salem College Stringed Orchestra, under the direction of Miss Hazel Horton Reed, head of the department of stringed instruments, broadcasted over station W. S. J. S. Sunday night from 9:30 to 10:40. This was a part of a special program arranged in honor of Mother's Day. The orchestra played all four movements of the Haydn Symphony No. 7, in C Major. In addition to this, the Salem College String Quartet composed of Miss Reed, 1st Violin; George Dickerson, 2nd Violin; Albert Blumenthal, Viola; and Carl Plaster, Cello, played the Allegro from the Dittersdorf Quartet in E flat major.

Dr. Francis Anselme delivered the commencement address at the Allen J. Memorial High School near High Point.

Intercollegiate News

The Annual May Day festival given at the North Carolina College for Women was held in Peabody Park on May the first. Christie Maynard of Wilson, was crowned Queen of May.

Approximately 2,000 persons saw the coronation exercises. An allegorical legend of the coronation and birthday of the Queen of May were carried out in music and dance.

The scene was laid at the court of the May Queen with court ladies headdresses, pages and other attendants paying homage to the Queen. After the dance of the Spirit of May who crowned the Queen, Autumn, Winter, Spring and Summer came as suitors for the hand. The coronation was closed with the marriage of the Queen of May to the spirit of summer.

Catawba College won first place in the oratorical contest held at Guilford College on April the fourth. The colleges participating were: Guilford, High Point, Lenoir-Rhyne, Elm, N. C. State and Catawba.

Three years ago, the Association offered a beautiful silver loving cup as a permanent gift to the institution which first succeeded in winning it three times. Catawba and Lenoir-Rhyne both have won it twice.

Two hundred and seventy students will graduate from N. C. C. in June. Girls for one hundred and fifty-one localities to make up personnel of present class.

On May tenth, Agnes Scott College presented her May Day Pageant, "Vergil, the Immortal Bard."

Plans for the Session of the National Student Federation of America to be held at Griggs Tech next December are under way.

Cornell University has discovered that "Woman's brain is just as good as that of men, though average man's brain is seven per cent heavier. The vision brain area in women is better developed."

FINAL RECITAL EVENING

Accompaniments for Mrs. Legrand were artistically and sympathetically played by Miss Viola Tucker, of the music faculty of Salem College. Users for the recital were Misses Helen Flynt, Helen Johnson, Esther Forrester, Brownie Penock, Ruth Marsden and Louise Swain.

You will like Kotex because of its rounded tapered corners

KOTEX is shaped to fit. That means you have inconspicuous protection. You can feel immaculate and dainty, for Kotex deodorizes most effectively.

Then, too, Kotex is hygienically safe. Over 8% of our leading hospitals have chosen the very same material of which Kotex is made, because of its remarkable efficiency and surgical purity.

Kotex, you know, is made of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding... a cellulose substance which performs the same sanitary function as the finest cotton, but with five times the absorbency.

Kotex is disposable. Just think what that fact alone means. Kotex Company, Chicago, Ill.

KOTEX IS SOFT...

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.

3—Disposable, instantly, completely.
