At the Theatres

AT THE STATE

"Amos 'n Andy" are in town—seen as well as heard! At last those much-heralded talks... "Check and Double Check" is here... "Check and Double Check" will be the attraction at the State for the entire week... and brings Amos 'n Andy to the screen for the first time... Their great popularity attained by their internationally heard radio programs will certainly be increased by this picture... Andy can hardly be imagined, and thousands of their fans will be Johnny on the Spot to see them in action.

AT THE CAROLINA

For the first half of the week the Carolina Theatre takes pleasure in presenting Norma Talmadge in "Woman of Passion"—DeBERRY's own story which Norma Talmadge has just completed for United Artists... This great star who has had stage and film experience since childhood is at her best in "Woman of Passion"... It is the type of picture in which she plays superbly—as she did "Candide"... An unusual cast supports this star who is one of America's greatest favorites.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday the bold, bad man from the West holds sway... This time it is John Mack Brown in "Billy the Kid"... Kay Johnson and Noah Berry head the supporting cast... Any of you who have read the fascinating saga of the West's last great outlaw will want to see the talkie... It is a romantic tale of a lad who at twenty-one had twenty-one notches on his six-shooter—one for every man he had killed... A blue-eyed, laughing boy—but the best shot in the West... And at the age of twenty-one he himself was killed at the house of his sweetheart... See "Billy the Kid," it is not an ordinary Western.

World News

Chinese and Russians are drawing up troops again as the old trouble flares... The break-down by negotiations at Moscow for settlement of the dispute over the Chinese Eastern Railway has resulted in armed demonstrations along the Manchurian-Siberian border.

Press dispatches from Harbin said that there were similar demonstrations that caused fighting and invasion of Manchuria by Russian soldiers in November and December last year.

Brazil

A general armistice reigns in Brazil while leaders of the successful revolutionary movement that began October 3 are negotiating with the Military and Naval Junta that recently overthrew President Washington Luis in the capital.

The complexities in the political situation have apparently begun to clear up nationally but are still threatening locally.

The end of competition between nations in Naval construction was foreseen last Monday Oct. 27, by President Hoover, Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Hanaguichi of Japan, in a world-wide broadcast marking the beginning of effectiveness of the London Naval Treaty.

Tschoo

A revolt believed to be of serious proportions has broken out in the province of Tschoo in Central Formosa, where 1,500 savages are reported to have swept down on the village of Musha and massacred 100 Japanese residents... The tribesmen evacuated Musha leaving behind many mutilated bodies.

Pears that scores of other Japanese in island police stations and small settlements north and east of Musha had met a similar fate were expressed in official and newspaper dispatches.

Portugal

Portugal is poor... Portugal has had at least ten revolutions since the late Andrew Carnegie built the Palace of Peace at the Tagus... But Portugal means well... Portugal has been meaning for more than a generation to do what so long ago they can scarcely remember—the other nations have done—present some gift to the Peace Palace.

Last week Portugal's gift was ready at last—a tribute to the Empire of General Carrasco... Elaborately wrought, encrusted with 17th Century Portuguese ornaments, it bears proudly the arms of the ten-year-old Portuguese Republic... Weight 6 Pounds... Material, Silver plate... Nature: Unkstand.

ODD NEWS

High Walpole, the novelist, said in a speech at Kings College that there were only six books in the world today that were worthy of being called literature... He listed them as follows:

- "War and Peace" by Tolstoy.
"The Iliad" by Homer.
"Pride and Prejudice" by Jane Austen.
"The first volume of Keat's Poetry."
"Arabia Deserta" by Doughty.
"Canterbury Tales" by Chaucer.
"As widely divergent as can be" was Mr. Walpole's comment.

DR. RONDTHALER HAS INTERESTING TRIP

Billy the Kid and he has shown himself efficient in the organization of other such community corporations... The Board of Southern Educational Association met in Chapel Hill, North Carolina on Thursday, October 30, and Dr. Rondthaler was present as the guest of President Frank Graham of the North Carolina University... The former is an interested representative of this organization and met with the interest of all educational institutions at heart.

VALUES

In every situation in life we are confronted with the problem of making choice—and choice is the result of weighing values... We have the opportunity of doing two things, or of going to two places, we base our choice on the relative values of the opportunities offered to us... Which of the two opportunities will give the greatest pleasure and satisfaction? From which of them will we gain the greatest permanent good? Which of them will contribute to mental and spiritual growth? To questions such as these we give our conscious or unconscious reply in the choice we make, and by the choice we determine the next step in character development, whether we will it or not.

Likewise we have to choose to make whenever we spend our money... Which investment will bring the most lasting value? Unfortunately, we do not always weigh the relative values of things for which we spend money with the result that there is little we have to show for it... We think back over the little things for which we thoughtlessly give out great or small sums every day, we will be astounded at the amount of money we really waste... We have an opportunity to contribute to an organization or to a cause, let us think, not of the denial of some immediate trivial pleasure which we might have to make, but let us think of the permanent and lasting value in which we may invest our money... Let us weigh the relative value of all the organizations to which we contribute, and then let us give accordingly in the order of their great importance... If we could all realize the importance of placing first things first, in time, energy, thought, and money, life would become a more coordinated, satisfying and unselfish series of experiences, leading to greater and fuller development.

Daisy: "Well, what shall we do tonight?"
Bet: "Well, lets think hard—"
Daisy: "No, let's do something you can do, too."

Miss At: "These are terrible links, caddie, terrible links."
Caddie: "These ain't the links, no, you got off 'em half an hour ago."

"Won't you join me in a cup of tea?"
"Will you get in and I'll see if there is any room."

Her: "Would it be very wrong to kiss your hand?"
Liz: "I think it would be very out of place."

Mr. Swan-So: "How would you like to have a one eyed husband?"
Mrs. Swan-So: "Not a bit."
"Will, let me carry that umbrella."

He: "Did you sound your parents about getting married?"
Kitty: "Yes, and dad sounded the worst."

SPORTS

SHALL THE CHAMPIONS?

Freshmen, have you seen the hockey cup in the trophy case? It was presented several years ago by the faculty for the winning team in each annual hockey season and is to be presented this year at the Thanksgiving banquet to—"Sophies"? They won in soccer and may keep up their rep. Fresh? They reached the finals in soccer, perhaps they will carry off the honors this time... Juniors? They are strengthening their backfields and expect results... Seniors? They showed too much fight, and have poked too much fun not to accomplish wonders... The cup is worth winning and your practice effort won't be wasted.

Individual trophies in the form of miniature silver hockey sticks are awarded to members who are picked by the committee as varsity material... If you are observing you have seen several already, but if you have not, take the time and trouble to look about you to absorb the obvious benefits of hockey-playing, and do yourself the favor of coming out to practice.
