

About ten o'clock at night don't you have sort of an empty feeling somewhere announcing to you that you are without — without what? FOOD! Good old "Y" store food is calling you. Run down a few steps and grasp what you want and drop a nickel or two on the counter and you'll make Baker—oh, so very happy!

This week especially, the "Y" store has a new and interesting variety of palatable dainties that will relieve that uncomfortable feeling.

Did all you young ladies know that the Student Volunteers (you know, the Christian Service Group) are going to go to a conference February 27-29, at Chapel Hill? This conference will include all the Student Volunteers in North Carolina, and Salem, too, will be represented. The theme of the Conference is to be, "Human Needs and World Christianity." Many interesting and encouraging speakers have been selected. Lightening speakers have been Dr. Elbert Russell, of Duke; Dr. Paul Harrison, of Arabia; Dr. E. McNeill Potat, of Shanghai; and Lee Phillips, negro student of Howard University. Anyone who is interested or who desires further information concerning this Conference may see Elizabeth Marx or Katherine Schlegel.

If you are interested in any form of Bible Study or Christian Service Work, try coming to a meeting Thursday night, February 26 in the "Y" Cabinet room.

The Social Service Committee has been divided into two groups, one of which goes to the Salem Home under the supervision of Zinaida Volodgsky. If you have any talent you would like to display and would like to go to see the ladies, please see her. The other group is under the supervision of Sarah Horton and is planning to do great things at the Children's Home. Miss Foreman has been kind enough to give us some scrap books which we are going to take out next Friday. If you love to play with children and incidentally, if you have to observe for Child Psychology, here is a chance of a lifetime. By the way, if any of you are interested in Social Service Work please come to a meeting on Tuesday night at six-thirty in the Recreation Room of Louisa Biting.

Have you noticed how many dressed up people have been journeying towards Louisa Biting from about four to forty on Sunday afternoons? Well, follow that crowd next Sunday and see what a good time they have at the Sunday "Y" Teas. If you go once you will continue to be a frequent guest.

We certainly are missing lots of you at Vespers and Evening Watch. Have you forgotten that we have Evening Watch on Tuesday nights at ten-fifteen in the Campus Living Room of Alice Clew? Come for a change and see how you like it. An interesting program has been planned for Sunday night Vespers.

The Rev. Mr. R. Gordon Spangh, Assistant pastor of the Home Moravian Church will speak at the Vesper Service Sunday evening on "Making our Ideals Livable." A special feature will be a violin quartet, "Andante for Four Violins," by Eichenberg, under the direction of Miss Hazel Horton Read.

If you have an extra minute in which you would like to do something for somebody else that will make you feel happy, please see any Cabinet Member and she will put you to work.

SORORITY AND INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL NEARS TERMINATION

decided triumph for the Thetas ending with a score of 23-14. The next game in the series, that between the Thetas and Kappas, was another Theta victory, although the score was close (37-34) and the teams fairly evenly matched. The Betas were downed by the Thetas with a score of 31-12, but they played to a 20-18 victory over the Sigmas in a hard-fought contest early in the following week. The final game between the Thetas with three high scores to their credit and the Kappas with two victories was scheduled to be played on Friday night, but the result as the paper goes to press is unknown.

The line-ups for the Sorority series with a few variations and substitutions in the several games, were the following:

	Beta
Williamson	Graves
Fisher	Leake
Idol	Preston
Johnson	Hicks
Hicks	Lyerly
Kappa	Thompson
Hickerson	Brinkley
Huggins	Kirkland
Winston	Currie
McAnally	Sigma
Thompson	Mauney
Credle	Moore
Ward	Caldwell
Sutton	Norman
Theta	Harris
Holderness	Crouse
Smith	Clark
Hackney	Allen

The Intramural line-ups and scores are equally as interesting:

The referees throughout both series of games, Carter, Biles, Kirkland and Gooch, deserve commendation on speed and accuracy in their officiating.

Sense and Nonsense

"Oh, pshaw! I left my watch upstairs."
 "Never mind, it'll run down."
 "No, it won't—there's a winding staircase."
 "What's the idea of stretching that awning between those two buildings?"
 "Oh, I'm just making a house-to-house canvas."

WRETCHED
 "What drove that spinster to suicide?"
 "The utter youthfulness of her existence."
 "Did you hear the story of the three aspirin tablets?"
 "Huh?"
 "Did you hear the—"
 "No."
 "Maybe I should have said the three Bayers."

BRIGHT SAYINGS OF PAPA
 "Johnny: 'What's an anteater, Pop?'"
 "Pop: 'A picnicer.'"
 "And what is your father's profession?"
 "He is a worm imitator."
 "What?"
 "He makes worm holes in antique furniture."

A member of one of the Senate investigation committees was touring the country. Seeing a seedy looking farmer he said, "Well, Hiram, what do you think of the fuel shortage?"
 "Well," said Hiram, "there beint none, thar's jest as many fuels now as they ever was."

And another glutton for punishment was the stammerer who started raising chrysanthemums.

In logic, the professor told us that statements couldn't be made about things that don't exist. We fooled him—the first of every month the bank sends us a statement about something that doesn't exist.

"What was the cause of the collision at that corner today?"
 "Two motorists after the same pedestrian."

It was a tense moment in the big race. The two boats were bow and bow driving through for the finish a quarter of a mile distant. The coxswain of one shell was exhorting his men: "C'mon, fellows, let's get this up to thirty-four—heave—going up let's take it to thirty-five. C'mon—we can make it thirty-six—who says thirty-seven?"
 Suddenly the husky Jew who was pulling number four our sang out, "Hey, you better sell—it won't go no higher."

MATH CLUB HOLDS MONTHLY MEETINGS

proved that it is not possible to trisect any angle with ruler and compass except angles of 90° or multiples of 90°.

Zina Volodgsky then told the club something about the system of education in Russia, touching particularly on courses in mathematics. First, the children go to a four-year preparatory school where they have arithmetic. Then, at about ten years of age they enter the gymnasium which is made up of seven grades and prepares students to enter the university. From grades 1-3 they have arithmetic, from 3-7 algebra, from 4-6 geometry, and in the seventh grade trigonometry. They have no textbooks but all the work in solving problems is original. They have examinations only at the end of each year and are sometimes examined then on several years work. During the year they have many oral quizzes. Their system of grading is also different. Five is the highest grade, then four, three, and on down. Three minus is passing, and two is failure. They also have mathematics clubs, the activities of which are very similar to ours.
