London: Mayor Walker, of New York, upon stepping out of the Golden Arrow train here, was surprised to find the Lord Mayor's coach, with bejeweled driver and footmen, waiting for him at the station. The first person to shake his hand was the Lord Mayor himself, Mayor "Jimmy," who is on a friendly visit to England, will lunch with Premier MacDonald, his host on September 14. Gilbert Miller, well-known New York producer, has lent his Mayfair house to Mr. Walker during his stay here.

Washington, D. C.:

By mutual agreement, America will continue to pay to Germany, awards amounting to $18,000,000, while allowing Germany to discontinue for one year the payment of $9,000,000 due to America. This decision, backed by the Mixed Claims Commission was publicly announced by the Department of State on September 13.

New York:

Wreaths were placed upon the busts of Washington, Franklin, Jefferson, Madison, A. Hamilton, and John Marshall in tribute for their contributions to the development of the Constitution of the United States. Professor John Edmond Hewitt of the School of Law, under whose auspices the second annual observance of Constitution Day was given, presided over the ceremony.

Washington:

W. Irving Glover, assistant postmaster-general, expressed the opinion that an upward revision of Pan-American postage rates would be an outgrowth of the international conference of Postmen from Spain and all Pan-American countries. The conference is to be held in Madrid October 10.

Horta, Azores:

Willy Rody, Christian Johanssen and Acosta took off from Portland on September 12 for a non-stop flight to New York. Johanssen is at the wheel as the Junkers airplane of all metal left the field at five o'clock in the morning. The flier's hope was to reach New York in about forty or forty-one hours.

Philadelphia:

Connie Mack, sixty-nine year old leader of the Athletics, was quite happy as he received the news that his team defeated Cleveland to win their ninth American League pennant. However, this was an old thrill for Connie Mack for the Philadelphia Athletics have won Pennants often. They have won the world series for five times.

Raleigh:

On September 29, the Division of Purchase and Contract will open bids for 50,000 gallons of motor oil for use in state school buses. Specifications call for a refined oil from "pure paraffine base crudes."

SALEMITE NOTICE

All you cute gals, new and old, who have in you the divine ability to write, the inspiration of the Muses, etc., now have the chance to make good (like the Alger Jr., heroes).

Please don't get scared because of the above. This is a serious invite for you to aspire to be, and probably to attain, a position on the editorial staff of this year's Salemite. The invitation is cordial and is extended to Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors, day students and boarding students, bright and not-so-bright.

Tryouts will take place in The Salemite office (opposite the Green Room) Wednesday afternoon at 1:30. Don't forget!

SPORTS

"BY GYM"

Perk up, Freshmen! The Physical Education Department has a surprise for you! Don't we all dread classes this summer weather? Gym classes will meet now whenever you please or even where you want it, considering what you're doing. Instead of going to gym classes go swimming, horseback riding or play tennis. You may be a tennis athlete from 10 to 11 o'clock and from 4:30 to 5:30 every day except Saturday. The swimming pool will be open from eleven to one o'clock and from three to five every day. As for horseback riding, you can ride whenever the notion strikes you—just get a few to go with you and see Bebe Hyde — she'll see that you get a horse to suit you. If you don't believe it—ask her!

And by the way this applies to Sophomores also—I almost forgot. But they aren't as important as they feel anyway, so what's the difference?

COURTROOM FILLED TO CAPACITY AS MISS FRESHMAN CLASS IS TRIED.

When crossing Main Street, hop across on the white line.

Rule 6. Do not enter the front door of Alice Clewell. In other words, use the back entrance.

Rule 7. At lunch and dinner sit on the very edge of your chair, and do not leave the dining room until all upholstery has been left.

Rule 8. No Freshman is to appear in high heels. In case of being misunderstood—wear low-heel shoes.

Rule 9. Never be out of a supply of Bech-nut gum. A Sophomore may find need of it.

Rule 10. Freshmen, do not speak to each other in the campus living room.

Rule 11. Last but not least — wear odd stockings.

Under no conditions will Freshmen receive pardon for disobeying these rules.

After the reading of these rules, a hush settled over the audience but soon stifled sobs could be heard as the spectators felt for Wall, Hatch, Marshall, Moore and Bailey, who by their unexcelled dumbness caused the judge to recall the court for three more nights.

The excitement of the trial has completely undone the reporter. You will hear more of the Court next week.

ACADEMY FROLICS ATTRACT INTEREST

Salem Academy celebrated its first birthday on Thursday, September 10. A large cake, containing one candle was placed in the center of the table. All new girls and the girls who graduated from the Academy last year were guests. Alumnae who attended from Salem college were Lean, Lucy Rogers, and Lila Clean, Lucy Rogers, and Lila Womble.

On last Saturday night, the old girls of Salem Academy directed the new girls on a Treasure Hunt. After an interesting pilgrimage to all the buildings and views on Salem Campus, the treasure hunters found a heavy-laden table of food down on lower campus. However, eager they may have been at the start of the hunt, their interest suddenly changed to the picnic supper which to these tired wanderers looked better than a pot of gold.

When supper was over Mary Mitchell Westall told part of an original story. Each class was given forty-five minutes in which to finish out and stage the story. In this interesting contest, the Seniors were victorious.

Sunday night vespers were held out on the terrace immediately after dinner. A very impressive ceremony was carried out, the chief feature being a talk by Dr. Kondhalze on Academy scholastic.
