

OYEZ! OYEZ!

The Wee Blue Inn will be closed for about ten days until the repairs in the dining room are completed.

The beginning of a recreation room in Alice Clewell Building is the ping-pong tables, which will be placed there Saturday night, ready for games. Everybody who likes to ping and pong is invited.

Miss Mary Duncan McAnally, who is an assistant to Miss Siewers in the library, is making it easy for busy Salem students to keep up with the times. Each morning she posts on the bulletin board outside the library the important news clipped from the preceding evening's paper and the morning news. At a glance one can tell what is of particular interest. She also posts pictures from photogravure sections of the New York Times.

Salemite editors and reporters will find their assignments in the Salemite office. No other announcement will be made to the staff.

BATS AND BALLS

Although rain has been playing hide and seek with the Freshman Tennis Tournament for the past week, there is still hope for the discovery of the real fresh tennis champion.

Girls are still signing up, and an opportunity is still open for the girls who wish to compete. The process of getting into the racket is simple: Go to the bulletin board in the north end of Main Hall and sign on the pink poster labeled: Freshmen Tennis Tournament.

Miss Atkinson urges all the girls who have signed and have been given an opponent to play off the matches as soon as the weather permits. Miss Atkinson as well as the rest of us are on our cars trying to determine by the cery-neeny-miny-mo process just whose name will be written into that one elevated little space at the end of the rows.

SENIORS HOLD HAT-BURNING CEREMONY

Girls who are to play and to play are: Maria Garret vs. Mariana Hooks. Celeste McClammy vs. Ann Wortham. Lois Torrence vs. Eleanor Watkins. Betty Wilson vs. Clara Click. Mary L. Shore vs. Ada Pfahl. Florida Graves vs. Nancy McNeal. Virginia Dehays vs. Gertrude Schwalbe. Jean Burroughs vs. Fan Seales. Rebecca Harrison vs. Nine Hender son.

Elizabeth Hubbard vs. Helen Draper. Erika Marx vs. Jane Rondthaler. He drew a circle to shut me out Heretic, rebel, a thing to flout; But Love and I had the wit to win— We drew a circle that took him in. —Edwin Markham.

WORLD NEWS

Poona, India — September 25.

Malatuna Ghandi has a unique method of forcing Prime Minister McDonald to accept his compromise electoral plan for the past five days he has deprived himself of food and threatens to continue his fast, even while his languishes in jail until he gets his wishes.

Vienna, Austria:

Many "babes in arms" have crossed the Australian border lately, quietly sleeping in their mother's arms. The infants, however, turned out to be young pigs, doped and swathed in baby clothes, in order to be imported, unnoticed, from Hungary where the price of pork is much cheaper than in Austria.

Moscow, Russia:

The Russians held their "Olympics" this year not only for entertainment but also as a sort of advertisement for the Soviet Government. Native tunes, sung ages ago with words concerning collective farming, and the Five Year Plan. The Georgian men, while performing their world famous dance, did not as has been customary, woo the maidens of their tribe, but instead plead with them to enter the collectivized farms and raise the yield of their land.

Madrid, Spain—September 17:

We are not the only country overrun with houses for sale and rent. Due to resolutions of the Second Republic to confiscate aristocratic property. Many beautiful and luxurious palaces of the Grandees and nobles of Spain have been either sold outright or leased to foreign ambassadors. In that way, if any question arises as to their destruction, they will be legally proclaimed on foreign soil and therefore under the protection of the nation which they represent.

YOUNG DEMOCRATIC CLUB FORMS ORGANIZATION HERE

(Continued from Page One) The club's activities are laid. Important, and interesting also, is the proposed interchange of speakers among the colleges. This, besides the unusual opportunity for discussion of club affairs among the students of different colleges, will do a great deal to make more close and valuable connections in other fields.

It was decided that at the next meeting the president should submit for voting a list of proposed committee members to serve on the various committees. In this manner was launched the first political organization on the campus of Salem College.

FROM THE "TWIN CITY SENTINEL"

(Continued from Page Two) staff which she was to continue for forty-six years. She is surpassed in term of service with the domestic household of Salem only by Miss Willy Miller, who was housekeeper at the time Miss Butler first assumed her duties, and who was associated with the school for forty-nine years.

Succeeding Miss Miller as a housekeeper in 1905, Miss Anna, as she is lovingly known to students and faculty members alike, served at that post until seven years ago when she was officially retired from active service. Despite her long years of association with the school, Miss Butler has only seen three presidents of Salem. Bishop Edward Rondthaler was principal, at the time she first arrived, and was succeeded by Dr. Clewell, in 1888. Dr. Clewell was succeeded in turn by the present incumbent, Dr. Howard Rondthaler, in 1909.

Miss Butler first took up her residence when she first came to Salem at the building now familiarly known as "Miss Anna's House," and remained there until seven years ago, when she moved her quarters to the Sisters' House, where she now resides, serene in her contemplation of days when Salem was still a female academy and cheerful in her perspective of remaining years.
