

SENIOR MENTALITY LOW THIS YEAR

A Word to the Wise

ADVISA ANNA

Dear Advisa:

At last I have met the perfect male. But his admiration is all for old-fashioned girls. Just what they are, I don't know. I seem to remember my grandmother telling about them. Please give me a definition at once. Billye.

Dear Billye:

I'll try to help you. It might be well to consult Miss Lawrence who has books and pamphlets on the subject. Borrow Lou Brinkley's mouse and practice fainting when you see it. Some L. P. C. might do some good. Ask Mr. Campbell about the art of blushing. Try this for two days. Then, if results are not favorable, look for a new man; perhaps Mr. McEwen will appreciate your patronage.

Advisa Anna.

Dear Advisa:

Last night was the anniversary of our first meeting. All my friends threw tin down the stairs as we left Louisa Blitting. I'm afraid he'll think I love pots and pans so much that I'll have to do the cooking. Dean Vardell hasn't put that in my B. Mus. and besides I'd rather have a maid. Please tell me how to make him understand.

Wanna Mary.

Dear Wanna Mary,

Your problem is very serious. But you can be assured that you have come to the right place. The next time he says, "Darling you will look like a green goddess in an apron standing on the porch of a cottage with roses 'round the door. You standing there to greet me when I come home from work—" Now, Wanna Mary, I suggest that you break in at this point and say, "Yes, dear, and I can see us at the table gazing into each others eyes unconscious of the butler and maid.

Advisa Anna.

Dear Advisa:

Last week my roommate saw the butter and egg man. It was violent love at first sight. Ever since she has been practicing eating peas with her knife. She seems to feel that this will bring them closer together. I'm worried to death for fear she will try to dip sniff. Please tell me a quick-cure. Something must be done.

Mary Katie.

Dear Mary Katie:

I suggest that you ask Miss Stockton for two gallons of peas.

Also borrow the butcher knife. Then get your roommate to eat the peas with that knife. I guarantee after the first gallon she will be cured.

Advisa Anna.

STARTLING FACTS OF PROVE STATE OF SENIOR MINDS

Noble R. McEwen has recently completed rating the intelligence of the class of 1933 at Salem College. He has done a "Noble" work, but due to hard times we cannot afford a degree. Dr. Ancombe has kindly contributed one of his old worn out ones. The following reveals the best bets for life-work of some of them. All were rated idiots except one and her moronic standing we think is due to Mr. McEwen's partiality. Mary B. Williams baying to the moon to drown out dogs interested in dimil or work.

"What on earth are you up to now?"

"FINDING things out, smarty! I thought I'd examine the tobacco in a cigarette.

"Look here...this is Chesterfield tobacco. Notice its lighter color...you don't see any dark heavy types, do you? I guess that's why Chesterfields are milder.

"I'm told that uniformly lighter color is due to cross-blending. It sort of welds all the tobaccos into one.

"And here's something else. Notice that these long shreds are all cut the same width. It stands to reason they burn smoother and cooler.

"I don't pretend to be an expert but it looks to me as if they make Chesterfields right.

"Here, light one. That's the best test after all. They Satisfy."
