TEA AT THE SALEM HOME

The ladies of the Salem Home invited several girls from the college to a tea on Wednesday afternoon. The students entertained the old ladies with songs and selections on the piano and violin. Besides the numbers which they had prepared, the girls played and sang old favorites which the ladies requested and which they seemed particularly to enjoy. From modern drawing-room compositions the performers turned to "When You and I Were Young, Maggie" and the beloved lyric, "Forgotten."

The Salem students who enjoyed the hospitality of the Salem Home were Sarah Horton, who is chairman of the Y. W. Social Service Committee, Margaret Johnson and Tommye Banes, who played the violin, Rebecca Hines and Josephine Courtney, who sang.

DREAM AND DEED

Katherine Lee Bates has said that her poems are her biography, and in this poem we hope to see "the precious life-blood of a master-spirit."

What of the deed without the dream?

A song
Reft of its music and a scentless rose,
Except the heart out soar the hand,
the through
Will bless the little for thy labor-throes.

The dream without the deed? Dawn's fairy gold,
Paled, ere it make the hills, to misty gray.
Except the hand obey the heart, behold,
Thy grieved angel turns his face away.

—Katherine Lee Bates.

Chesterfields are Milder —
Chesterfields Taste Better

You know how it is. If a cigarette is mild—that is, not harsh or bitter, but smokes cool and smooth—then you like it and don't worry about how many or how often you smoke. And if it tastes right—that is, not oversweet, not flat—then you enjoy it all the more.

The right kind of ripe, sweet Domestic and Turkish tobacco... the right ageing and blending... make Chesterfields milder, better-tasting... They Satisfy!
