

Winston-Salem

HOKEY

BANKING COURSES SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Dr. Albert Keister Speaks in Chapel 'Administration's Approach To the Depression' Is Subject

Dr. Albert Keister, Head of the Department of Economics at Woman's College of Economics at Woman's College of University of North Carolina, Greensboro, was the speaker at Chapel on Wednesday. The subject of his talk was "The Present Approach of the Administration to the Depression."

Dr. Keister stated that the laws passed by the President and Congress have had a great effect in banking. The collapse of the banking structure shows a grave weakness in this system. A law was passed to insure depositors against the failure of a bank. President Roosevelt wishes also to unify the banking system. At present we have a dual system of banks. This is a crisis in the banking of the United States. One out of every three banks in America failed. In Canada and England there has not been a single failure. This is because they have a unified banking system. At present the United States has gone off the gold standard. The President's desire is to lower the value of the dollar and thus raise prices.

If the people can be saved from worthless bonds, a great step will be taken towards ending the depression. The Administration is attempting to aid the farmers. The farmer is receiving 40 per cent of former prices for their crops. He pays 130 per cent more for goods than he buys. The farmer has established institutions where the farmer may receive a fairer price for his products. This is to decrease the farm products. There had plan in the long run. There should be enough of all these products for everyone. The attempt to deal with mortgaged homes is not very successful.

One of the most interesting experiments of the Administration is the N. R. A. The government wants various firms to cooperate. It is asking the workers to limit their hours. The workers must be raised. This is an attempt to increase the buying power of the consumer. Competition among firms has had a very serious effect on the consumer. A Consumer's Advisory Board has been organized to keep manufacturers from raising prices too high. The government has taken steps in relief of poverty. Under the Hoover administration, the Federal government had to take part in this relief work. President Roosevelt is continuing this plan, but is putting the people to work instead of giving them the money.

The Public Works program has been organized. Many people have been given employment in re-forestation. The government wishes to develop cheap power in Tennessee. This is to remove the slums. This will be impossible with the aid of the government. This improvement will decrease crime and promote health.

This program is not a complete change in theory of the American people. The government is taking a definite stand to aid social welfare to the people.

A. A. U. W. Will Present Three One Act Plays Entertainment Scheduled For Saturday Nov. 25

On Saturday, November 25, at 8:00 P. M. three delightful one act plays, sponsored by the A. A. U. W. of this city, will be presented in the Salem Academy Auditorium.

The first of these plays, "In The Spring a Young Man's Fancy," a comedy by Miss Ransom, will be directed by Miss Clara Tiller.

The cast of characters is as follows: Mrs. Ackerly, The Landlady, Gooch, Jacqueline, Mary S. McLawhorn, Julia, Annie Lee Singletary, Jeannette, Virginia Allan, Jean, Mary P. Ferry, Clara Tiller, Diederle Plump, Edward Butler.

The second play, a tragedy by Charlotte McLawley, "The Landlady," directed by Miss Helena Hernandez has the following cast, Isabel Ferguson, Emily, Marjorie Siewers, Bobb, Sara Martin, The Landlady, "The Stepmother," a comedy by Arnold Bennett, directed by Miss Edith Kirkland, has the following cast, Christine Severshan, Edith Kirkland, Mary, Trif, Hazel Wheeler, Adrian Tref, Bill Martin, Dr. Gardner.

Final Game Played This Afternoon Class Teams Are Announced

Tonight, my friends, you are seated at the hockey banquet for 1933. The hockey season is over. There has been a series of games, each of which has been interesting. The final game was played this afternoon and the winning class will be presented the cup while you still sit here tonight.

Presiding is Miss Margaret McLean, hockey manager for this year. At her table with her are Marlon Hadley, president of the Athletic Association, Miss Atkinson, Dr. and Mrs. Knutley, and the class teams. You might be interested in your menu here:

- Grape Fruit Juice
- Baked Chicken
- Oyster Dressing
- Gravy
- Potato Mounds With Parsley
- Peas and Pimento
- Pickled Peaches
- Staw Salad
- Butter
- Apple Pie a la Mode
- Demi-Tasse

CLASS TEAMS

SENIORS
Maggie Holleman, captain
Georgia Huntington
Suzanne Alder
Sara Davis
Mary O. Biles
Zina Woodruff
Anil Shuford
Grace Pollock
Elizabeth Leak
Lena Litree
Lula Mae Molsinger
Alice Stough
Betty Stough
Jean Patterson
Jean Lindsey
Zina Woodruff
Marion Hadley

JUNIORS
McLean
Maxwell
Tittle
Blind
Dobbin
Higgins
Grey
Carroll
Jerome
Neal
B. Wall
M. Neese
Morris
Preston
Binder
M. Wall

SOPHOMORES

Scates
Hendrix
Petter
McNeely
Hooks
Rawlings
Harrison
Conroy
Brown
Smith
Dyrenne
Duggins
Hutchinson
McNee
Schlegel
Marx
Gambone
Kondthaler
Blum

FRESHMEN

Mavis Bulluck, Captain
Trish Norman
Martha Nolan
Libby Torrence
Caroline Crist
Margaret Grant
Lila Little
Myrtle Kulk
Lila Gant
"F" Fraley
Shannon Davis
MacVrigh Hutchison
Mae Stone
Beverly Moore
Margaret Charles
William Hicher
P. Sharpe
Bessie Lou Bray
Mick Rawlings
Jo Whitehead
Virginia Council
Beverly Little

Student Recital Feature Of Music Hour Thursday

Thursday afternoon, November 16, in Memorial Hall, the feature of the regular four o'clock Music Hour was a student's recital. The program consisted of selections in voice, piano, and organ. The program was as follows:

- Prélude and Fugue in D minor... Bach
- Anna Withers
- My lovely Celia... Old English
- Hazel McMahon
- Nel cor pin non mi sento... Pajuello
- Come Ragazzo... Caldara
- Martha Moores
- Liabelied... Henselt
- B. C. Dunford, Jr.
- Harmonica Play... Guion
- Laura Elizabeth Blund
- My lovely Celia... Old English
- I Love Life... Mann-Zucca
- Kenneth Bryant
- Nocturne in C-shar minor... Chopin
- Virginia Thompson
- Die Nacht... Richard Strauss
- Richard Strauss
- Caecilia... Mary Mills
- Mary Mills
- Chopin
- Ruth Wolfe

Alpha Chi Alpha States Purpose Officers Are Elected and Project Decided Upon

Lambda Chapter of Alpha Chi Alpha has existed at Salem since 1929. It is Salem's only national society. It is also the only national journalistic sorority for women. It was founded at the University of Tennessee in 1919 by Miss Bardin, a junior in the Liberal Arts Department who came from N. C. C. W. Its founding was inspired by Dr. Duffa Esch, honorary Journalistic Fraternity.

Alpha Chi Alpha has a two fold purpose:

1. To honor those women who have shown ability and have taken an active part in collegiate publications.
2. To advance the study of the various phases of journalism.

Members must have completed at least one and one-half years of creditable work on one or more collegiate publications.

The officers of Lambda Chapter are: Mary Absher, president; Miriam Stevenson, vice president; Martha Dimes, secretary and Secretary at Large; treasurer. Lambda's big project this year will be to collaborate with Gamma Chapter (at Florence State College) in putting out the Spring Issue of the AL-CHI, the official organ of Alpha Chi Alpha. This will serve as a good advertisement for Salem College.

a. To present the various activities of the individual members and of the chapters of the organization as a whole.

b. To endeavor to keep abreast of the trend in journalism and associated fields, particularly in those pertaining to women.

c. To serve as an organ for printing the work of individual members.

Sophs Entertain at Dinner and Theatre

Thursday evening, November 16, the senior class—taking a tip from the enticing sign on an enormous purple trolley posted in Senior Hall—met the Sophomores in the little dining room for dinner.

After the singing of grace "Praise God from whom all blessings flow," the guests found their respective places by attractive cards carrying out the Thanksgiving scheme of decoration. For once the Seniors were deprived of their exclusive position at the head of the tables, for the Sophomores graciously served as hostesses.

At the end of the delicious three course dinner, Nancy McNeely acted as cheer-leader while the Sophomores gave a jolly yell of fifteen raisins for "Seniors."

The invitation to be present at the Carolina Theatre to see "The Torch Singer" was renewed and at exactly seven o'clock two special trolley cars came to Salem Square to ride the members of both classes "instate to see the show" exactly as the original invitation had stated.

Evidently there was an existing plot to break down the Senior dignity singers, for it was so realistic and touching that the seniors snifflered throughout the performance.

Other guests present were Miss Grace Lawrence, Miss Katherine Riggin, and the sponsors of the two classes, Misses Eloise Laughlin and Mary Dunesan McAnally.

P. S. Everybody had a good time.

Miss Anne Carroll Moore Addresses Students and Faculty

On Tuesday night the "Y" cabins gave an informal dinner in the little dining-room in honor of the two new freshman representatives, Mavis Bulluck and Mary Louise Haywood. Other honor guests were Mrs. Wignate Johnston and Miss Brewer, who is Industrial Secretary of the Winston-Salem Y. W. C. A.

Seniors Are Honor Guests

Thursday evening, November 16, the senior class—taking a tip from the enticing sign on an enormous purple trolley posted in Senior Hall—met the Sophomores in the little dining room for dinner.

"Y" DINNER

On Tuesday night the "Y" cabins gave an informal dinner in the little dining-room in honor of the two new freshman representatives, Mavis Bulluck and Mary Louise Haywood. Other honor guests were Mrs. Wignate Johnston and Miss Brewer, who is Industrial Secretary of the Winston-Salem Y. W. C. A.

Prominent Authoress and Critic Visits Salem

Last week Miss Anne Carroll Moore of New York spoke to the Salem student body. Miss Moore is one of the best known critics of children's books. She is a lecturer, a writer of children's books, and head of the New York public library.

Miss Moore wrote the delightfully thrilling story of "Nicholas" and its sequel "Nicholas and the Golden Goose." These two books are very popular among youngsters especially those in New York who knew Nicholas in real life.

Miss Moore read from several new books for children and told many interesting things she had done and seen in Norway. She particularly interesting phase of her talk was the explanation of how she happened to have the aid of children's books and head of the "Troll" was a brown wooden character shaped rather like a bear. This was a good luck companion.

Salem enjoyed having this distinguished visitor.

Dr. Raymond Smith Speaker At Vespers

Dr. Raymond Smith, leader of religious education at the Centenary Methodist Church and a former member of the Salem College Faculty, was guest speaker at Vespers on Sunday night, November 19. The service was held in the Campus living room of the Alice Clewell Building and Miss Mary Sparger Absher had charge of the worship program.

Dr. Smith stated that prayer was almost too great a subject for him to speak upon in the short time allotted him. Therefore he let the poets, both ancient and modern, speak on the subject. After reading Henry Emerson Fordick's "Meaning of Prayer," Dr. Smith gave James Montgomery's definition of prayer, contained in a 17th century poem, as, "Prayer is the soul's sincere desire, Hidden or expressed . . . and also as, "Prayer is the Christian's vital breath."

The following selection expresses Tennyson's idea of prayer, as he gave it in "Morte d'Arthur":

"More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of. Where there is fire, let thy prayer be like a fountain for me night and day.

For what are men better than sheep or goats that nourish a blind life within the brain? If knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer, Both for themselves and those who call them friends? For so the whole round earth is every way Bound by gold chains about the feet of God."

In "The Larger Prayer" by a modern poet, man prayed first for light, then for strength, then for faith and peace. Finally, and God willed it, he prayed the larger prayer—he asked for love—deep love to God and man.

Dr. Smith read further poems by Max Eastman, Henry Van Dyke, John Drinkwater, Hamlin Garland, and Henry Kemp. He concluded with one of Gilbert Chesterton's poems, one which takes a whole nation in its own tracks, a whole nation in its grasp instead of of a few. He said the nation prays for the removal of pride and for will and purpose and strength.

Dr. Raymond Smith Gives Poet's Thoughts on Subject of Prayer

Dr. Raymond Smith, leader of religious education at the Centenary Methodist Church and a former member of the Salem College Faculty, was guest speaker at Vespers on Sunday night, November 19. The service was held in the Campus living room of the Alice Clewell Building and Miss Mary Sparger Absher had charge of the worship program.

Dr. Smith stated that prayer was almost too great a subject for him to speak upon in the short time allotted him. Therefore he let the poets, both ancient and modern, speak on the subject. After reading Henry Emerson Fordick's "Meaning of Prayer," Dr. Smith gave James Montgomery's definition of prayer, contained in a 17th century poem, as, "Prayer is the soul's sincere desire, Hidden or expressed . . . and also as, "Prayer is the Christian's vital breath."

The following selection expresses Tennyson's idea of prayer, as he gave it in "Morte d'Arthur":

"More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of. Where there is fire, let thy prayer be like a fountain for me night and day.

For what are men better than sheep or goats that nourish a blind life within the brain? If knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer, Both for themselves and those who call them friends? For so the whole round earth is every way Bound by gold chains about the feet of God."

In "The Larger Prayer" by a modern poet, man prayed first for light, then for strength, then for faith and peace. Finally, and God willed it, he prayed the larger prayer—he asked for love—deep love to God and man.

Dr. Smith read further poems by Max Eastman, Henry Van Dyke, John Drinkwater, Hamlin Garland, and Henry Kemp. He concluded with one of Gilbert Chesterton's poems, one which takes a whole nation in its own tracks, a whole nation in its grasp instead of of a few. He said the nation prays for the removal of pride and for will and purpose and strength.

BUNDLE DAY

Don't forget that tomorrow is Bundle Day. This special day is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Bundles of clothing and goods will be collected Sunday afternoon, and will be distributed by the charity organizations of the city. This voluntary good will act on the part of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and each of you is urged to cooperate.

Happy Thanksgiving

Happy Thanksgiving

Jerome Is President Of Psychology Club

The Psychology Club is the newest organization on the campus. Its purpose is to create an interest in psychology and from all appearances it has already succeeded in its desire. Anyone may join who has had or is taking three hours of psychology. There is already a large enrollment, but anyone else may join who can fulfill the above requirements.

The officers are: President—Elizabeth Jerome, Winston-Salem, N. C. Vice-President—F. Pan Seals, Stoneville, N. C. Secretary—Melrose Hendrix, Winston-Salem, N. C. Treasurer—Gertrude Schwalbo, Bethel, Alaska.