

COMMUNITY CHEST

The Community Chest idea has been conceived during recent years, and has gradually been adopted by nearly all the towns and cities in the United States. Instead of putting on a number of drives throughout the year for individual charities, it has been found much more satisfactory to include all in one big drive which lasts a week. Last year, Dr. Rondthaler was head of the Drive in Winston-Salem, and this year Mr. Huber Hanes is the head. The town is divided into districts, each of which is canvassed by teams composed of citizens whose lieutenants report daily on their progress. After the funds are gathered they are dispersed under the supervision of the Chest committee.

SALEM'S GIRL SCOUTS

From an article entitled "With The Golden Eagles" in the Girl Scout page of Sunday's "Journal and Sentinel," the following news is of interest:

"Mary Creech, wearer of the first Golden Eaglet in pin Winston-Salem, is now captain of Troop No. 3, which is composed of energetic Senior High School Scouts.

Elizabeth Gray, now a junior at Salem College, is outstanding on her college campus.

Salem College claims another Eaglet who finds time to be very active as a lieutenant in an Ardmore Troop—Margaret Ashburn.

Edna Petter divides her time between sophomore life at Salem and Scouting. She is a lieutenant in Troop 11 and Troop 18, and is always ready to answer the SOS's of other captains.

Salem adds to her "crem of the crop" Eleanor Watkins, who is extremely active as a student and campus leader. Her steady interest is evidenced by her gift to the Roaring Gap camp of land to be used for an older girls' unit."

We do stand out in scout work, don't we?

the fifteenth century. There are many legends in connection with the life of the virgin, e. g., her presentation at the age of three, her activities, her marriage, et cetera.

"The Adoration of the Three Kings" was a very favorite subject in painting. To illustrate this Mrs. Johnson showed a picture done by Schongauer. "The Flight into Egypt" is another famous subject. Mrs. Johnson showed this subject done by Cranach, which was one of the first attempts to print a woodcut in color.

Mrs. Johnson said that when Saint Peter and Saint Paul are portrayed in works of art, they are seldom separated. There are many legends about St. Peter. Durer painted the four apostles.

About the eighth century gold and iron keys were used to symbolize heaven and hell.

Mrs. Johnson showed two pictures of St. Jerome in the wilderness and in his study—que by Durer and the other by Cranach. She told the legend of St. Jerome and the lion. The lion is the symbol of Jerome's fiery nature.

Enchings were not made as pictures until the sixteenth century because it was thought that an etching was to be used only on an armour. Durer was the first to experiment with enclings on iron. Enclings on copper were not made until nearly a hundred years later.

A very important manuscript in the study of Christian art is the legend of the ladder and the saints climbing up which may be seen in Washington.

The vesper service closed with the singing of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and the Y watch word.

Men and women say They Satisfy

FOR SOMETHING to "satisfy" you, means that it pleases you—that it's what you want. This applies to cigarettes or anything.

A cigarette has to taste right—not raw or too sweet. For a cigarette to "satisfy" it has to be mild—not strong, not harsh.

You can prove for yourself whether a cigarette is milder—whether a cigarette tastes better.

And it's because smokers can prove these things about Chesterfield that so many men and women say they satisfy. Try them.
