

PIERRETTE TO PRESENT "PATSY"

MISS SALLIE B. MARKS SPEAKS IN CITY

Nationally Recognized Authority on Children's Literature

In connection with National Education Week and Children's Book Week, Miss Sallie B. Marks, of the department of Education at Salem College, has spoken to parent-teacher groups throughout the city on reading and child-training in literature.

On Tuesday afternoon, November 6, Miss Marks spoke at South Park School before the Parent-Teacher Association on the subject of "Training Children in the Wise Use of Money."

Miss Marks stated that a knowledge of books was necessary to a successful life. Information, enjoyment, thought stimulation, and inspiration are to be gained from reading.

Again, on Tuesday, the thirteenth, the topic of wise spending for children was discussed by Miss Marks before the Parent-Teacher Association of Forest Park School.

On Thursday, the fifteenth, Miss Marks will speak to the librarians of the city schools. She will review hobby books, basing her lecture on the "Choice of a Hobby," by Anne Carroll Moore.

In the Salem College Library there will be a public meeting at 4:00 Friday, the sixteenth. Everyone interested in literature for children will be very much delighted by the lecture to be presented then by Miss Marks.

PIANO AND VOICE RECITAL THURSDAY

Misses Porter and Siewer to Be Heard Thursday Evening

Miss Mayme Porter and Miss Margaret Siewers will present a concert of vocal and piano selection in Memorial Hall, Thursday evening, at 8:15.

- My Heart Ever Faithful Bach
Ave Maria Schubert
Alleluia Mozart
Recitative and Aria
Ah! For e' lui, from
"La Traviata" Verdi

ARMISTICE DAY IS OBSERVED SATURDAY

George Stone Speaks on The Flag

Armistice Day was observed in Chapel Saturday morning, November 10, 1934, by an address by George Stone, who used as his subject "Loyalty to the Flag."

"We have chosen to believe that the situation exists, not because the citizens are ignorant of the various respects due the flag, but because they have either forgotten them, or are too timid."

"Let me urge you to pay your tribute to our flag, because after you have recalled the days of 1776, 1860, and 1918, you will realize that a large amount of respect is due your flag."

During the course of the talk, the three types of salutes were illustrated, the military salute, and that of citizens both men and women.

8:30 ITEMS DAY BY DAY

Tuesday:

Education week from November 5th through November 11th was formally begun here at Salem College this morning when Lois Torrence spoke before the student body on "Planning for Tomorrow."

Wednesday:

The regular hour chapel did not take place today due to sudden illness of the speaker's mother, Mrs. House. Dr. Rondthaler announced the topics that would be discussed this week in chapel.

Thursday:

Edna Higgins chose as her chapel subject, "Developing New Types of Schooling. She announced that the school curriculum has been made to fit the needs of the changing social conditions."

PLAYS TITLE ROLL

First called Peg O' My Heart, then Mrs. Gorringer, then Mrs. I. Correspond, then the Sea Hag, this young lady will earn another name for herself when she appears Friday night as Patricia Harrington, better known as the Patsy.

COMING FRIDAY NIGHT NOVEMBER THE 16TH

To Be Pierrettes' Greatest Production

As great, though perhaps not so breath-takingly spectacular as "Robinson's Trousseau," is "The Patsy," which the Pierrette Players take great pleasure and pride in presenting on Friday night, November 16, at 8:30 in Memorial Hall.

From the vast masculine population of Winston-Salem, the club has chosen two talented and much in-demand actors, Mr. Charles Jenkins and Mr. John Fries Blair, to assist in making "The Patsy" a tremendous box office success.

The play is the type that keeps an audience physically and mentally on edge, with uncracked and forgotten peanuts clasped tightly in clenched fists. As did Broadway, so likewise will Salem, thrill to the story of an ugly duckling weaky who completely turns the tables on her sharp tongued family, by proving herself a "builder-upper" instead of a "tearer-downer" in a pulse-palpating love affair.

The price of admission will be 25c and 35c.

SOPHOMORES' OUT DOOR SUPPER

Entertain Themselves

With hot dogs, hot coffee, and singing, every Sophomore who joined the group around the new out-door fireplace Thursday night enjoyed both food and entertainment.

An added attraction of the evening was the presentation by Lou Freeman (standing on a rock), of favors to the players and substitutes of the Sophomore Hockey Team.

If you ask me, Little Jo Whitehead has good ideas.

HOME CHURCH CELEBRATES FOUNDING

Services Include Sermon, Communion and Lovefeast

November the thirteenth is observed throughout the world by Moravian Churches in all lands as a day of peculiar honor to Jesus Christ. This is true because more than two hundred years ago, in seeking to fill by election the position of Chief Elder, namely, the ruling authority of the Moravian Church, no election resulted after repeated attempts.

In addition, it so happens that the ancient Salem Congregation was founded more more than a century and a half ago on November the thirteenth. Therefore the nearest Sunday to this date is annually an occasion of celebration in the Home Church.

This year it fell on November the eleventh and services included the Sermon, Lovefeast and Communion.

Many members living at a distance made this their great home-coming day in old Salem.

SEVEN THOUSAND CANDLES UNDER THE WIDOW'S HOUSE

Buried Treasures Going to Waste Across the Street

Deep in the cellar of the Widow's House we found a warm, sweet, smelling room, where a most interesting person was engaged in an unique occupation. Her trained fingers were sticking special kinds of strings into ancient moulds and tying these strings correctly around whatever they were supposed to be tied around, and then straightening out the tiny pole on top of the moulds.

In fourteen years at the rate of seven thousand candles a year, how many candles has Miss Ella made since she was first employed by Salem College? Dr. Rondthaler, that's a problem much like the one "How many times has the old clock struck since it was placed in the tower of the Moravian church?"

Let's forget the numerical problem, and return to the underground room filled with that spicy odor of warm bees-wax which mingled so perfectly with the chuckles of Miss Sally Vest and Miss Ella Butner, as they called back memories of their childhood!

"Miss Vest, tell these girls how our old teacher used to punish us when we misbehaved in school," said Miss Ella, as she poured the hot melted wax around the wicks in the candle moulds.

Miss Vest looked lovingly at the tiny, low, backless bench off which her short legs used to dangle as she studied her reading lesson.

SYMPHONY CONCERT MONDAY NIGHT

Stringfield Flute Soloist

The program for the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra for Monday, November 12th was:

"The Melody" from "Orpheus" by Gluck—a flute solo played by Mr. Stringfield.

"Equot Overture," by Beethoven "Symphony in B Minor," (Unfinished) by Beethoven, two movements, Allegro Moderato and Andante con moto.

"Valse Triste," by Sibelius.

"Deep Forest," by Daniels.

"Espone" (Rapshody), by Chobier.

The Personnel of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra include:

- Newcomb, Amy
Houston, Charlotte
Hoffman, Elizabeth
Binford, Naomi
Crowell, Adelaide
Sloan, Frances
Moore, Maureen
Martin, Ruth
Walker, Judith
Rieckert, Kay
Johnson, Ruby
LaPrade, Winifred
Hanaman, Elizabeth
Risley, Lois
Stickeleather, Verne
Bryant, Gerald
Wise, Mike
Morse, E. B.
Buckner, John
Cantrell, Sam
Kircheis, William
Cousins, M. T.
Bagwell, William
Bird, Herbert
Poster, Ray
Wolslagel, Earl
Tanner, Vernon
Beachboard, Kenneth
Nanzetta, Leonard
Hazelman, Herbert
Murphy, John
Simmons, Robert
Simmons, Maddy
Fulton, Richard
Owens, T. C.
White, Joe
Petree, Elbert
Felmet, Fred
Prescott, Walter
Alderman, Jess
Haley, George
Douglas, R. A.
Bennett, David
Ewing, E. A.
Stringfield, Lamar
Revis, Archie
Glass, Charlie

N. C. STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONFERENCE AT GREENSBORO

Salem Sends Three Delegates

On November 8, Salem's Y. W. C. A. sent three delegates to a conference of Student Volunteers which was held in Greensboro at that time. Various groups from white, colored, and coeducational, boys' and girls' schools were present.