

PAGEANT CONTEST
CLOSES MIDNIGHT
FEBRUARY 15THMay Day Announces Again
$10 Prize For Original
Fete

Friday, February 15, is the last day on which Pageants for May Day may be submitted for entrance in the contest. The May Day Committee announces again that the prize for the best pageant will be ten dollars, awarded for originality and most workable plans rather than for fine writing. The contest is open to all academy and college students, and it is hoped that several pageants will be entered.

DR. HENRY RISNER
SPEAKS AT VESPERS

The Art of Living

Dr. Henry Risner, one of the twelve most famous pastors, spoke at Vespers Sunday evening on "The Art of Living."

The Salvation of character is thought. This statement may be based on Phil. 4:8; "Whatever things are true, honorable, pure, lovely, and of good report." Think on these things. Whatever one studies will some day be of some use. Wordsworth said, "Life requires an art which our souls must bend." Two things which must go into the art of living, are sincerity and inspiration. It is an art of thinking to be able to reduce bewildering things, to know how to command a situation, to understand and interpret and to discriminate. If we want religious inspiration we must have perception which may be pity, commercial, for show, or for love which is conception.

Salvation of character in our conception of Christ rests upon openness, sensitiveness, pity, self respect, and independence or the width and breadth of service one can do. Salvation of the fine art of thinking is in thinking. As a result we have an ideal which is an idea with which we live.

Elizabeth Barrett Browning said, "It takes a soul to move a body."

ORMANDY CONDUCTS
MINNEAPOLIS SYMPHONYLarge Number of Salem
Students Attend
Concert

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Eugene Ormandy, internationally famous conductor, presented a concert in Reynolds Memorial Auditorium, Monday night, February 4, at 8:30.

The concert, which was the third presentation under the auspices of the Civic Music Association, was enjoyed by "one of the greatest concert audiences ever assembled in Reynolds Auditorium." Salem College and Academy were very well represented both by students and faculty.

The opening number on the program was Richard Wagner's Overture to "The Flying Dutchman." This was followed by four movements of the Tchaikowsky Symphony No. 4 in F. minor. The three compositions played after the intermission were "Don Juan" by Richard Strauss, Scherzo Capriccioso by Anton Dvorak and "Jablotchko," a Russian Sailors' Dance taken from the ballet, "The Red Poppy" by Gliere.

The encores that the orchestra played for a very appreciative audience were: "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by Dvorak, a pizzicotti number, and the favorite "Blue Danube Waltz" by Richard Strauss.

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra is directly affiliated with the University of Minnesota and is now in its thirty-second season. It has more than a hundred pieces.

STUDENT SEMINAR
COMING

A Student Seminar on "Religion and Life" is to be held this coming week-end, February 9 and 10 at the Greensboro City Y. W. C. A. Bruce Curry, Professor of Bible at Union Theological Seminary in New York City, and leader of student groups in the United States and Canada, is to lead the sessions, to which all interested students in the North Carolina Colleges are invited.

Our "Y" is sending as representatives Charlotte King, Erika Marx, Ethel Highsmith and Mrs. O'Neal.

HONOR ROLL FOR 1ST
SEMESTER IS LONGEST
IN MANY YEARS

Sixty-Six Girls Honor Students; Mrs. Morton Omitted Through Error

Dr. Rondthaler read in chapel the two lists of first and second Honors for the First Semester of 1934-35. As he read the list, many marvelled at its length; but in its corrected form it is even longer. Through a mistake Mrs. Morton, who made the first honor roll, was not included in the chapel reading. Mrs. Morton is to be congratulated along with the other sixty-five honor students. The office force in the registrar's office is also to be commended for sending out the list so quickly at a time when many other things are being arranged there.

The list, corrected, is as follows:

ALUMNAE WEEK-END
IS BIG SUCCESSEntertainment Is Enjoyed
By All

From the moment the first alumna set her foot on this familiar ground till the last alumnae left, last week-end was a grand success. Beginning with the I. R. S. Banquet Friday night events came fast and furious. The alumnae meeting, the academy breakfast, the visiting of classes, expanded chapel on Saturday, the day student's tea, the trustees and alumnae dinner, the moving pictures, and the party all contributed toward making the entire time a wonderful round of entertainment.

Two talented alumnae, or should I say two of the many talented alumnae added to the pleasure of the occasion by giving violin solos and by singing. In expanded chapel Miss Rebecca Hines presented to Dr. Rondthaler in a most unique way the repapering and painting of South Hall that the day students have done. She gave him samples of each kind of paper and paint that was used.

Mention must be made of the clever dinner Saturday night at which the trustees were presented to the school as movie stars. Miss Elizabeth Jerome drew the ideal trustee by taking various features of each one and making from them a whole.

Dr. Rondthaler expressed his appreciation in chapel on Tuesday for all the work and infinite care that students, faculty and other help took to make the week-end as big a success as it really was.

DR. CHARLES MYERS
SPEAKER AT CHAPELFeature of Founders' Day
Celebration

At the chapel service held Saturday morning Dr. Charles Myers, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Greensboro was the guest speaker. The service was held under direction of the Scorpions in honor of the founding of Salem College in 1772.

The Glee Club opened the program by singing two numbers in Latin: "Eccc Panis" and "Christus Factus," written by Cyre de Brant. These were followed by "Dear Land of Home," written by Sibelius. Another musical feature was a violin solo, played by Mrs. Laura H. Norden, visiting alumna.

Dr. Rondthaler explained briefly about the founding of Salem College. Four men, Frederick William de Marshall, John M. Graff, Paul Tiersch, Richard Utley, representing Saxony, Franconia, Germany and Yorkshire England, determined to give girls and young women educational opportunities equal with those of men, in 1772 established the college.

Miss Mary Penn, representing the Scorpions, then introduced the speaker, Dr. Charles Myers. He spoke of the greatness of the personalities of the pioneers who founded Salem College, and of their determination. They as great people of today, were not controlled by fear of the consequences, or by fear of not following the way of the crowd. To develop fine personalities we need, first, faith in God. Notions which have had faith in God have never been ruined. Just as Jesus showed deep interest in the people with whom he came in contact, people today should respond deeply and quickly to the things around them. Many times people have failed Him, yet he continues to trust them. Second, there

HIGH ENROLLMENT FOR
EXTENSION COURSESRevised Schedule
Announced

The second semester enrollment for extension courses indicated that registrations for extension work in 1934-35 will be high or higher than any year within the past 10 years. The enrollment will likely exceed 243 which was the total number of registrations recorded in the extension division for the peak year of 1928-29. Salem College has been engaged in extension work for more than 10 years and the extension courses attract both elementary and high school in the Winston-Salem and Forsyth County Administrative Units.

The Home economics seminar will meet on Tuesday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock at Main Hall, Salem College; Investigations in reading, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, West End School Administration Building; Social studies curriculum, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, West End School Administration Building. The seminar in home economics will be conducted by Miss Leftwich and Mrs. Meinung. Miss Marks will teach the class in investigations in reading and also the course in social studies curriculum.

SENIORS GIVE ANNUAL
TRUSTEE DINNER

Mary Penn Toastmistress

Trustees, Seniors, and Members of the Faculty were guests of honor at the Seniors' dinner. The dining room was beautifully arranged and softly lit by candles. Each trustee was introduced as a movie hero by a senior, and Mademoiselle Libby Jerome, the famous French painter, sketched a picture of the senior idol, choosing the outstanding features of the different Trustees.

The Senior Class sang an original song to the tune of "Lady Play Your Mandolin."

Dusty are the desert lands
Crusty are the ocean strands
Lusty now we clap our hands
Trustee here's to you!
Gusty are all movie fans
Bust balloons, strike up the bands
Just see how we clap our hands
Trustee, here's to you!

Mary Penn was quite charming in her role as toastmistress, and her witty remarks kept the guests laughing until the last crumb of apple pie had disappeared.
