

SOPHOMORE
FRESHMAN
PARTY

The Salemite

SOPHOMORE
FRESHMAN
PARTY

VOL. XVI.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1935.

Number 5.

A. A. U. W. HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

Rabbi Leiberman Addresses Club

The American Association of University Women met on Tuesday night, October 15, in Louisa Wilson Biting Building of Salem College. The speaker at the meeting was Rabbi Morriss Leiberman, who with Rev. Beverly Boyd and Father Leo Frierson is addressing the high schools of the city. Rabbi Leiberman is to lead the study for the International Relations and Current Events group of the A. A. U. W. this year.

Rabbi Leiberman's subject was "Modern Challenge to Intelligence." He began his address by stating that the world as it is and the world as it should be are separated by a great barrier which should be overcome by groups such as the A. A. U. W. The speaker quoted from Huxley's "Brave New World" and other books pertaining to his subject. He declared that members of the A. A. U. W. are trained to understand existing conditions and should explain to the lesser educated, it is right for the intelligent to assume this responsibility.

An error in thinking, Rabbi Leiberman said, is that armed defense brings peace. History proves this theory erroneous. The failure to comprehend the cause and effect, he declared, is the reason for the impending catastrophe abroad. His concluding words challenged the intelligence of educated people to realize the responsibility of society.

The president, Miss Diana Dyer, presided and various business affairs were transacted before the meeting was adjourned.

LITTLE THEATRE OF WINSTON-SALEM ORGANIZED

Salem Girls Join Theater Club

On Monday night a group of people who are interested in dramas met at Salem Academy to complete the organization of the Little Theatre of Winston-Salem.

Douglas Angel was elected temporary chairman and other officers are: Vice-President, Mrs. Helen M. Winder; Secretary, Mrs. Frank (CONTINUED ON PAGE FOUR)

COLLEGE LIBRARY PRESENTS BIBLE EXHIBIT

Celebration of Anniversary of English Bible Continued

Have you seen the bible exhibit in the library? You can see a facsimile of the title page of the Coverdale Bible which was printed in 1535, the first bible printed in English. It was translated from German and Latin by Hiles Coverdale. In 1525 Lyndale's New Testament was published. In 1539 the great bible was printed. The translation was started in France under the direction of Cromwell and finished in England under the direction of Coverdale. This was the first bible to bear imprint "Appointed to be read in Churches." In 1560 the Geneva Bible was published. This translation was by Whittingham, Gibly, and Sampson. This bible was popular with the common people. In 1582 the Rhiems New Testament was published and in 1609 the Douai Old Testament was published. In 1611 the King James Version was published. The plans for this translation were started in 1604. At Cambridge, Oxford, and Westminster there were scholars working on different parts of the bible. When all the parts were finished, representatives from each company met and spent nine months harmonizing it. The King James Version was published in 1611 and more copies have been printed and sold than of any book in any language.

GERMAN CLUB AT SALEM MEETS OCTOBER 16

Treasure Hunt On Campus

It is whispered about on the campus that these German Club meetings are not really serious business assemblies at all, but are social affairs there's the Salem German Club, 7:30, October 16th, that members of the German Club at Salem met at The Hut for a Treasure Hunt. High and low, far and near, the campus was searched and explored. The treasure, however, was finally unearthed near the Hut whence the treasure hunters had begun their quest.

Their goal reached, the German Club members gathered before a large fire in the Hut and popped corn and ate apples to the tune of German songs which they sang lustily. It seems to us that where there's the Salem German Club, there's fun.

most interesting part of the campus—Louisa Wilson Biting Building, Home Economics Practice House, Library, and the beautiful grounds. They were greatly interested for many of the guests were either alumnae or descendants of alumnae of Salem College.

The receiving line in the Louisa Wilson Biting Building was composed of Mrs. Charles G. Vardell, Miss Grace Lawrence, Mesdames R. E. Ridenhour, W. A. Ayatt, J. W. Farrior, M. L. Laughlin, Marvin Utley, C. K. Proctor, J. W. Parker, James L. Flemming, Mesdames J. S. Welborn, S. P. Cooper, Isaac Manning, J. H. Anderson, Glenn Long, J. E. Woodward, Walter Woodard, A. L. Riggins, and Miss Nannie Dod- (CONTINUED ON PAGE FOUR)

MRS. JOHN H. ANDERSON SPEAKS AT CHAPEL HOUR ON IMPORTANCE U. D. C.

MRS. W. N. REYNOLDS HONORED BY SENIORS AT BIRTHDAY TEA

Senior Class Acts As Hostess

The Senior Class entertained at a Birthday Tea given in honor of Mrs. W. N. Reynolds at 2:30 on Monday, October 14. The tea was served in the Recreation Room of Louisa Wilson Biting Building, which was built and furnished by Mrs. Reynolds in memory of her mother. Many social activities are held in this building, which is used as the Senior dormitory.

Delicious sandwiches, sweets, stuffed dates and bon bons were served by the Seniors, and a beautiful birthday cake, lighted with candles was brought in while the Seniors sang "Happy Birthday" for Mrs. Reynolds.

Mary Mills, a member of the Senior Class, sang several lovely solos, accompanied by Jean Robinson at the piano. Mrs. Reynolds was presented with a corsage of heliotrope and roses by Etta Burt Warren, the president of the Senior Class.

The guests at the tea were relatives and friends of Mrs. Reynolds, and were received by Miss Lawrence and Miss Riggan.

8:30 CHAPEL

Mr. McEwen Discusses "Jesus As A Hygienist"

Mr. McEwen, head of the Department of Education, spoke in chapel, Saturday, October 12, on "Jesus as a Teacher and Hygienist." Jesus, with His remarkable personality and His daily activity, will always be regarded as the world's greatest Teacher. He used an important method in teaching, adhering to a genetic approach, and recognizing development in nature and in the human mind. Mr. McEwen pointed out passages in the Bible to show this development.

Jesus used the method of adjustment and practiced practical experiments. He pointed out truth through these everyday occurrences; His many parables illustrate this. He used the parable because it loaned itself to any situation.

He also used psycho-analysis. He analyzed the rich young man who consulted Him and saw the weakness of the man, and advised him to sell all his possessions and join the disciples. Jesus was a successful teacher because He was always sincere in His teaching—He was always in complete readiness to face reality. (CONTINUED ON PAGE THREE)

FRESHMEN PRESIDENT AND CLUB LEADERS CHOSEN

Peggy Bowen, Winston-Salem, was chosen president of the Freshman Class in a meeting held Thursday. Miss Bowen is a graduate of Richard J. Reynolds where she was an outstanding student. She was chosen the most versatile girl in high school and was also cheer leader. Miss Bowen is living on the Salem Campus.

Janet Stimpson, Pfafftown, was unanimously chosen president of the Mathematics Club in a call meeting, Tuesday.

President of the Glee Club for 1935-36 is Virginia Thompson, of Statesville. Miss Thompson is a music student.

N. C. HISTORIAN GIVES ACCOUNT U. D. C. WORK

Mrs. John Huske Anderson, of Raleigh, N. C., state historian for the North Carolina Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, spoke in expanded chapel at Salem College Wednesday morning on "The Place of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in Southern History."

"The three main interests of the U. D. C.," said Mrs. Anderson, "are education, history, and benevolences. The U. D. C. preserves the past but lives in the future." In recounting the history of the U. D. C., Mrs. Anderson stated that the organization was forty-one years old, and from the time of its founding to the present day it has stood for loyal, unbiased patriotism to the nation as well as to the South. Its motto is "Loyalty to the truth of Southern history," and the U. D. C. has done more toward preserving the true history of the South than any other organization of its kind.

By awarding scholarships to many young people throughout the country who are of Confederate descent, the U. D. C. does much to promote education and benevolences. The U. D. C. spends $500,000 yearly for scholarships.

The speaker told of the two greatest men of the South, Washington and Lee, and what their lives have (CONTINUED ON PAGE FOUR)

MISS CARRIE WEAVER SPEAKS AT VESPERS

Discusses "Christ In Me—Body"

Miss Carrie Lee Weaver, of the Winston-Salem Y. W. C. A., was the guest speaker at the Vesper Service Sunday evening. Her subject was "Christ in Me—Body." She spoke of the many ways Christ is revealed to us, especially in the places we would least expect his revelation. She spoke also of how our religion should be a part of our everyday life.

Anne Nisbet gave a very delightful harp solo. Her selection was "Nocturne" by Hasselmanns.

MRS. RONDTHALER SENDS MESSAGE TO SALEM STUDENTS AND FACULTY

LETTER OF THANKS RECEIVED AT SALEM

Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler Arrive in New York

Mrs. Rondthaler has written a very gracious letter of thanks to the girls and faculty of Salem for the letters she received while she and Dr. Rondthaler were in London. In her message, written October 2, to the editor of the Salemite she said: "Will you tell all the girls and the faculty how greatly we have enjoyed all their letters, and please give them all our love. Surely they must know that our eager and interested thoughts are constantly on the cam-

WACHOVIA SOCIETY MEETS TUESDAY NIGHT

Miss Fries Is Speaker

Rev. Douglas Rights, president of the Wachovia Historical Society, opened the meeting on Tuesday night in the Wachovia Museum. He introduced Colonel Blair, who talked for a few minutes to the members.

Colonel Blair said that museum means the temple of the musers; it was originally a place for study, and people went there to meditate. The first museum was established at Oxford in 1769. He spoke of the interesting museum here in our midst. It is an accurate museum. Among other interesting things, those which might especially interest the college girls are some notebooks done in 1851 by students here, and some needlework done in the same year by a Salem girl.

There are three types of membership in the Society: patron membership, life membership, and annual membership. At this meeting the Society appointed Mr. Hall to replace Mr. Walter Hege as chief custodian of the museum.

The chief part of the program was given over to Miss Adelaide Fries, who read a paper on the work done by the first Moravian settlers. Miss Fries has devoted much time to research. All of the early Moravian (CONTINUED ON PAGE THREE)

ANNUAL MISSIONARY LOVEFEAST AT HOME CHURCH SUNDAY

Business Meeting Held

At the Home Moravian Church, on Sunday afternoon, October 14, the annual missionary lovefeast and business meeting of the Foreign Mission Society of the Southern Moravian Province was held with a large crowd in attendance. During the serving of the lovefeast coffee and buns, the choir sang old Moravian hymns. The anthem for the service was Bach's "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desire." Grace Franklin sang "Come Ye Blessed of My Father."

The business meeting followed, presided over by Rev. Schwarze. The report of the secretary and treasurer were given and the auditors for the following year were elected. A delightful address was given by Mr. and Mrs. Schwalbe, reporting on the Alaska Jubilee, held last summer, and the activities of the Alaska congregation. A report from the Alaska Orphanage was given and the meeting was then adjourned with song and benediction.

pus! Tomorrow we are sailing for America and just in time, for Mussolini has declared war and the faces of the Londoners are very grave this morning."

In a letter written Sunday, October 13, aboard the "Lanchastria" Mrs. Rondthaler said:

"We shall probably not land until Tuesday, since we have a huge cargo of Irish lace and linens to be landed in Boston, however, the long cruising trip which we purposely chose, all around Ireland stopping at Belfast and Galway and now stopping at Boston and on to New York has been just the thing for Dr. Rondthaler. He loves the sea and has not been a might sea-sick in four days of roughest gale.

This is a perfect Sunday morning south of Newfoundland with gulls (CONTINUED ON PAGE FOUR)

U. D. C. DELEGATES ARE TEA GUESTS AT SALEM COLLEGE

VISITORS SHOWN OVER CAMPUS AND COLLEGE

Guests Received in Louisa Wilson Biting Building

Delegates attending the United Daughters of the Confederacy convention were guests at a delightful tea at Salem College, Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.

Welcoming the guests at Main Hall were Miss Marian Blair, Miss Isabel Ferguson, Mrs. Evelyn Wilson Simpson and Miss Katherine Riggan. The new murals decorating Main Hall and the portrait of Dr. Rondthaler were greatly admired by the visitors. The guests were then shown the