

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB MEETS IN PRACTICE HOUSE TUESDAY

Miss Tinder Speaks To Home Economics Students

The Home Economics Club met on Tuesday night at 7:00 o'clock in the Lizora Fortune Hanes building, with Susan Rawlings, president of the club, as hostess. Miss Tinder, dietitian at R. J. Reynolds High School, was the guest speaker, and spoke on "Running a Cafeteria on an Educational Basis." She outlined the history of the development of Home Economics in the Winston-Salem schools, and illustrated the importance of Home Economics in the school curriculum. Miss Tinder also discussed the aims of a school cafeteria, and the ways in which diet habits of school children may be improved.

Following Miss Tinder's talk, elections were held in which Miss Sarah Sherwood was elected Secretary of the Home Economics Club, and Miss Virginia Foy was elected Treasurer. Plans were made to have a speaker talk on some phase of Home Economics at the club meetings which will be held every month. At the close of the business meeting, delicious refreshments were served to the club members.

I. R. S. SCAVENGER HUNT HELD SATUR- DAY EVENING

Perhaps you were startled in your room on Saturday night by a wild-looking pair who demanded a 1933 calendar, or perhaps you are wondering what happened to your little negro doll or your bowl of gold fish. The explanation for the unexpected requests and losses was the Scavenger Hunt given by the I. R. S. on November 16. The hunters gathered in the basement of Louisa Wilson Bitting Building at 8:30 and were assigned to work in pairs. Poor Mary Worthy Spencer has been rubbing her head a great deal lately. No doubt it is sore since it supplied the "locks of red hair tied in a shoe string" demand on the Scavenger Hunt List. Maybe you saw the flashlights down on the Hockey field where the hunters were trying to find a toadstool (very few did). Finally Betty Gaither and Betsy Fearing, the lucky pair who were the first to get all of their strange requests in, received the prizes — two boxes of Salem stationery. Although not all of those who attended won a prize, they had a great deal of fun trying. If you have missed anything, perhaps you had better see someone who went on the Scavenger Hunt.

A. A. U. W. MEETS AT SALEM COLLEGE

New Books Reviewed

Miss Ida Wilkinson was speaker at a meeting of the A. A. U. W. held in Louisa Bitting Building of Salem College, Tuesday evening, and presided over by the president, Miss Diana Dyer.

Miss Wilkinson gave a number of reviews of recent books. In her opinion one of the greatest books in recent years is Ellen Glasgow's "Vein of Iron." Some books which she highly recommended are: "Our Lords and Masters," presenting the thesis that twenty-five men govern the modern world; the sixth of Mark Sullivan's series, "Our Times," entitled "The Twenties."

Some very interesting recent books are "Cabins in the Laurel," "The

"WHAT IS WORSHIP" SUBJECT CHAPEL TALK

Dr. W. N. Schwarze, Bethle- hem, Penn., Speaker

Dr. W. N. Schwarze, President of the Moravian Seminary, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania was the speaker at Thursday morning's chapel. The subject of Dr. Schwarze's talk was "What is Worship?"

We use the term worship loosely and do not realize exactly what is meant by it. We know, however, that is one thing that God requires of us.

The word in the Old Testament means "to bow down," and in the New Testament "to kiss the hand to," both of which are oriental gestures of reverence and awe.

To strip the word of all technicalities, worship means "approaching God and seeking to enter into relation with him." Our Anglo-Saxon word "worship" comes from "worth" and indicates that we feel the true worth of God and are strengthened.

Within us there are deeper sensi-

STUDENT COUNCIL ENTERTAINS THE ADVISORY BOARD

On Wednesday evening, the Student Council entertained at dinner honoring the Advisory Board. The guests found their places by means of attractive, hand-painted cards, depicting scenes from various fairy stories, while from the books on the same subject scattered about the table as decoration, issued dolls dressed as Snow White and Rose Red, Puss in Boots, Cinderella, Little Red Riding Hood, Peter Pan, and many more. Gertrude Schwalbe, president of Student Government, presided, and kept her guests in suspense as she read to them, "The Ogre Who Played Jack Shows." Everyone tried his hand at an original contest in which 15 fairy story characters were to be unscrambled, and the lucky winner received a book of fairy stories. Enjoying this delightful dinner were the honor guests, Dean and Mrs. Vardell, Miss Riggan and Miss Covington, Gertrude Schwalbe, the hostess, and the

MRS. MEINUNG SPEAKS ON INFLUENCE OF BIBLE IN ART

Picture Slides Used To Illus- trate Lecture

"The Influence of the Bible in Art" was the subject of an illustrated lecture by Mrs. Meinung, member of the Home Economics department at Salem College, at expanded chapel Wednesday morning. Continuing a series of programs on the influence of the Bible in literature and art, Mrs. Meinung gave a brief history of early Renaissance art, and spoke about the Renaissance artists and their works, explaining the slide illustrations of famous pictures which were shown by Mr. Oerter.

When painting was taken over by the church, the cathedrals and churches of that time were decorated by frescos and mosaics. Although extremely lovely because of their luminous colors, mosaics must depend mainly on their coloring and possess little life-like beauty. There is a strong Byzantine influence shown in the frescos and mosaics of the early Renaissance.

In the earlier Renaissance paintings one finds traces of the Byzantine influence, but the paintings are becoming more natural and life-like.

Fra Angelica, one of the earlier Renaissance painters, did many pic-

NATIONAL PEACE DEMONSTRATION STAGED

(By Associated Collegiate Press)
New York — College students all over the country rallied last week to give the most impressive peace demonstration in American collegiate history.

Gathered in groups ranging from one or two hundred to well into the thousands, the men and women who would be asked to bear the brunt of "the next war" reaffirmed their intention to do everything within their power to prevent armed conflict between the nations, and to stay out of it if they cannot prevent it.

The demonstrations were quiet, free from violence or disturbance in most instances, although anti-pacifist groups did make their presence felt on some campuses. Pamphlets ridiculing the demonstrators for peace were distributed in some places, and counter-rallies were staged. Five hundred members of the Boston University R. O. T. C. attended a mass meeting, on orders from their commanding officers, who stated, however, it was their intention to "show that soldiers, too, seek peace."
