

SALEM STUDENTS ATTEND PEACE CONFERENCE

Dr. R. J. Artman Leads Discussions

The second student Conference on Peace was held Sunday, November 24, at Greensboro Women's College. Reports of the progress of the Peace Movement in the colleges of North Carolina there represented were given, and the general trend showed an increase in student interest in the movement and its activities.

The program committee was fortunate in securing as speaker and leader of the conference Dr. J. R. Artman, formerly a professor at the University of Chicago, and now engaged in touring the country, giving lectures, and making studies of the prevalent economic conditions.

In the morning session, Dr. Artman used as the basis of his discussion the fact that the world now is actually and fundamentally war-minded — and that through a long time program, not taking only a year, but covering years, we must change the public mind to one of peace — and the plans for this program must be laid so that the oncoming generations of students will be able to take hold where the present generation leaves off.

There are three big problems today in America which must be solved. First is to return politics to the people, instead of leaving it in the hands of political racketeers; 2nd is to change the war mind of the public to that of peace; and third is to bring the economic problems back to a moral basis. To make the public actively conscious of these problems, people representative of all classes will have to be contacted: superintendants of schools, teachers, lawyers, farmers, doctors, and labor leaders.

Statistics show that the support of the army and navy alone in the United States costs more than the national income, and all the rest of the public money that is used on education, and other public institutions is borrowed money. Only one per cent of money spent by the government is spent on education. Think what a revolution and advance civilization would make if as much money was spent for peace as is spent for war.

War fervor and war-mindedness is to a great extent spread through the influence of the emotions. The playing of bands, the display of colors, the excitement of parades of men in uniform are all played up to arouse the war spirit in the public. Instead of this war emotion, can't we arouse a just as fervent feeling for peace in the public breast?

In building a platform for peace, there are four planks which will give it firm support: 1. That all business should stand its own risks, 2. That all travellers in times of war take their own risks, 3. That all munitions be manufactured by the government, 4. A position of neutrality be taken.

One of the best ways of getting to the public mind is through the Press, by editorials, and by giving the real facts of the expenditures and losses of war, as well as the cost of war in times of peace. Only when we have turned the public mind from war can we hope for Peace.

In the afternoon an informal Open Forum discussion was held by Dr. Artman. The main thought left with the students was that more moral values should be placed in our economic, social and political life.

Later tea was served to the delegates by the Y. W. C. A. of the Greensboro Women's College, with Miss Bessie Breedlove, the Y president as hostess.

The Salem delegates attending the Conference were Eleanor Watkins, Arnie Topp, Erika Marx, Margaret Briggs, and Martha Schlegel.

SCIENCE CLUB AT SALEM REORGANIZED

Ogburn and Wilson Elected President and Secretary

The former Science Club of Salem College has recently been reorganized by a group of students interested in science. The first meeting was held November 12th, in the Science Lecture Room.

The aims of the organization as set forth in the Constitution are: (1) to encourage students in the study of science; (2) to keep in touch with the development of scientific discoveries and investigations, and (3) to stimulate interest in scientific subjects through the agencies of lectures, exhibitions and other presentations, so that more people may become actively engaged in the study of science.

The requirements for membership in the Science Club are: (1) Members must be in the Sophomore, Junior, or Senior class; (2) Members must have passed all work at Salem, or in case of transfer, must have passed all work at former schools; (3) Members must have two years in Science; (4) Members must not belong to more than two other societies, excluding Y. W. C. A., Student Government, Athletic Association and McDowell Club; (5) Members must pursue courses in one of the following — Astronomy, Biology, Geology, Home Economics, Mathematics or Physics; (6) Members must pass all courses for which they are registered; (7) Members must be approved by two-thirds majority of the active membership and (8) Members must sign the Constitution.

The officers of the club are: President, Carlotta Ogburn, Secretary and Treasurer, Bette Wilson; Executive Committee, Virginia Lee, Rebekah Baynes and Dorothy Hutaff. The club will meet the second Tuesday of each month at 7:00 P. M. in the Biology Laboratory in Park Hall.

DR. AND MRS. RONDTHALER TO RETURN SATURDAY

There's going to be a lot of excitement on Salem College campus Saturday—especially among the old girls. What everybody's been looking forward to since September 18 is the return of the Rondthalers to Salem, and Saturday is the day! We wouldn't be very much surprised if both Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler won't be almost as happy to get back as we will be to have them.

Jane reports that they will arrive sometime Saturday night, and as soon as the exact time is discovered, we think it would be a good idea to have it posted on all of the bulletin boards, so everybody won't ask everybody else "Have they come yet?" "When does the train get in?" etc.

Dr. Rondthaler plans to teach his Bible Class on Sunday morning — and he also expects to be in his office Monday morning, so you see

MELROSE HENDRIX SPEAKS ON "THANKS- GIVING" AT VESPERS

Kenneth Bryan Sings

Melrose Hendrix was the speaker at a most impressive Thanksgiving Vesper Service, Sunday evening. In her talk she stressed the importance of Thanksgiving in the life of a Christian and the necessity of giving thanks all during the year and not merely on one day.

In the Psalms and in the story of Christ's life, thankfulness is the main thought. All Christians should be thankful and give thanks, because there is no true Christian who does not have this spirit. In His life Christ never failed to give thanks before He did deeds of kindness to other people. Thankfulness is a mental need and there is no worthwhile person without it. Truly successful people thank God for their success.

We should have this spirit everyday in the year and not only on Thanksgiving day. This holiday of thanks has lasted longer than any other one, and will continue, because man feels the need in his heart and mind. The man who understands his fellowmen's needs and wants is truly a person to give thanks.

At the conclusion of the talk Kenneth Bryan sang a lovely solo on Thanksgiving.

Salem Faculty and Administration Guests at Tea

The Senior Home Economics Students entertained the Faculty and Administration of Salem College at a tea on Tuesday, November 26, from 3:30 to 5:30 in the Lizora Fortune Hanes Building. Miss Bessie Leftwich, of the Home Economics Department assisted the girls as hostess, and Mrs. Elizabeth Meinung, also of the Home Economics Department, poured tea.

The living room was charmingly arranged with bouquets of chrysanthemums, and a log fire was burning in the fireplace. The dining-room looked lovely, lighted by candles, with a softly gleaming silver service, and bowls of nandina and chrysanthemums arranged attractively around the room. Tea and coffee were served, with delicate open-faced sandwiches covered with olive and egg bits; closed chicken salad, and peanut butter and brown bread sandwiches. Tiny pumpkin tarts, nuts, and orange mints shaped like pumpkins were also served.

The Senior Home Economics girls acting as hostesses were Mary Nelson Anderson, Cordelia Lowry, Erika Marx, Susan Rawlings, Josephine Reece, Marjorie Robinson, Martha Schlegel, and Adelaide Trotter.

STUDENTS TO HOLD CON- VENTION INDIANAPOLIS

Marx and Schlegel To Represent Salem

More arresting is the announcement that the Twelfth Quadrennial Convention of the Student Volunteer Movement will meet in Indianapolis the last of December than is the news of powerful forces attacking governmental policies and menacing international statutes. Twenty-five hundred delegates gathering during their Christmas holiday from several hundred colleges and universities of Canada and the United States, unitedly facing world conflicts and social changes in the light of Christian precepts, is a force to be recognized and valued.

Kagawa, Japan's great apostle, aflame with the message of love, justice, and economic freedom; the Archbishop of York, William Temple, Great Britain's Christian statesman called "the Chinese missionary man of world repute; T. Z. Koo, of the Christians of the Occident;" Mrs. Induk Pak, a Korean of exceptional ability and field secretary of the Co-operative Committee on Work Among Rural Women; Basil Mathews, author, publicist, and lecturer, are overseas speakers who will be joined by nationals and returned missionaries of Canada and the United States. Gonzalo Baez Camargo, Secretary of the National Christian Council of Mexico and John A. Mackay, formerly of Peru, evangelist and author will interpret the tides and problems of the Latin American countries. While Richard Roberts, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, Daniel J. Fleming, Kenneth Scott Latourette, E. Fay Campbell, and Henry P. Van Dusen are among those who may be termed interpreters of the home base.

It is gratifying that attending this Convention, which may well be called the Golden anniversary of the Student Volunteer Movement, will be John R. Mott and Robert E. Speer, co-founders with Robert P. Wilder of this great Movement that has fired students with missionary zeal and has been a great factor in having over 13,000 of its members sail for service in 110 mission fields. HOCKEY SEASON WELL UNDER WAY

Four Games Played

The hockey season at Salem College began on November 15th of this year with the Senior-Sophomore game. The teams were well matched; the passing was fair and not many fouls were made. Seniors played the ball most of the game. Final score was 1-0 in favor of the Sophomores, Couch making the only point scored.

The second game was the Junior-Freshmen with a score of 3-1 in favor of the Freshmen. Ivey (freshman), scored two points and C. Pfohl (freshman), and Fetter (junior), each scored one point. The junior backfield played a good game with Wureschke outstanding.

The Senior-Freshmen game was next played with a score of 2-0 in the Seniors' favor. The Freshmen team line played fairly well. The Senior backfield clicked perfectly. McNew scored the only two points of the game. Line-up was:

Seniors	Positions	Freshmen
Best	R W	Angelo
Watkins	R I	J. Hutchison
McNew	C F	Bowen
Brown	L I	Ivey
Hendrix	L W	Pfohl
M. Hutchison	R H	Preston

MISS PORTER AND MISS READ HEARD IN RECITAL

First Faculty Recital of Year Presented

The first faculty music recital of the year took place Tuesday evening in Memorial Hall when Miss Mayme Porter, pianist, and Miss Hazel Horton Read, violinist, delighted and audience of music lovers.

Miss Porter played first Schumann's Carnival. Miss Read presented Andante, a Vivaldi-Bach-Poehon selection, Elgar's La Capricieuse and the Prælude and Allegro of Pugnani-Kreisler.

Miss Porter gave a splendid interpretation of four compositions: Oldburg's Arabesque; Strawinsky's Etude in F sharp major, Ganz' In Moi and the Prelude in B flat major by Rachmainoff.

Miss Read closed the program with Vieuxtemps' Concerto, which she played with a deep understanding of its poetic beauty and its tone and shading.

Miss Dorothy Thompson skillfully accompanied Miss Read at the piano.

ART EXHIBIT WINNERS ANNOUNCED

The Art Exhibit, which was held Friday, November 22, and which was sponsored by the May Day Committee, proved to be a great success.

Many attractive as well as funny and original pictures by various people on the campus, were displayed.

There was much discussion as to which pictures should win the prizes, but the judges final decision was as follows: Mrs. Ansonbome topped the list for the most original picture, Mr. Vardell received the prize for the funniest picture, and Miss Davis had the most artistic drawing.
