JANE CROW

JANE CROW TO HEAD "SIGHTS AND INSIGHTS" PUBLICATION NEXT YEAR

Associate Editor to Succeed Lois Torrence

In an election held Wednesday, by the incoming senior class, Jane Crow was elected editor-in-chief of the college annual "Sights and Insights." Jane has been a member of the annual staff for the past two years. She was class reporter last year and is at present associate editor.

The newly elected editor has been active in various phases of college life and is a most dependable and capable girl. She is junior representative in the Student Government, head of the Costume Committee for May Day, member of the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, member of the Scorpions, the Psychology Club and the Home Economics Club.

She is the daughter of Mrs. E. W. Crow of Mocksville.

STATE-WIDE STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONFERENCE IN GREENSBORO

Dr. John Mc Kay and Dr. Chas. Logan Speakers

Over last week-end, March 20, 21 and 22, Student Volunteer groups from colleges all over the state met at Greensboro. These young people are vitally interested in missionary work, and those who are really Student Volunteers definitely plan to become missionaries in foreign fields.

The chief speakers of the conference were Dr. John McKay and Dr. Charles Logan. Dr. McKay is now connected with the foreign mission board of the Presbyterian Church. He has been a missionary to South America. Dr. Logan has been a missionary to Japan for the past 33 years, and plans to return.

The conference opened on Friday afternoon in the West Market Street Methodist Church with tea from four to six and a banquet at seven o'clock. After the banquet Dr. McKay spoke on the "Quest of a Faith."

The cry "I need a faith" is representative of the youth of today, said Dr. McKay. It is one thing to have ideas about God and another thing to have faith in God. "I pos-

The newly elected members attending this meeting were: Margaret Briggs, Edith Rose, Cornelia Wolfe, Florence Joyner, Peggy Brawley, Katherine Smith, Jo Hutchison, Kate Pratt, Martha McNair, Dorothy Wyatt, Mary Turner Willis, Helen Totten, Katherine Snead, Mildred Minter, Helen McArthur, Virginia Foy, Christine Dunn, Ethel May Angelo, Marian Sosnik, Betty Bahson.

"FINGER PRINTS" DISCUSSED AT SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club met March 25 in Park Hall. After a short business meeting, Mr. R. G. Simpson of the Winston-Salem Police Department talked to the group about "Finger Printing." He made finger prints of all the girls who wanted to have them made.

Mr. Simpson, assisted by Miss Lucy Vaughn, projected on the screen the nine different classes of finger prints which were as follows: Plain loop, twin loop, lateral pocket loop, central pocket loop, arch, tinted arch, exceptional arch, whorl, and accidental. He stated that all ten fingers might be in one class, or they might all be different.

Mr. Simpson brought out the fact that universal finger printing is coming in more and more. At present, there are more than five million prints on file in Washington, D. C. When they get a print there, they can look through the file and report in ten minutes whether or not they have that print.

The speakers for the next meeting will be Elizabeth Piper and Elizabeth Moore.

FRESHMEN HOLD SUNDAY VESPERS

The Freshman class had charge of Vespers Sunday evening. Nan Totten led the meeting and Annette McNeely read the scripture. Harriet Taylor, accompanied by Carlton Thorpe, sang "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Then Maude Battle gave a very lovely talk on "Friendship," which inspired everyone.

"EVENING OF SONG" PRESENTED BY GLEE CLUB

An "Evening of Song" was presented Monday evening by the Glee Club under the direction of Ernest Leslie Schofield.

Four sacred numbers opened the program. The Bach chorales, "How Bright Appears the Morning Star," "Draw Us to Thee, Lord Jesus," and "Now Thank We All Our God" along with "Assumpca est Maria," by Archinger, were sung without accompaniment.

James Bray, tenor, and Brooks Bynum, baritone, sang a duet, "The Moon Has Raised Her Lamp Above" from Benedict's "Lily of Killarney."

A group of English Madrigals followed, including "My Bonny Lass She Smileth," by Thomas Morley. This group was sung also without accompaniment.

Harriette Taylor, soprano, sang "Caro Nome" from Verde's "Rigoletto."

The Glee Club then sang a group of modern numbers including "Carol of the Russian Children" and Bridge's "The Fairy Ring."

Rebecca Hines, soprano gave a group of American songs, including Horn's "A Southern Refrain," Carr's "Willow, Willow," and Stephen Foster's "Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair." The accompaniment was arranged by Mr. Schofield with Anne Nisbet playing the harp, Laura Emily Pitts, flute and Mr. Schofield, cello.

The program closed with the famous "Sextette" from Donizetti's "Lucia" sung by six of Mr. Schofield's pupils. Singers were Margaret Bagby, Jane Rondthaler, James Bray, Kenneth Bryant, Richard Hine, and Brooks Bynum.

ASTRONOMY IS SUBJECT OF TALK AT MATHEMATICS CLUB

Dr. Pearl V. Willoughby, head of the English Department, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Mathematics Club held Tuesday evening at 7:30, in Louisa Wilson Biting Building.

Dr. Willoughby discussed informally the subject of "Astronomy" with the club.

After the talk the members of the club met in the "Hut" for a weiner roast before the big open fire.

The club this year has been one of the most active curricular organizations on the campus. Under the direction of Janet Stimpson, president, interesting monthly meetings have been held.

DR. RONDTHALER SPEAKS AT Y. P. M.

"Unwritten Years of Christ's Life" Is Subject of Lenten Address

Dr. Rondthaler was the speaker at expanded chapel, Wednesday morning. His subject was "The Unwritten Years of Christ's Life." Eighty-five per cent of Christ's life is unrecorded in the Bible. The interesting and formative years from His second to His twelfth birthday are left blank. More important still are the unrecorded years from the scene in the temple until His active ministry began, at the age of thirty.

There are three sources from which we may obtain information about this period. First, from geography and customs of the country; second, from Hebrew home life, and third, from Christ's teachings. The last is the most interesting source.

It is reasonable to suppose that Jesus used as illustrations things with which he was familiar.

His years of work as a carpenter are reflected in several parables. There is one of a man who built his
