

SAVE COUPONS FOR LIVING ENDOWMENT FUND

The Salem College General Alumnae Association is trying to increase the Living Endowment Fund by saving coupons from certain well-known and much-used products. Salem girls are asked to help in this by writing home to their mothers and asking them to save these coupons for this purpose. Of course, day students can do it themselves. These coupons can be turned in to Elizabeth Jerome. The manufacturers of certain products are co-operating with the Association, and for every thousand coupons, they pay $4.00. If four hundred thousand coupons are collected in a certain length of time, additional cash will be paid.

Each branch of the whole Association is working on this, and the goal is $400 for this year. Elizabeth Jerome is in charge of the whole campaign. If you want to, while you're home this summer, you may give your coupons to your home Alumnae branch president, or send them to Miss Jerome.

By doing this you can contribute to Salem's Living Endowment Fund. We urge you to take part in this and not to forget about it.

The following list of products which have these valuable coupons is very well-known and probably your family uses these things all of the time:

- Octagon Toilet Soap.
- Octagon Laundry Soap.
- Octagon Soud Powder.
- Octagon Cleanser.
- Octagon Floating Soap.
- Octagon Soap Chips.
- Borden's Condensed Milk (All kinds).
- Borden's Evaporated Milk (All kinds).
- Rumford Baking Powder.
- Luzianne Tea.

An Englishman laughs at a joke three times. When you tell it, when you explain it and when he understands it.

A German laughs at a joke only once when you tell it. He never understands it.

A Frenchman laughs at a joke twice. When you tell it and when you explain it.

An American doesn't laugh at all because he has already heard it before.

"Sport Shorts"

Volley ball practice began week before last, and there have been fewer girls out for it every day since then. When only six girls went down to the Hut last Monday afternoon they were kept rather busy playing with only three on a team.

It is rumored that volley ball will not be the major sport this spring. Maybe there will be baseball or soccer to keep Salemites busy.

Horseback riding began the first of this week and there are about twelve members in the class, and only three or four who are riding for credit.

Students are already taking tennis racquets to class to review the strokes learned in past seasons. The tennis courts have been worked on and are ready to be used now.

Swimming has not begun yet. The swimming manager is waiting for the weather report "fair and warmer."

CAVALIERA RUSTYCANNA

Blessings on thee, little man,
In thy trusty, rusty can!
Proud to own that trembling wreck
A car that's rattling good, by heck!
You will leave us in a trice
Shaking like a pair of dice.
Race the lights and pass each truck
Race the train to try your luck.
Find out what that can can do;—
He's loose at last! Poor lad, Adieu!
Now you've joined the restless horde,
Kights errant of the running board.
One of all the crowds that creep
One the crowded roads like sheep
Dropping from the skies like manna,
Cavaliere Rustycanna. —A. B. G.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

College seniors are five per cent more radical than first year men, a questionnaire survey at Washington University revealed. Co-Eds are more conservative than college men.

—Syracuse Daily Orange.

Dr. Nathan B. Van Etten speaking before the American Medical Association recently declared that medical education is too narrow. That medical student's failure to get a sound social education along with professional training is the fault of the professors.

Recent moves toward peace include the new appropriation by the Netherlands of 54,000,000 guilders for a special national defense fund, and recruitment of four thousand additional men to swell the U. S. army to 165,000.

WRITE YOUR CONGRESSMEN

Ask your congressman when action is going to be taken on the re-erendum on war. Ask your congressman what our $600,000,000 Navy is for. Ask your congressman for a copy of and information on the Boileau National Defense Bill. Ask your congressman whether or not he favors the Nye-Kvale Military Training Bill.

WRITE YOUR SENATORS

Register your objection to the $1,000,000,000 bill for national defense by your opposition to the War Department Appropriations Bill, which is next to be considered by the Senate. Inquire of your senator as to what has happened to the War Profits Control measures. Ask your senator what has taken place on the Military Disaffection Bill.

DR. RONDTHALER SPEAKS AT Y. P. M.

house on the sand, and it was destroyed. In another He tells of the unfinished house, whose owner had not counted the cost of building before he began. Again He speaks as a skilled stone mason in "the stone that ye builders rejected." How fitting also that Christ should have changed Simon's name to Peter, meaning rock.

Could not the story of the lost piece of silver be an actual happening in His or a neighbor's home? With an almost wistful tone He tells how the candle "gives light unto all to you again."

Christ was a laborer. The parable of the vineyard gives us a picture of laboring conditions and wages at that time.

Again and again we find His interest in outdoor life as in the story of the planting of the seeds.

May not the verse: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal," be drawn from actual experiences?

Thus we continue through His teachings and each parable seems to become richer and dearer, since beside the spiritual implication it is perhaps reminiscent of the Master's own life.

that are in the house."

Jesus probably played in the market place with other little boys. In His teaching He referred to the children at play. Another market place picture is found in the parable or lesson which concludes, "with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured

New York—(ACP)—The two-pound incendiary bomb, containing thermite, will be the real peril in the next war, according to Prof. J. Enrique Zanetti of Columbia University's chemistry department.

"A single two-ton bomber can carry 200 of these bombs," says Prof. Zanetti, "and if only one in 100 makes a hit, that bomber will start twenty fires within a few minutes of each other."

Thermite is a mixture of iron oxide and powdered aluminum or magnesium, stable if protected from moist air, but reacting violently if heated to a high temperature.

Minneapolis, Minn.—(ACP)—If your chest is flat, you are probably more intelligent than that fellow over there whose bulging, barrel chest interferes with his view of his feet.

At least so says Dr. S. A. Weisman of the University of Minnesota, who has spent a lot of time peering and probing into the matter. He concludes that flat-chested persons not only average greater intelligence than the full-chested, but are taller and heavier.

And that isn't all, either. Flat chests are no evidence of tuberculosis, nor of tendencies toward it. The deep-chested individuals have a better chance of contracting that disease.

New York University has provisionally refused an invitation to attend Heidelberg University's anniversary celebration in June.

Children who will be unsuccessful in later life can be spotted at the age of six, says Dr. J. W. M. Rothney of Harvard.

MISS MINT REWARDS WRIGLEY CHEWERS

"Just my luck!"
"Let me look to the bookstore—"
"I just got to mine out of my pocket."

"Loft a whole pack in my room!"
Such remarks were heard in the dining room Thursday at lunch when Miss Mint, representative of the Wrigley Chewing Gum Co., came to give dollars to all the lucky girls who had a package of Wrigley gum with them. Miss Mint passed by several unlucky students who sat hopefully holding packs of gum. Other unhappy girls were asked and they had to admit that they had none. One student is reported to have said that she didn't even chew gum! Several girls won dollars.

Madison, Wis.—(ACP)—The sell-yourself system, brought to its peak by Max Baer when he sold some 200 per cent of himself to various managers under the belief that "Per cents were like pieces of pie," has been successfully used by Rudolph Jegart, University of Wisconsin football player and sculptor, to finance a trip abroad.

Having sold all the shares available, Jegart left for France last week. Investors in the one-man corporation may look forward to dividends of oil paintings, water colors, or sketches on his return.

Jegart is the originator of "Kinetic Sculpture," using wire, wood and strink as principal materials. His "The Lynching," in this medium won wide acclaim last fall, and he has won several prizes in other art forms.

CROSSNORE'S BEGINNING

Out of a trunk filled with solid black dresses came the idea that has built a ninety-thousand dollar institution at Crossnore, N. C., Dr. Mary Martin Sloop had asked for clothes to outfit, a young mountain girl for college. But when the clothes arrived, Dr. Sloop found that they were black! They proved to be the financial backing of the education of the people at Crossnore, however, because these black clothes were sold, and brighter ones bought for the girl who was to go away to school. The first year, Mrs. Sloop and her helpers cleared over a thousand dollars in this way. The next year, instead of one girl, sixteen, went away to school. Now it is not necessary to send the boys and girls away to secondary school, as one of the best high schools in the state is located in Crossnore. Higher training is also offered in weaving, agriculture, carpentry, and home economics departments of the school. There are nearly four hundred pupils in the schools, four hundred out of nineteen graduates go to college.

The little mountain girl, the first to go away to school, returned as a trained nurse, and has done a great deal of good among the people.

Now Mrs. Sloop receives clothes from nearly every state in the union, and from Canada. It is to this establishment that the clothes you have given will be sent. The "Y" would like to thank the girls for their contributions. We are sure they will be much appreciated.
