

GOOD-BY SENIORS!

The Salemite

GOOD-BY SENIORS!

VOL. XVI.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1936.

Number 28.

SALEM COMMENCEMENT MAY 30th TO JUNE 1st

DR. JONES TO DELIVER COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Final Exercises Monday, June 1st; Speaker Is From Atlanta, Ga.

Commencement exercises will be held Monday, June 1st at eleven o'clock in Memorial Hall. Dr. M. Ashby Jones of Atlanta, Georgia, will deliver the address. Fifty students will receive degrees at that time.

The Academic Procession will form in Main Hall at 10:40 o'clock and march to Memorial Hall.

The speaker, Dr. M. Ashby Jones is a native of Atlanta. He is former pastor of the leading Baptist Church of St. Louis. He recently resigned to return home and devote his time to literary efforts. For the past thirty years Dr. Jones has made frequent visits to various parts of the world to study national and international affairs. He was a special guest speaker of the British Committee of the World Alliance for Peace in 1928. One of his sermons has been published in Dr. Fort Newton's volume "Best Sermons." He is considered one of the most outstanding ministers of the South.

DR. M. ASHBY JONES

ROTARY ANNS ARE HONORED BY SALEM COLLEGE

Are Guests At Tea On Tuesday Afternoon

Wives of the Rotarians who were in Winston-Salem attending the tenth annual conference of the Rotary International, were honored at a beautiful tea given by the college on Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Katherine Riggan greeted the ladies at the entrance of Main Hall. She was assisted by thirty students, most of whom were daughters of Rotarians. They acted as guides on a tour of the college buildings and grounds.

Receiving in Main Hall were Mrs. Howard Rondthaler Mrs. Edward Johnson, of Roanoke, Virginia, wife of Rotary International president; Mrs. Henry Fries of Winston-Salem; Mrs. Cleveland Thayer of Asheboro, wife of the district governor; Mrs. Agnew H. Bahnon, chairman for Rotary Anns; Mrs. Amos Squire, of Ossining, N. Y., wife of the director of Rotary International; and Mrs. James R. Fain, wife of the chairman of the host club committee.

Inviting the guests into the corridor were Mrs. Charles G. Vardell and Mrs. Thomas Hill, wife of the president-elect of Rotary.

Miss Grace Lawrence greeted the guests on the campus courtyard. Here the tea table was arranged and refreshments were served by students.

Miss Grace Siewers presided in the library, showing the guests the collection of books and old prints. The Lizora Hanes Practice House was in

(Continued On Page Four)

ROY CAMPBELL ADDRESSES SCIENCE CLUB

Last Meeting of the Year

On Wednesday night, May 13, the Science Club held the last meeting of the year 1935-'36 in Park Hall. After a short business meeting, Miss Carlotta Ogburn, president of the Science Club, introduced the speaker, Mr. Roy Campbell, who spoke on "Muscle Fatigue." After the lecture Mr. Campbell gave a demonstration of muscle fatigue. He removed the muscles from the thigh of the leg of a frog. When electrical stimulus was applied to the muscle, it contracted. These contractions were recorded on a kymograph. A microtome was used to regulate the time intervals of the contractions of the muscles.

COLONIAL DAMES ACQUIRE SALEM HOUSE

Oldest Existing Dwelling of Moravian Settlers

The Forsyth County branch of the North Carolina Society of Colonial Dames of America have announced that they have purchased the fourth house to be erected in the town of Salem. It stands on the fourth lot on Main Street north of Bank Street.

The house has been named "The Fourth House" by the organization. It will be restored in the exact architecture of the early Moravians; and furnished in every detail in old Moravian style. It will be used as a museum and a meeting place for the Colonial Dames.

The following interesting item is found in the Bethabara diary for July 25, 1767:

"Brother Schropp went to Salem with Brother Rueter, where they staked the ground for the fourth house."

On November 28, 1767 the record reads:

"Early in the morning a number of brethren from here (Bethabara), went to Salem, and helped the brethren there to raise the fourth house, which they finished successfully by noon, without accident, thank God."

This is all that is said about building the house, but the German verb used in the diary shows that it was a frame house, not a log house. It was customary to call the neighbors in, after the timbers were prepared, and they were "raised" quickly. Since the houses on both sides had cellars, it is probable that this did also. It was a simple one-story dwelling house.

Apparently, various persons occupied the house during the first years. However in 1771, Charles Holder and his wife moved into the house. He came from Northampton County, Pennsylvania, and was a saddle-maker by trade.

The house was sold by the Moravian congregation in 1844 to Henry Rude for five hundred dollars.

NOTED SCULPTOR SPEAKS HERE

Lorado Taft Lectures Thursday Night

The Parents' and Teachers' Conference on Childhood and Youth is being held this year on May 21st and 22nd at Reynolds Memorial Auditorium. The subject of the conference is the child's need of the arts. Lorado Taft, noted sculptor, spoke Thursday night. Mr. Taft has made statues and monuments for many cities and states. One of his most interesting statues is the Fountain of Time on the west terminal of Chicago's midway. Few know that Taft himself, in artist's smock forms part of the procession in the rear of the Fountain, and three young girls in the foreground—"the spirit of youth peering forward and trying to outstrip the current of life"—have the features of Mr. Taft's daughters. It has been aptly said that Mr. Taft's work are "sermons in stone." There is a reverence, awe and ethereal beauty in his sculpture, which is "the soul of man laid bare."

Mr. Taft declared that the American people are especially unconscious of their inheritance of the past. The rushing life of America is apt to destroy any new talent.

He then reviewed the periods of history when art was at its zenith. France expressed a mass appreciation of art through the building of cathedrals.

"In the smug pride of our ignorance we call those times the "Dark Ages," he said, "How I wish that

(Continued On Page Four)

DR. CHANG LECTURES IN EXPANDED CHAPEL

DR. Y. Z. CHANG

PROGRAM FOR NEXT WEEK

Certificates will be presented to graduates of the business school on Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

On Thursday morning during the chapel service will come one of the most impressive features of the week. The seniors will transfer their caps and gowns to the juniors, who are to be next year's senior class.

Saturday will be Alumnae Day. There will be a meeting of the Alumnae Executive Board in the Campus Living Room of Alice Clewell Building at 11 o'clock. Meetings of the Reunion Classes will be held in Main Hall from 11 to 12 o'clock. These are to be followed by the meeting of the general Alumnae Association in the library. Alumnae luncheon is at one o'clock.

Senior Class Day Exercises and the presentation of Memorials will be on the Campus at 3 o'clock.

At 8:15 in Memorial Hall the Commencement Concert will be presented; "Creation" (Haydn), with orchestra and chorus under the direction of Dean Charles Vardell. Following this there will be the President's Reception in Main Hall.

On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock Dr. John R. Cunningham, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Winston-Salem, will preach the Baccalaureate Sermon at the Home Moravian Church.

At 5:30 there will be a buffet supper for seniors and their families at the Home of President and Mrs. Rondthaler.

Vespers on the campus at 7:00.

Monday at 11 o'clock Commencement.

ANNUAL RIDING MEET YESTERDAY

Cordelia Lowry Wins First Place

The annual spring riding meet was held at Anderson's Riding Academy on Thursday afternoon.

Cordelia Lowry, of Bedford, Virginia, won first place honors in Class A, displaying a fine exhibition to capture the laurels. Cramer Percival was awarded second place and third position went to Margaret Lunsford.

Emma Brown Grantham won first place in the beginners' division with Ethel Highsmith coming second. Eloise Sample was awarded third place.

Phin Horton, Jr., judged the meet.

Speaks on "Relation of China To World Civilization"

Dr. Y. Z. Chang, famous Chinese scholar spoke at Y. P. M. The subject of his speech was "The Relation of China to World Civilization."

China was known to the western world at a very early date. There is mention of it in the writings of Horace. Late Greek philosophers made mention of Chinese art.

Marco Polo after his return from China published an account of his travels. He admired the postal system. This combined with a hotel system was maintained by the government. Important news could be relayed from border to the capitol and government orders could be sent to all parts of the country very quickly. He remarked on the courtesy of the people. He mentioned the trade possibilities. Following him a number of Catholic priests went to China. But from the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries Europe lost track of China.

In the sixteenth century Spanish and Portuguese traders went to China. And late in the sixteenth century a Roman Catholic historian wrote a so called "History of China." It was translated into several languages. He described the wonderful country. There were charitable organizations created by

(Continued On Page Four)

JUNIOR CLASS GUESTS OF FRESHMEN

Honored at Picnic Supper

The Freshman Class entertained the Junior Class on Wednesday evening at 6:15 o'clock at the outdoor fireplace, where a delicious picnic supper was served.

Peggy Bowen of Winston-Salem is president of the Freshman Class and Ethel Highsmith, of Fayetteville, is president of the Junior Class.

Other guests present were Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler, Miss Grace Lawrence, Miss Katherine Riggan, A. T. Curlee, Junior Class Advisor, and Miss Elizabeth Lilly, Freshman Class Advisor.

SALEM ALUMNAE HONORED IN DURHAM

Mrs. Deryl Hart, formerly Mary Johnson, a graduate of Salem College, gave a lovely reception at her home in Durham on Thursday afternoon. Invited guests were the Salem alumnae in Durham and vicinity, friends of Salem, and high school girls interested in Salem. A program of music was presented as follows:

- Ballade in A Flat Chopin
- The Little White Donkey Wert
- Etude Heroique Leschetizky
- Wilda Mao Yingling
- Wie Viele Zeit Verlor Ich Wolf
- The China Figure Leoni
- We'll to the Woods and Mary Mills
- Etude: Ricordonza Liszt
- Bird-Song Palmgren
- Scherza in B Minor Chopin
- Virginia Thompson
- Allegro Fiocco
- Humoresque
- Tschaikowsky-Kreisler
- On Wings of Song
- Mendelssohn-Achron
- Moto Perpetuo Frank Bridge
- Margaret Schwarze

DINNER PARTY GIVEN AT ACADEMY WEDNESDAY

Speakers on Vocational Guidance Honored

The students of Salem Academy entertained on Wednesday evening at a dinner party for the speakers on Vocational Guidance who have spoken during the past semester on "Vocations Open to Women."

Each Wednesday evening a local woman outstanding in her vocation has discussed that field before an Academy group.

Dinner guests were Miss Carrie Lee Weaver, Y. W. C. A.; Miss Mamie Hegwood, journalism; Miss Ellen Marsh, laboratory; Miss Helena Hermance, social work; Miss Edith Kirkland, advertising; Miss Rosalie Wilson, Church work in the community; Miss Elizabeth Jerome, library; Mrs. Lois Carter Joyce, home-making; Miss Diana Dyer, community work; Miss Gertrude Dickhut, hospital training; Miss Elizabeth Ijames, Girl Scouting, and Mrs. Howard Rondthaler.

SENIOR NAMES AND ADDRESSES

We are going to miss our Senior friends, and we hope that they will visit and write to us often. We are publishing a list of their names and addresses:

- Mary Nelson Anderson, Mocksville, N. C.
- McArn Best, 224 S. Chester St. Goldsboro, N. C.
- Louise Blum, 1328 N. Liberty St., Winston-Salem, N. C.
- Agnes Brown, Davidson, N. C.
- Grace Carter, 2 46 S. Main St. Winston-Salem, N. C.
- Phyllis Clapp, 600 Stratford Rd., Winston-Salem, N. C.
- Mary Daniel, 404 Tarboro St., Rocky Mount, N. C.
- Virginia Garner, 719 Oak St., Winston-Salem, N. C.
- Amanda Hallman, 1007 Hutton St. Winston-Salem, N. C.
- Melrose Hendrix, 1700 W. First St., Winston-Salem, N. C.
- Marianna Hooks, 115 Whitehead Ave., Wilson, N. C.
- Meta Hutchison, 1909 Beach St., Winston-Salem, N. C.
- Ruth Kuykendall, 2333 Rosewood Ave., Winston-Salem, N. C.
- Dorothy Lashmit, 615 Holly Ave., (Continued On Page Three)