POLITICAL ENTHUSIASM

Were you one of the people that became infected with enthusiasm during the presidential campaign? This was as much a hot bed of politics as the Democratic or Republican Headquarters themselves. Everyone was either strongly for Roosevelt or Landon, and it was not an unusual thing to see girls gathered in a room, hotly discussing the candidates, their good and bad points. And hot discussions they were too, for such things as, "He's just wrecking the country, that's all!" and "He's absolutely right on that point!" could be heard. Why, anyone listening in would think we were seasoned politicians that knew everything that was happening.

Some of us almost came to a parting of the ways if anyone disagreed about our favorite man. Many Roosevelt buttons and Landon sunflowers were in evidence. Some of the girls even went so far as to decorate their letters with phrases such as "Vote for Roosevelt," and "We want the New Deal Again." Many of us were heard saying "I think Landon is wonderful," and "Isn't Roosevelt the sweetest man you've ever seen!"

And as for the night of the election, the whole school gave up everything else to listen to returns. And whenever there was a big majority for Roosevelt, loud were the lamentations, or the cheers.

THE COLLEGIATE REVIEW

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

The conduct course now being offered at the University of West Virginia is not intended to teach self-control. It has been designed to show students the "hows" of studying, making a budget, and spending leisure time.

Charles S. Hendershot, a law student at Ohio State University, expects to live in a sixteen-foot trailer with his wife and dog for the next three years.

Indiana University students drink the cleanest milk in that state, says Doctor Clarence E. May, of the chemistry department, who tests milk from each of the 31 Bloomington dairies every month.

Claude A. Watson, candidate for the vice-presidency of the Prohibition ticket and a former student at Alma College, will speak in the college chapel there later this month.

President Roosevelt has proclaimed the week beginning November 9 as American Education Week.

San Jose State College is now sending out life-time athletic passes to graduates who while students, proved their high quality in the field of sports.

Henry Ford the second, grandson of the automobile manufacturer, is now a freshman at Yale.

The registrar at the University of Oklahoma proved statistically that students with the thinnest wallets get the most "A's" when two state legislators complained that the $3 "flunking fee" is a hardship on poor students.

Activities of Associated Students of the University of California last year showed a net profit of $159,872.02.

Fifty University of Toledo women have signed up to play hockey. The season will end on November 24, when the two best intramural teams will meet in the "Army-Navy" game.

Courses in playing house, swinging, climbing, riding kiddie-kars, and blockbuilding are offered in the University of New Mexico's emergency nursery class this fall.

STUDENT PERSONALITIES

MARY LOUISE HAYWOOD

The first weeks of school we missed the fair-haired, blue-eyed girl with the sweet ready smile. Since Mary Louise is one of our most popular and influential Day Students, all of Salem were glad to see her roaming the campus once more. Since it would be impossible to enumerate all the honors this charming Miss has received, you shall be reminded of those received in the last two years. Her junior year she was elected Treasurer of the Student Body, stung by the Scorpions and belonged to the Salem Staff. This year, her Senior year, she is Vice-President of the Student Body and an associate editor on the Salem Staff. Being an all-round friendly girl with an attractive personality, intelligence and wit, her friends will tell you, "Mary Louise is grand" which is indeed a compliment.

KAMPUS KAT

The Carolina-State game certainly was the drawing card for you Salemmites last week-end. Mouse Page, Ruth Doershuck, and Meredith arrived a little late, but it seems that they made up for lost time at the dance that nite.

Cordelia Lowrey was there, complete with lorgnettes. Maybe they helped her keep a keener eye on her date.

Julia Preston, Betty Bahnsen, Mary Turner Willis, and Mary Thomas were also among those present and returned with a life-sized jeep, as a reminder of the trip. Are you feeding him orchids, girls, to make him say that Carolina will beat Duke?

Betsy Montcastle took room-mate Sanford home with her for the week-end. Did you get any more proposals in German, Betty?

A certain local Jenkins is really quite attentive to Carolyn Radcliffe this year.

Betsy Fearing, Tootie Powell, and Lou Freeman drove over to see the dress parade. Was there a cousin in the crowd?

The cadets also attracted Helen McArthur, or did you go in a Jersey car just for the ride?

Too bad you couldn't get to the parade, Turnage, but you should worry! You saw him Saturday nite.

Sara Harrison went home for the week-end. Did Scotty receive you with open arms?

Cecilia McKeithan and Sara Pinkston kicked up their heels with the Kiwanians at a dance in Greensboro.

Who was your special from Saturday nite, Peggy Lowen? Not Charlie again!

Desperate Dupey spent the week-end with Cramer Percival in Fayetteville. Was "boy" there?

Be careful about your business, Be careful in all you do. You can't run away, you can't hide away, The Kampus Kat is watching you.

—Los Angeles Junior Collegian.
Question: What would you suggest as an invention for the betterment of civilization?

- Answers—
1. An invention with a half bell on it, so it only wakes up one person at a time.
2. Lubricated peanut butter so that it doesn't stick to the roof of your mouth.
3. A revolving fish bowl for tired fish.
4. Text books without print for those who can't read
—Daily Bruin.

AT RANDOM

Give me my Romeo; and when he shall die,
Take him and cut him out in little stars,
And he will make the face of heaven so fine
That all the world will be in love with night.
Romeo and Juliet.

A thing of beauty is a joy forever:
Its loveliness increases, it will never
Pass into nothingness; but still will keep
A bower quiet for us, and a sleep
Full of dreams and health and quiet breathing.
From Keats "Endymion."

MAPLES AFTER FROST

This morning each tall maple is
A Scottish Highland lad
All the green leaves turned by frost
To vivid tartan plaid.

Scarf and cap and pleated kilts;
Boughs, bare at the knees —
Never was a clan so proud
As this, called Maple trees.

See the marching down the street,
Brief, bright skirts aswirl!
Listen! What a sweet, wild tune
Their windy bagpipes skirl!

SALEM ACADEMY ANNOUNCES FIRST HONOR ROLL

At the chapel period yesterday morning at Salem Academy the academic honor roll for the first six weeks' period was announced by Miss Mary Weaver, principal. Before reading the list of girls attaining this standard, Miss Weaver reported a slight change in the average to determine honor roll hereafter, but explained that the faculty voted not to have the new ruling go into effect until the end of the next period since no previous announcement had been made. For this reason, girls making honor roll during the initial period according to the former regulation are designated as "second honor roll," whereas those who attained the higher academic rating are considered "first honor roll." Hereafter only one list will be announced according to the new basis of determining the students who are doing outstandingly good academic work.

Those making first honor roll — Eleanor Amos, High Point; Margaret Courtney, Winston-Salem; Harriet Cunningham, Winston-Salem; Caroline Gray, Winston-Salem; Cynthia Grimsley, Winston-Salem; Mary McDevitt, Charlotte; Dorothy Ann Myers, Winston-Salem; Ann Pritchett, Winston-Salem; Leonore Rice, Lancaster S. C.; Anna Bitting Whitaker, Winston-Salem; Lois Wiley, Troy, Ala.; Eleanor Wright, Baltimore, Md.

Those making second honor roll — Cordelia Earle, Los Angeles, Calif.; Marian Johnson, Winston-Salem; Mary Marshall Jones, Charlotte; Sarah McCanless, South Boston, Va.; Jacqueline Miller, Greensboro; Betsy O'Brien, Winston-Salem; Mary Ann Paschal, Winston-Salem; Marjorie Peterson, Norfolk, Va.; Hannah Rancke, Rockingham; Jacqueline Ray, Oxford; Barbara Shoemaker, Middletown, Ohio; Doris Stroupe, High Point; Ruth Templeman, Winston-Salem; Betty Thomas, Statesville, Margaret Vardell, Winston-Salem; Rose Willingham, Macon, Ga.

Did you know that every student seeking entrance to any college or university in Argentina is required to know how to dance the tango?

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB PARTY

Grinning, leering pumpkin faces glowed in the darkness surrounding the practice house, and smiled a greeting to the guests of the Home Economics Club. Inside the house, gay autumn leaves, black cats, pumpkins and a charming ghost provided a realistic atmosphere of Halloween.

Lessons were forgotten as games that everyone entered into and enjoyed were played with high spirits. Mrs. Miennung told a fascinating ghost story in an unusual manner; the listeners represented a character in the story and as their character was named in the story, they made a representative sound of that character. Much fun was had by everyone when they gathered around the crackling open fire and popped pop-corn.

A report of the interesting programs of the future was given by Key Council, Chairman of the Program Committee. At the November meeting of the club, Miss Rights, head of the Fine Arts Department at Duke University will speak of the Art Museums of the United States. This is an illustrated lecture. At the January meeting of the Club, Mrs. Mildred Ball will speak using the subject, "Crafts." Then in February, the subject will be "Etiquette," the speaker to be chosen later. In March there will be a demonstration of "Fancy Catering." The April meeting will be turned over to a Social Evening. The last meeting of the club will be in May with a speaker from Columbia University.

Pumpkin tarts with raisin faces, peanuts, and apple cider, were served later in the evening. Brightly colored autumn leaves were used to decorate the plates of delicious refreshments.

The new students majoring in Home Economics were invited to join the club.

Donald Duck, a graduate of the University of Arizona, has enrolled in Indiana University School of Law. Among other famous names in the enrollment list are two Robert Taylors, Joe E. Brown, and Ben Eastman.

Young thing: "Not only has he broken my heart and wrecked my life, but he's ruined my entire evening."
