

WORLD TRAVELER PRESENTS LECTURE

Mr. Julien Bryan, unusual combination of traveler and photographer, visited Salem's campus on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. In the first day of his visit he played tennis, went to a tea at the Academy, and visited the psychology class. All of us were not invited to these affairs, but we could meet him through his pictures and his address in the evening.

Mr. Bryan showed us human Russia in his group of pictures known as "Russia Reborn." He had snapped the real everyday life of Russia in an interesting and appealing manner. With his personal accompanying comments he made us realize that Russians are people with much the same interests as ours. Their work and play is very similar to ours; they are not strange creatures who live like machines until the starve. Because of false publicity and antiquated, prejudiced ideas we had a warped impression of Russia and its people; but Mr. Bryan led us to question our old ideas and to begin to discard them. We saw Russian babies in a modern nursery, an experiment with children in their operation of a railway line, a present-day factory and grain field, a marionette show and several folk dances, the production of a Russian movie, a crowd at the beach, and the castles of the ancient nobility. According to Mr. Bryan's reports Russia resembles America far more than others of the well-known European countries. Russia is really no more communistic than we, except that there is not the great class distinction there that we have; there the richest people are the intelligent people who have their money and prestige by actual work or ability.

The rare delight found in Mr. Bryan's informative presence here with us has awakened in us a far greater interest in Russia than we have had before. By his natural style he has created here a desire for more knowledge about modern Russia. He has skilfully given us the things about that country that we would really like to know — not philosophic facts, but the human details that appeal to our real interest. How soon can he come back?

DR. P. A. YODER SPEAKS TO SALEM HYGIENE CLASS

Dr. P. A. Yoder, Superintendent of the Forsyth Tuberculosis Hospital, delivered two lectures this week to the members of the Hygiene Class. Dr. Yoder is an outstanding authority on tuberculosis and it is an unusual opportunity that is given to the students at Salem.

Dr. Yoder discussed the history, causes, spread and treatment of the disease. He illustrated his talks with pictures and answered many questions.

Mrs. Higgins, instructor in Hygiene, states that in view of the many cases of tuberculosis among young people today that she believes that a thorough discussion of the subject is very important for every college student.

FASHION SHOW TO BE SPONSORED

Thursday night, the 27th, at 8:30, the Home Economics Club will sponsor a Fashion show of clothing made in the sewing department this year. All types of wearing apparel such as glamorous evening gowns, snappy sports and street frocks and swanky coats, will be modeled by the Home Economics students. The show is under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Meinung and Mrs. Mildred Ball.

A SALEMITE HAS TEA WITH MR. JULIEN BRYAN

"Late to his own party!" I murmured, exasperated, while waiting for Julien Bryan to arrive at the tea given at the Academy Tuesday afternoon in his honor. We stood about rather ill at ease, pawing the ground first with one foot and then with the other, until Dr. Ancombe after the manner of a court page announced "Put on your best blushes, girls! He's coming!"

He came—wearing a brown checked suit and a red neck-tie, ducking his head just a little when he walked. I was glad he did not apologize for being late — all of us knew he had been playing tennis. Suddenly he looked at us as we stood in a circle about him and grinned:

"If you weren't so dressed up we could sit down."

"Oh, we're not a bit dressed up," we said; and we sat down on the ground, regardless of our best dresses (we really were dressed up) and white gloves. He talked about war, about Russia, about Hearst papers; and he was so interested in these things that all of us who were listening could not help being interested in them, too.

In a few minutes people were leaving. Fearing to miss a word, we stumbled away backward, watching him as long as we could.

ANNA WITHERS GIVES ORGAN RECITAL

The fifth and last graduating recital of the year was given May 10, by Miss Anna Elizabeth Withers, organist, in Memorial Hall. A large audience attended the recital.

Miss Withers, at present the organist at Calvary Moravian Church, has attained merited recognition for her outstanding musical ability. She played her difficult program with great ease, skill, and mastery.

Miss Withers was assisted by Miss Ann Nisbet, harpist, who delighted the audience with her pleasing, artistic interpretation of her selections.

Ushers were Miss Sara Stevens of Fayetteville; Miss Dorothy Blair of Albemarle, Misses Georgia Goodson and Betty Withers of Winston-Salem.

LATIN CLUB PICNIC RAINED IN

Friday afternoon, May fourteenth, the Alpha Iota Phi had its annual picnic at the beautiful home of Laura Bland, recently elected president of the group. At three fifteen twenty members of the club, dressed for action, left school after each had contributed her share to the lunch baskets. The recreation room proved to be the most popular spot and the traditional pigs-in-blankets the most delicious item on the menu (with barbecue running a close second). The Latin Club picnic has been an annual event of the club since ten years ago. This will close the activities of the club for this year.

PROF. ROY J. CAMPBELL ATTENDS SCIENCE MEETING

Professor Roy J. Campbell, Assistant Professor of Science, attended the meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Science at Catawba College on last Friday. He reports an interesting and profitable meeting.

Professor Campbell has been appointed to the Committee on Education of the Academy. This committee deals with the teaching of scientific subjects in preparatory schools.

College Calendar May 16-22

May 16—3:00
Whit Sunday love feast, Home Moravian Church.
May 18—4:00
A. A. U. W. entertaining Senior class at tea.
8:00 P. M.
Civic Lecture Course, Greensboro, Edward W. Weeks.
May 19—1:00 P. M.
All town Seniors for lunch in College dining room.
1:30 P. M.
Special Senior meeting in President's house.
May 21—5:00
All members of College Faculty invited to Arden Farm for supper.
May 22—3:00
Recital for Junior music pupils Memorial Hall.

SPORT SLANTS

Bryan Seen on Tennis Courts

If any of you happened to be down on the tennis courts Tuesday afternoon, you saw, no doubt, that Mr. Julien Bryan can play tennis almost as well as he can take pictures. He with Meade Willis as partner, gave Mr. Downs and Mr. Holder some stiff opposition. We had an idea that said Mr. Downs and Mr. Holder had something up their sleeves since they have been practicing their tennis most every afternoon.

Undoubtedly they were preparing for Mr. Bryan.

The young lady tennis fans of Salem also have been keeping the courts busy — practicing their forearms, backhand and service strokes as well as getting a delightful suntan — or is it freckles?

The semi-finals of the tennis tournament will be played in the near future. We could predict, perhaps, the names of those who will reach the finals, but maybe we will be surprised.

News flash! The swimming pool has been washed and scrubbed to a shiny white and filled with wonderful freezing water. Now, if the sun will shine bright to make the air warmer to make the water warmer, maybe we can go swimming.

A few young hopefuls have been seen lugging their golf clubs down on the hockey field and getting warmed up on their swings. Ask Tweak Sample how many blisters she wore on her hands in about ten minutes time.

Golfing is fun when one doesn't have blisters and doesn't have to caddy!

BOTANY CLASS VISITS IRIS GARDENS

On Tuesday afternoon, the Botany class under the direction of Mrs. Charles H. Higgins visited the iris gardens in the park in the Buena Vista section. The plants are in full bloom and many unusual varieties were noted. About seventy-five varieties are in bloom.

This trip is the third of a series taken by the Botany class this spring. The first garden visited was that of Dr. Carrick in High Point. Dr. Carrick is conducting work on the hybridization of daffodils. The students were able to get first hand information on this interesting phase of botany as well to observe Dr. Carrick's beautiful gardens with the 150 varieties of daffodils.

The second trip was made possible by the local garden clubs who kindly allowed the members of the class to visit six of the outstanding local gardens.

KATHERINE JANE HANES CLUB HOLDS MEETING WEDNESDAY

Wednesday night, May 5, the Katherine Jane Hanes Club held a meeting at seven in the Home management House. There was a large number present.

The President Layle Tucker, called on the two delegates to report on the State Home Economics convention which they attended in Durham, April 23 and 24th. Virginia Breakell told about the meetings on Friday, while Elizabeth Piper gave a report of the Saturday meeting.

After the reports, election of officers was held. The following were elected: President, Charlotte King; Vice-President, Pauline Daniels; Secretary, Mary Thomas; Treasurer, Virginia Breakell; Reporter, Elizabeth Piper.

SALEM A YEAR AGO

REMEMBER?

It is quite evident that in the spring the fancies of third floor girls turn to music. Since Easter the floor has been a burst of music and dancing. The music, it was soon discovered, originates from David Laud's victoria and Peggie Warren records, two of a kind, so far, hit No. 1 is definitely "Sugar Blues" but "Gloomy Sunday" is not far behind.

Last week-end Glen Griffin, Ethel Highsmith, Tempe Green and Ada Suggs Harvey went to Chapel Hill.

Mary Charlotte Nelme, Annette Smith, Emily Richardson, Alice Richie, Mary Thomas, Mary Turner Willis, Julia Preston, Edith McLean, Emma Brown Grantham and John Fulton went to Reidsville to spend the day with Frances Watlington last Sunday.

At the Spinners' Ball, Saturday night, we little spinners did some stepping with local and non-local young bachelors. Tall, short, peroxide blond bachelors (another irresistible Trotman, Eh Mac?). Some of us even requested "Lost" in keeping with our mood, but soon we "found" ourselves dancing with a Siewers, a Woods (pie face), or a Mott (lucky guys).

reel dope

CAROLINA THEATRE

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday — "A Star is Born." Janet Gaynor, Fredric March in an all-technicolor picture about Hollywood. Highly recommended by your Special Salemite reader of Movie Magazines and "Life."

Monday and Tuesday — "Quality Street."

Katherine Hepburn, Franchot Tone From Sir James Barrie's famous play.

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday — "Shall We Dance?" Need we say with Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire? Certainly it is unnecessary to say "Shall we go?"

STATE THEATRE

Friday, and Saturday — "The Great O'Malley" Pat O'Brien and Sybil Jason.

Monday and Tuesday — "Mummy's Boy" Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey.

Wednesday and Thursday — "Three Men on a Horse" Frank McHugh, Joan Blondell.

Friday and Saturday — "Charlie Chan at the Olympics" Warner Oland, Katherine DeMille

STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONFERENCE

The past week-end from the seventh to the ninth of May, the Student Volunteers of North Carolina held a conference at the First Presbyterian Church in Winston-Salem.

Miss Anne Faw, the traveling secretary of the South Atlantic Region of the Student Volunteer Movement and a graduate of Greensboro College, spoke to the student body in chapel Thursday and Friday mornings at which times she explained the purposes of the organization and also explained that the movement of the Student Volunteers is international, interracial, interdenominational, and missionary.

The conference began Friday afternoon with the registration of all the delegates. Following the registration there were meetings of council members and speakers, a song service, and an opening worship service which lasted the remainder of the afternoon. Friday night the Salem Volunteer group presented the play "How the Light Came" and three delegates — Me-Murray Richey, Rufus Morrow, and Joe Belton — gave bold reviews at the evening meeting.

Saturday morning Rev. Houston Paterson, who is a missionary of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Presbyterian Church, gave an address; and the same morning worship was held by Dr. John R. Cunningham, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Winston-Salem. After the morning meeting, the delegates divided into Seminars and continued the conference Saturday afternoon. Saturday evening the delegates went out to Sunny Acres near Winston-Salem for a picnic and their evening session. Here there was an address by the main speaker, Rev. Houston Paterson, and the installation of the New Council.

Sunday morning following the devotional service led by Frank Brown of Davidson College, who is the present president of the North Carolina Student Volunteer Movement, Miss Marjorie Glenn, the new president for the ensuing year, introduced the speaker of the morning meeting — Dr. Sherwood Eddy. Dr. Eddy was at one time a student volunteer and he has served in India in the foreign mission. He is also an internationally famous author and lecturer and an outstanding leader in peace movements, both national and international. After Dr. Eddy's address there was a closing consecration service and a communion service led by Rev. Peterson.

The students of Salem College who attended the conference as delegates were Helen Savage, Dorothy Thompson, Louise Jackson, Elizabeth Hendrix, Emma Brown Grantham, Virginia Mc Ninny, and June Watson. Mary Hart was in charge of the entire conference at which eight foreign countries and twelve colleges in North Carolina were represented.

PROF. HIGGINS TO DELIVER COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Professor Charles H. Higgins, Head of the Department of Science, is to deliver the Commencement Address at Pinnacle High School on Monday night, May the seventeenth. His subject will be "Hunger and Thirst."

PRINTERS ENTERTAIN SALEMITE STAFF

Printers have the bright idea that reporters can't live on ink, ads, and paper alone but need food too. The Sun Printing Company has asked all the girls who have been members of the Salemite business and editorial staffs for two or more years to the annual printers' dinner at six-thirty, Monday evening, May 17. This special food edition will be issued at the K. and W. Restaurant, so come and let's fill up something besides a paper.