

I. R. S. Dance Saturday

To polish off the round of week-end festivities, the I. R. S. is entertaining at a dance in honor of the new students on Saturday night from 8:30 to 12:00.

The decorations suggest the idea of a lawn party with a grape arbor carrying out the color scheme of purple and green. Louisa Sloan was chairman of decorations. Serving with her on the committee are: Reece Thomas, Betty Sanford, Agnes Lee Carmichael and Jo Pope. Other committees are:

Music—Mary Ann Paschal, Chairman; Martha Rawlings.

Invitation—Nell Kerns, chairman; Martha Bowman.

Refreshment—Mildred Kelly, chairman; Mary Alice King.

The following girls and their escorts will participate in the figure during intermission:

Miss Frances Klutz, Mr. Ellis Wood Fisher, Salisbury, N. C.; Miss Martha Rawlings, Robert Froeber, Winston-Salem; Miss Josephine Pope, Lloyd Hollingsworth, Wilmington, N. C.; Miss Agnes Lee Carmichael, Mr. Edgar Powers, Bennettsville, S. C.; Miss Patty McNeely, Mr. Bill Alexander, Mooresville, N. C.; Miss Reece Thomas, Mr. Frank Williams, Rocky Mount, N. C.; Miss Agnes Colcord, Mr. Ted Leinbach, Winston-Salem; Miss Elizabeth Hendrick, Mr. Tom, Frye, Decatur, Ga.; Miss Louisa Sloan, Mr. Huber Hanes, Winston-Salem; Miss Elizabeth Tuten, Mr. Tommy Gilliam, Statesville, N. C.; Miss Nell Kerns, Mr. Steve Forrest, Winston-Salem; Miss Mildred Kelly, Mr. Gene Wilson, Winston-Salem; Miss Mary Ann Paschal, Mr. "Shorty" Parrish, Winston-Salem; Miss Martha Bowman, Mr. Jim McCallum, Lumberton, N. ## SOPHOMORES DOWN FRESHMEN

Thursday afternoon at 4:30 two fairly evenly-matched hockey teams lined up on the hockey field to test their strength. The Sophomores, arrayed in purple and white and having one year of experience behind them, stood facing the stalwart line of yellow and black clad Freshmen. From the time of the first bully until the sound of the final whistle these two teams went from one end of the field to the other in close contest. During the first half the center forward of the Sophomores, Louise Bralower, managed to push over the first, last, and winning score in the game. Both teams should be complimented for their fine work and especially E. Baynes, Johnston, and Bonboun for the the Sophomores and Ewing, Bowen, Walker, and Sprunt for the freshmen, and to the goalies, Thomas and Whittier go equal honors.

OFFICERS OF SALEM'S FRESHMAN CLASS

CANDLE TEA

Each year a candle tea is held in the historic Brother's House across the street from Salem College. This year it was held on Friday, November 10. After a small silver offering the guests are greeted by colonial-costumed ladies. Into the old-fashioned kitchen, with built-in oven and large blocks of stone for walls and floor, the guests are led. Moravian coffee cake and coffee in large mugs especially delicious in this proper setting. Next, everyone goes to an adjoining room to watch Miss Butner make real wax candles, by hand. It is a very interesting and a unique process, seemingly difficult, and one wonders how Miss Butner has the patience to make the thousands of candles which she turns out each year for the Christmas season.

Down many steps into the cool depths of a very low cellar the guests

DEAR OCTOPUS

All Salemites are eagerly looking forward to the main dramatic production of the year, a three-act play, "Dear Octopus," to be presented by the Pierrette Players, plus men, on December 8, in the Old Chapel.

"Dear Octopus" has for its setting, North England but of course it has been Americanized. The story is built around the celebration of the Golden Wedding Anniversary of an old couple. The name, "Dear Octopus," is cleverly brought forth by the main idea of the play: the family ties, or tentacles, reach out and draw in all the members of the family for the anniversary celebration.

It is interesting to note that our dramatic genius, Elizabeth Trotman, is playing the role which she played in a summer theatre in the north this past summer. Kitty McKoy and Mary Lou Moore appear as small children. With the aid of real men, the play should be one of the best the Pierrettes have presented.

The cast is as follows:

The old couple:
Charles Randolph—Perry Harmon
Dora Randolph—Elizabeth Trotman.

Their children:
Hilda Randolph—Dicky Disque
Margery R. Harvey—
Katharine King.

Cynthia Randolph—Margaret Ray
Nicholas Randolph — Frank Trotman.

Their grandchildren:
Hugh Randolph—Emory Barber
"Flouney" Harvey—Mary Lou Moore

"Bill" Harvey—Charles Vance
"Serap" Kenton—Kitty McKoy
Edna Randolph—Eleanor Betscher
Kenneth Harvey—Clay Shields
Belle Schlessinger—Jackie Ray
Grace Fenning—Lee Rice
Nanny—Barbara Plumer
Gertrude—Gladys Blackwood.

The play is under the direction of Mrs. Bruce Williams. The stage and property managers have not yet been chosen.

Salem to Send Group to Meet

Three Salem seniors in the education department — Margaret Morrison, Sarah Burrell, and Sara Harrison — and Noble R. McEwen, professor of education, will go to Durham next Wednesday to attend a meeting at Duke University of the State Federation of the Future Teachers of America.

The entire delegation will be guests of the university at a luncheon. A conducted tour of the campus and moving pictures are also on the program.

The day's program will include reports from the delegates from local chapters, the formulation of plans for the coming year, and discussion of expansion of the federation into institutions where chapters have not been organized.

Delegates are expected from Atlantic Christian College, East Caro-

TREE PLANTING

The annual tree-planting service at Salem was held Thursday morning at chapel. After the usual announcements, the classes marched in order out of Memorial Hall, the seniors in their caps and gowns leading the way. The marshalls led the classes to the Lizora Fortune Hanes Home Management House, where the ivy was planted. Agnes Lee Carmichael, president of the Senior Class, pointed out how the newly-planted ivy represented the past, present, and future of the class of 1940, and an appropriate and thoughtful response was given by Dr. Howard Rondthaler, Salem's president.

After the ivy was planted, the marshalls again led the way this time to a lovely spot behind Louisa Wilson Bitting Building. There the small magnolia tree, only the third of its kind on the campus, was planted. The seniors sang a song special-

Big Plans Are On Foot

Winston-Salem is preparing to celebrate Armistice Day this year in a big way. The plans for the day include a parade at 10:30, a football game between Carolina and Davidson, at 2:00 and a dance at the "Smokehouse" tomorrow night. Sponsoring this gala occasion are girls from towns of the piedmont and northwestern section of North Carolina appointed by their respective mayors. From Winston-Salem, Mayor James R. Fain has appointed Bettie Sprunt to lead the Davidson sponsors and Ann Hanes to lead the Carolina sponsors.

The young ladies with their escorts will arrive in Winston-Salem Saturday morning and begin their duties in the parade at 10:30. The parade will feature the Carolina and Davidson Bands as well as the loyal American Legion and Reynolds High School band. At the game the sponsors will be divided and seated in special boxes arranged on each side of the field. Saturday night following the game the sponsors and their escorts will be guests at the Carolina-Davidson Gridiron Ball to be held at the Forest Hills Smokehouse. Music for the dance will be furnished by Charlie Wood and his University of North Carolina Orchestra. A feature of the dance will be a selection of the Queen from one of the sponsors.

Down Salem College way the air is electric with excitement and thrills because the college girls are expecting a gala week-end of it, too. The campus is going to be flooded with handsome young swains from both Carolina and Davidson if all the rumors that are being whispered come true. The only complaints that can be heard are two: One, "which team shall I pull for, both are such grand schools," and second, "Are there going to be any girl stags at the dance?" For the I. R. S. Council is planning the biggest dance of the year to celebrate the occasion. The music is being furnished by Paul Brigman and his orchestra from High Point, and there are elaborate plans for the decoration of the gym. There are thirty-two guests expected in the dormitory—not including the returning alumnae — who seem to be taking this for Salem's Homecoming week-end. There is no doubt about it, it is going to be a time — rain, shine, or snow.

JUNIOR-SENIOR GAME OPENS SEASON

The Salem hockey season got under way November 6, with the first game being won by the juniors. They defeated the seniors 2-1. The game was an especially clean one with, however, little teamwork because of lack of practice.

Pitzer for the seniors, scored first near the end of the first half, and Emerson followed her with a score for the juniors before the half whistle sounded. The only goal made in the second half was made by L. Lanning of the juniors.

The line ups were:

Seniors	Pos.	Juniors
Gillespie	R. W.	Patterson
Rogers	R. I.	Forrest
Pitzer	C. F.	McGehee
V. Lanning	L. I.	L. Lanning
Angelo	L. W.	McKoy
Kale	R. H.	Glenn
Hendrick	R. F.	McNeely
Kirk	C. H.	Emerson
Wilson	L. H.	Holbrook
