

Ath-a-letic Sal

S. O. S.! S. O. S.! Calling all students and teachers to the aid of one Mr. McEwen! Said teacher has lost his dearly-beloved badminton racket and without such cannot begin practice when the badminton season opens after exams. Surely we can't let this happen! Let's search our rooms. Maybe one of us carried it off by mistake.

Sledding seems to be the sport right now, and the spills and tumbles add all the more to the fun. Our thanks to the city for blocking off the street for us and to the fifteen or twenty little boys for lending the sleds.

It may be a little late to be making New Year's resolutions now, but anyway, here are a few every Phy. Ed. student should make and KEEP. I resolve:

- to be on time to all my Phys. Ed. classes; so we can get through on time.
- to go to afternoon practices at least three times a week.
- to treat Phys. Ed. as all other classes.
- to find out more about the work of the Athletic Association and Council.
- to take an interest in my class teams and help them all I can.
- Not to gripe about tests, classes, and games.

NEW FACES AT PRACTICE

At long last basketball has become a sport for the masses — Thanks to a plan made by the managers of the Major Sports and the heads of the Phy. Ed. department. The plan calls for three separate practice periods: One at 2 o'clock on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for beginners; another at 4 o'clock on Mondays through Fridays for intermediates; and still another at 5 o'clock Mondays through Fridays for advanced players. This system provides a chance for all to practice with their own group thereby eliminating all chances for embarrassment. And according to the number at each practice, it seems that fear of embarrassment has previously detained quite a few.

The regular class games will begin as soon after exams as possible. As usual, there will be two tournaments — an A tournament for the advanced players and a B tournament for the not-quite-so-advanced. These games are loads of fun; and if you'd like to take part in them, now's the time to take advantage of the practice periods.

CAROLINA - V. P. I.

Thursday night at Reynolds Gym the beautiful boys from Carolina won a 46-25 victory over the "not quite so beautiful" boys from V.P.I. There was a large attendance from Salem students in spite of the rain!

Jackie's agents have another road show in mind for and has spent a lot of his spare traveled about with his orchestra next season, but before that happens he is coming on a southern tour with his orchestra. "If I'm within a hundred miles I'll fly over to get you lil gals to come hear the band" —and with that generous remark he had to go entertain the rest of the people in the audience awhile.

Stage celebrities lose some of their glamour when you talk with them, but it's rather nice to find they're pretty real people. Jackie was a typical school boy, but — those circles under his eyes that even the grease paint couldn't cover up showed that he'd been to too many dances for one so young!
