

Ath-a-letic Sal

...Thoes of us who have worn those woolen purple shirts for four, three two or even one year welcome the arrival of the green pinneys. Any of you who have avoided practice because of fear of a heat stroke from the hot shirts, can throw away that fear now and come down we'll guarantee those cool pinneys to prevent any kind of stroke except maybe luck.

Maybe the publicity Bralower got from her wild ride a few weeks ago has also publicized the riding groups, because the members of those who are planning to ride this term has been greatly increased. That's the spirit! We wish you success "on the bumpy road to fun."

Here's hoping the interest in Badminton will continue until and through the tournament. It should begin very soon now, so you'd better get that racquet to swinging and the bird to singing (oh, a rhyme!).

THE GAME OF GOLF

By Charles Evans, Jr.
Former U. S. Amateur Champion and National open champion

It gives me much pleasure to be able to write for college golfers.

I am glad to urge more college people to play golf because of the added sunshine and fresh air they will enjoy. I know that an increase in interest and participation in golf in the colleges will bring much happiness and health to collegians. When I think of the enjoyment and comfort I have received from golf, I can heartily congratulate the college boys and girls who have determined to play it themselves.

The college girl who expects to succeed at any sport must not be practice and then more practice. be practice a ndthen more practice. As a matter of fact, the earlier on begins to play golf the better, and then after the beginning it is practice, practice, practice.

If one finds himself physically and mentally inclined towards golf, he will be rejoiced to find that his choice has given him a life-long sport, a game to be enjoyed from youth to old age.

To those who have never played the game, I would say, begin now. Lay at once a solid foundation for future health and enjoyment, for golf insures exercise in the open

Two bachelor girls were exchanging confidences just before Christmas. One said to the other: "Sis, would a long stocking hold all you want for Christmas?"

"No," said the other, "but a pair of socks would."
