

LIBRARY CONTEST WINNERS ANNOUNCED

BRALOWER PRESIDENT OF FRENCH CLUB

On Friday, April 29, Louise Bralower of New York City was elected president of Le Cercle Francais for 1941-42.

Babe, as she is better known, is a rising senior, has been outstanding in French Club activities. She took the title role in the French play "La Farce de Maitre Pierre Patilin." She was responsible for the organization of the French conversation hour every Monday night. The French column of the "Salemite" has been edited by Babe this year.

However, Babe does not limit her linguistic aptitude to French but takes part in the German and Latin clubs. She is outstanding in both academic and extra-curricular activities. She will be Sports editor of the "Salemite" for 1941-42, and Council member of the Student Government Association. She has been on the Athletic Council for three successive years; she has been a member of both the basketball and hockey varsity teams.

Other officers elected for next year were: Elizabeth Read, Secretary and Treasurer; Nancy McClung, editor of the French column.

TEACHERS COLLEGE CONCERT

On Thursday evening, May 15, at 8:15 o'clock, the Deep River Boys will appear in Fries Auditorium at the Winston-Salem Teachers College. General admission is 50c; reserved seats are 75c.

These five Negroes "exponents of the classics, spirituals and jive" got their start some years ago at Hampton Institute in Virginia. They sang as quintet to pay their way through college. Today they sing twice weekly over the National Broadcasting Company.

Edward Ware, George Lawson, Vernon Gardner, Harry Douglas, Charles Ford are the personnel.

BECKY NIFONG'S REGITAL MONDAY

Bebecca Nifong, soprano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Nifong, Winston-Salem, will be presented by the School of Music in a joint graduating recital with Clara Pou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Pou of Winston-Salem on Monday evening, May 12th, at 8:30 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

Becky is the pupil of Mr. Clifford Bair, head of the Voice Department of Salem College. During her years of study with him she has appeared in a number of outside programs, including a Christmas cantata in Asheboro in which she was guest soprano soloist and soprano soloist at Reynolds Presbyterian Church. While a student at Salem Academy she appeared in several Gilbert and Sullivan operettas in which she sang leading roles. In 1934 she won first place in voice in the N. C. State Music contest under the auspices of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Clara is a student of Dean Charles G. Vardell, Jr. She is a member of the faculty of Sedge Garden School, where she has taught piano for some time. Miss Pou is also an organist, and has appeared in several of the local churches.

Becky's numbers will include selections from Schubert, Brahms, Marx, Handel, and she will sing an aria from Carmen by Bizet. Miss Virginia Thompson will be her accompanist.

Clara will play a program including the works of Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, MacDowell, Pangren and H. H. A. Beach. Her concluding number will be the allegro from the Concerto in E flat major, by Mozart. Dean Vardell will accompany her at a second piano, in this number.

The general public is invited to attend the recital. Ushers will be: Lee Rice, Margaret Vardell, Marian Johnson, Johnnie Moore, Eleanor Welch and Marvel Campbell.

ATALOO

ATALOO SPEAKS OF OUR HERITAGE

Speaking in expanded chapel Wednesday Princess Ataloo of the Chickasaws, a tribe of the Muscogee nation, warned the audience that race prejudice from within will tear America apart more quickly than any interference from the outside. Of small stature with her hair parted Indian fashion in the middle and braided with beads on the side, she wore a white dooskin ceremonial dress sewn with senews and decorated with fringe and beads made with a bone awl. Her cosmopolitan accent surprised and aroused the envy of everyone. She said that tradition has it that the best Indian is a dead Indian. When the settlers came over they "first fell on their knees and then on the aborigines." White men shudder when they think of the massacres by Indians but after all the Indian was merely being a good patriot and defending his home. The Indian has not put up monuments at every spot where Indian villeges have been wiped out by white men. She was not denuding the attitudes of her ancestors so much as trying to dispell prejudice. The Princess in making her talk was carrying on the torch which had been handed her by the dying Father Murrow, then 96, a Georgian who had married her Mother and Father according to the Chickasaw rites and had baptised her and tried to help the Indians

NOTICE

Room assignments will be made on Thursday, May 15. No rooms will be assigned without a receipt for registration fee of $10.00. This fee is to be paid at the treasurer's office prior to May 15.

ACADEMY OPERETTA

Saturday night, May 10, at 8 o'clock, the students of Salem Academy are presenting in the Academy Auditorium one of the delightful Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, H. M. S. Pinafore.

The operetta is under the direction of Miss Helen Copenhaver, of the choral singing and dramatic departments, and has been in rehearsal for several weeks.

The entire student body will participate in the operetta. The stellar roles will be taken by the following Salem Academy students: "Little Buttercup," Betty Jo Wright, Baltimore, Md.; "Ralph," Yvonne Stewart, Charlotte; "The Boatswain," Gladys Ogsbury, Durham; "Dick Deadeye," Mary Margaret Pack, Beaumont, Texas; "Captain Corcoran," Mary Louise Abernethy, Raleigh; "Sir Joseph Porter," Katherine Craft, Winston-Salem; "Cousin Hebe," Athalea McDonald, Winston-Salem; and "Josephine," Joy Gilbert, Hartsville, S. C.

A small admission will be charged for the performance, the proceeds of which will serve as a contribution to the British War Relief Fund.

Mother Strong's Greeting To Salem

Let me grow lovely growing old,
So many fine things do:
Laces and ivory and gold need not be new,
And there is healing in old trees,
And streets a glamour hold,
So why may I not grow lovely growing old.

SALEM HONORED BY N. C. C. P. A.

The "Salemite" won second place in the B division of publications at the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association Convention, which was held at the Robert E. Lee Hotel on May 1, 2, and 3.

Student journalists, representing publications from 17 leading colleges and universities throughout the state, attended the meeting. The delegates from Salem were: Carrie Donnell, Barbara Whittier, Chubby Hayes, Ceil Nuchols, and Babara Lasley.

The convention was officially opened Friday morning with a general business meeting, followed by a luncheon at noon. Friday afternoon was devoted to a publication—problems discussion conducted along the lines of the "Information Please" radio program. Leading publishers and newspaper executives made of the board of "experts" whom the delegates questioned along lines relative to the field of collegiate journalism.

Friday night a formal banquet was held on the Marine Roof of the hotel, with Bill Sharpe, Winston-Salem publisher, as the principal speaker. Gold keys were awarded to the editor and business managers of the publications judged to be the best in their class. The banquet was followed by a dance.

At the final business meeting on Saturday morning, the new officers were elected for next year. They are: Johnny Mackinnon, Davidson College, president; Miss Lallah B. Watts, E. C. T. C., first vice-president; Ray Mansfield, Elon College, second vice-president; Miss Rosemary Reed, Greensboro College, secretary; and Bill Leloudis, State, treasurer. The next convention will be held in Raleigh the first weekend in November.

ELSIE NEWMAN AND JUSTINE JONES PRIZE COLLECTIONS

Prizes in the Book Contest sponsored by the library committee of the faculty were awarded in chapel Friday morning by Dr. Rondthaler. First prize, for the best general collection owned by a junior or a senior, went to Elsie Newman. She was presented a check for $25 with which to buy other books to add to her well-rounded library. Second prize went to Louise Bralower whose library contained an unusual group of French and art books. She received a check for $15 with which to purchase books. This award was donated by Mr. E. D. Snavely of the Salem Book Store.

In the second contest—open to sophomores and freshmen—Justine Jones won first prize, a check for $10. Justine's list of books that she would like to have in her library was judged the best all-round. With her prize money she will be able to buy several books chosen from her list. Second prize, $5 for the purchase of books, went to Mary Lloyd Glidewell, who had an interesting list of books in the field of biography and historical fiction.

The library committee is greatly pleased at the interest shown in both contests, which were inaugurated this year to encourage ownership of books. Judging from the 18 book lists and libraries entered, it seems that Salem girls have a keen appreciation for books. The judges praised the taste displayed in the libraries and lists and stated that they found it difficult to come to a decision.

The committee hopes that the awards can be made annually and that this event will become another cherished Salem tradition.

The winning libraries and lists are now on exhibition in the library.

FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY MEETING TONIGHT

Tonight at 8:30 in the reading room of the Salem library the annual meeting of friends of the library organization will be held when the new members of the executive board will be elected. Dr. Urban Holmes, of the romance language department of the University of North Carolina will speak. There will be an informal reception afterwards for those present. The public is invited to attend this spring meeting.

Mrs. T. Holt Haywood, chairman of the nominating committee, will present the slate from which the new board members will be elected. The present board members are: Mrs. William Hoyt, chairman; Mrs. R. A. McCuiston, secretary; Mrs. Justus Randolph, Mrs. Robert Shore, Miss Ida Wilkenson, Mrs. Charles N. Siewers, Mrs. R. T. Willingham, Mrs. James Early, Mrs. Fred Bohannon, Mrs. James Dunn, Mrs. Burton Craige, Mrs. Ralph Stockton, Mrs. T. Holt Haywood, Mrs. Bess Gray
