

Editor Announces New Staff Members

The editor of the Salemite is announcing the reporters for the year 1946-47 today. These students have been chosen according to their writing ability, dependability, capability, and originality. The new staff includes Jean Adams, Peirano Aiken, Dot Arrington, Marilyn Booth, Mary Bryant, Ann Carothers, Jane Church, Marty Davis, Debbie Darr, Louise Dodson, Anne Dungan, Frances Carr, Porter Evans, Laurel Green, Catherine Gregory, Roberta Huffman, Elizabeth Lee, Elaine Loving, Hallie McLean, Catherine Miller, Mary Motsinger, Jane Paton, Frances Reznick, Betsy Schaum, Iris Stone-street, Joanne Swasey, Carolyn Taylor, Barbara Ward, Una Williamson, Margaret Styers, Rosamond Putzel, Mildred Hughes, and Frances Winslow.

The list of reporters also includes several new students: Amie Watkins, Frances Gulesian, Anna Kamer, Susan Johnson. The editor announces also that any other freshman who wishes to try out must have her articles in no later than Friday, November 8. The time is being extended because the editor feels that there are quite a few freshmen who wish to try out, but who have neglected to do so. The try-outs include a feature and a news story. All freshmen who are interested in working for the paper are urged to try out this week.

El Club Espanol Meets Tuesday

The Spanish Club will meet Tuesday night, November 5, in the basement of Bitting Dormitory at 7 o'clock.

There will be a short business meeting at the beginning and then Martha Harrison, program chairman, is planning several games and stunts. Refreshments will be served and the meeting will be ended at 8 o'clock.

All students taking Spanish or interested in it are cordially invited to join the club and to attend the first regular meeting.

Miss Dyer Is Chapel Speaker

Diana Dyer, the second vice-president of the National Girl Scout Organization, spoke in assembly Thursday morning on her recent trip to Switzerland and France to an international executive conference on girl scouting. Miss Dyer has been interested in and connected with girl scouting for some time. She is past commissioner of Girl Scouts in Winston-Salem and is now a member of the national executive board of this organization.

Miss Dyer gave an interesting account of her trip. She first went to Paris and then on to Switzerland where the conference was held. Fifty representatives attended from twenty-one different countries. Different languages and customs were some of the difficulties of the meeting. They were all united, in a common effort to make girl and boy scouting possible to youth throughout the torn countries of the world.

Clewell Plans Open House

The girls of Clewell Dormitory are sponsoring an open house in Davy Jones' Locker on Saturday evening, November 2, at 8:00 o'clock. Everyone is invited to this informal "get-together."

There will be both refreshments and entertainment. Jo Patterson, head of the entertainment committee, promises a rollicking good time for everyone. The highlight of the evening will be the 9:30 floor show, featuring the "Thorn-jumpers of Clewell," broadcasting from station BURP. There will be cards, the juke-box for dancing, food and fun.

Mr. Weinland Visits New York

Mr. David E. Weinland has recently returned from a trip to New York, where he completed some plans for the anniversary symposium in March of next year. He also worked on the brochure for the anniversary celebration and endeavored to increase the endowment funds of the college.

While in New York, Mr. Weinland talked with Mr. William Schumann, president of the Juilliard School of Music, who said that he had heard favorable reports of the improvement in the music school at Salem College.

Mr. Weinland said that he found the name of Salem is becoming generally better known in other parts of the country.

Salemities Invited On Bermuda Trip

A plane for ten Salem Students has been reserved by Mrs. John Hammond, of the Department of College Relations, New York City, for any girls interested in flying to Bermuda for a week during spring vacation. The Bermuda trip is from April 3 to April 9, and reservations must be made by November 10.

Mrs. Hammond has been sponsor of college tours to Bermuda and to Europe for fourteen years. For additional details see Miss Edith Kirkland, Office of Public Relations.

Salem Academy Alumnae Meet

Alumnae of Salem Academy held their first formal meeting Friday night, October 25 and continued through Sunday. The activities of the week-end began with a dinner, followed by a meeting at which Miss Leila Graham Marsh gave the main address. Saturday morning was spent in committee meetings. In the afternoon a tour of the campus was conducted. At four o'clock, the alumnae were entertained at tea by Mrs. Rondthaler. Sunday morning breakfast concluded the reunion.

Of interest is the geographical distribution of the alumnae. One came from Milwaukee, four from New Jersey, one from Atlanta, one from Tennessee. Others came from Virginia and various parts of North Carolina.

FRANCES REZNICK

Faculty Group Will Meet

The Faculty Group for research and creative work will hold the first meeting of the year on Monday, November 4, at the George Washington Tavern, according to an announcement by Miss Jess Byrd, chairman.

Dr. Lucy Wenhold will deliver a paper on aspects of life at Salem College from 1800 to 1830. Dr. Wenhold spent the summer in doing research for this paper. This is the first of a series of research papers on the history of Salem College to be delivered by members of the faculty this year. Plans are under way to publish these papers in the spring as a part of the celebration of the 175th anniversary.

Gifts Committee Names Solicitors

Robert M. Hanes, chairman of the 175th Anniversary Fund Campaign, and Gordon Gray, chairman of the Advisory Gifts Committee, called a meeting of the latter group at Salem College, Monday night, October 28.

At that meeting the scope of solicitation for gifts for the science building project was determined, and the group of special solicitors to be invited to participate in the campaign was named. The invitations to these forty-five solicitors, who will see over two hundred people here in Winston-Salem during the campaign, will be sent from the college office immediately.

The chairmen of the various committees will meet for a discussion of campaign techniques at the college on the evening of November 5. The kick-off dinner for the campaign, to which all solicitors will be invited, will be held at the college on Friday, November 15.

The campaign itself in Winston-Salem will be conducted, November 18 to December 18. Various special committees are meeting in special sessions to determine the best techniques for soliciting their own groups.

Officers of Student Government at the college have voiced an interest in a campaign among the students. This matter is being considered, and an announcement will be made later.

Reznick Writes Winning Slogan For Contest

Home Ec. Club Slates Tavern

Gingham Tavern, an annual affair sponsored by the Home Economics Club, will be held November 9, in Davy Jones' Locker.

Yes, it's here again, that most celebrated of the Salem nightclubs! Doc Jordan, himself, bartender and he will have on hand cocktails of every kind, bourbon and soda, whiskey sour, rum and coke, plus many other soft drinks. And Hedge (Miss Hedgecock, that is) is the lively hostess with a whole staff of enties under her who will take the orders and see to everyone's slightest wish.

The Tavern is from 8 until 11 o'clock with not one but two floor-shows. The freshman talent is to be featured in the second show. Food and cigarettes will be on sale by girls in scanty skirts with every brand of tobacco and charm ever dreamed of.

The Home Economics Club urges everyone, including the coeds, to come early and get a favorite table.

Fellowship Plans Fall Retreat

The Fall Retreat of the Westminster Fellowship begins today November 1 and will continue through November 3 at Mitchell College in Statesville. This Retreat includes Presbyterian students from all the schools and colleges of the Synod of North Carolina.

The sessions open tonight with a dinner at Mitchell and will close with dinner on Sunday.

Frances Carr, secretary-treasurer of the Synod's Fellowship, and several members of the Salem Fellowship Group will attend all the meetings. The representatives of Salem's Group are Emma Mitchell, Margaret McCall, and Polly Harrop. Emma Mitchell has charge of the devotional program for the entire group on Saturday morning.

Dr. Warner Hall and Dr. Harry Goodykoontz of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church's Young Peoples' Council will be the main speakers for the Retreat.

Home Ec. Club Completes Plans

The Home Economics Club met Tuesday night, October 29, at 7:00 in Lizora Hanes Practice House. Peggy Page Smith presided over the meeting which was held to complete plans for the Gingham Tavern. Sally Hamilton, who has charge of this, gave the plans and appointed committees. The members discussed ideas for the Christmas Tea and for future meetings. After the meeting was over, refreshments were served.

Seniors Represent Salem At Meeting

Representing Salem College at the meeting of the West Piedmont District of North Carolina Garden Clubs Wednesday, October 30, were Connie Scoggin and Martha Boatwright. These students each made brief talks at the luncheon given at the Woman's Club for the 250 members. Mrs. Rondthaler was also at the luncheon.

Frances Reznick is the winner of the Science Slogan Contest, as announced by the Slogan Contest committee today. Frances' slogan—"SCIENCE IS ON THE MARCH—LET'S KEEP SALEM IN STEP!"—was picked as the winner because of its overall interpretation of the science program.

As winner, Frances Reznick, Sophomore Day Student, will receive a subscription to the "Reader's Digest."

Mr. Weinland is in hopes that the Salem College students will advertise this slogan and carry it throughout the year. The official opening of the Science Campaign begins Monday, November 18.

Members of the Slogan Contest Committee were: Dr. Howard Rondthaler, Mr. David Weinland, and Mr. Charles Higgins.

Wm. Schumann To Visit Salem

Mr. William Schumann, president of Juilliard School of Music in New York plans to visit Salem sometime in January.

Mr. Schumann is recognized internationally as an outstanding composer. His works have been performed by the N. B. C. Symphony Orchestra and other famous orchestras.

Mr. Schumann has shown great interest in the music department of Salem College. It was partly through his efforts that the professorship of Mr. Lerch was granted to Salem.

Roe Will Speak To Science Club

Dr. Arthur Roe, Associate Professor of Chemistry at the University of North Carolina, will be the guest speaker at the Lablings meeting Tuesday night, November 5. His subject will be some phase of organic chemistry.

Dr. Roe will be entertained at dinner in the college refectory by the heads of the science department and the officers of the Lablings Tuesday night before his lecture. The meeting will be held in Park Hall at 7 o'clock.

New Salem Players Will Present Comedy

The Salem Players held a bi-weekly meeting on Thursday, October 31, at 7:30 P. M. in Old Chapel. Plans were discussed for the presentation of three one-act plays before Christmas one of which will be "Suppressed Desires," a comedy.

Mrs. Berglund, faculty advisor of the organization, spoke on stage techniques and told about the current plays on Broadway.

Lomie Lou Mills, president of the club presided at the meeting.
