

MARY HUNTER HACKNEY

Hackney Gives Organ Recital Monday Night

Mary Hunter Hackney, organist, will be presented by the Salem College School of Music in her graduating recital on Monday evening, May 5, at 8 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

Mary Hunter is a very active student on campus. She is president of the Senior class, president of the Methodist students on the campus, Associate Editor of the Annual, and representative on the IRS Council.

Mary Hunter's program opens with "Suite" by Purcell-Fricker. It consists of four dances: Rondeau; Minuet and Sarabande; and Trumpet Tune.

The second part is a group of three Bach numbers: "Prelude and Fugue in C Major"; "O Man, Bewail Thy Sin So Great"; and "In Thee is Gladness".

The "Prelude, Fugue, and Variation" by Franck makes up the third section of the program.

The last group of selections includes: "From The Long Room of the Sea" by DeLamarter; "Harmonies Du Soir" by Karg-Elert; and "Now Thank We All Our God" by Karg-Elert.

For A Place In The Sun

It was 6 a.m. when Ephigeniah McWhorter walked away from "downtown jail on Thursday morning. As she stepped out onto the sidewalk, she looked back at the wall through which she had just walked. Then she chuckled as she thought of the stupid policeman who had gone to the trouble of locking her in that cold cell.

Now Miss Effie made her way along the deserted streets of downtown. They had changed a great deal since she saw them thirty years before.

When she arrived at McWhorter Boulevard, she could scarcely control her rising excitement. Only a mile and a half out stood the old McWhorter Mansion where she had spent the happy days of her life. The sun was just beginning to follow its first dazzling rays over the edge of the horizon, and as Miss Effie paused to look at its brilliant glow, it seemed to promise her a warm and truly glorious day. She hurried along drinking in, as she went, the beauty of the surrounding landscape. Little birds twittered in the leafy trees, grasshoppers jumped about in the tall grass, butterflies flitted about, and the odors of all wild flowers blended to form one lovely fragrance. Every living thing was happy in its own little way.

Meanwhile, at the deserted McWhorter estate, one lone individual nervously paced the floor of the immense parlor. He was a plump little man with a red face and a mass of very white, uncombed hair. He walked back and forth with hands clasped behind him, not raising his eyes from the floor. He mumbled to himself, "Where is she? Where could she be? She should certainly be here by now. In all my years as a medium, I have never lost a spirit on its way from the grave. Perhaps she has materialized -- nothing could be worse! What ever shall I do?" And he began to rave and tear at his hair.
