Miller Directs Opus Sunday

Handel's Christmas oratorio, "The Messiah", will be presented Sunday afternoon at four o'clock at Centenary Methodist Church. This traditional singing of "The Messiah" is sponsored by the Mozart Club and represents the opening of the Christmas season in Winston-Salem.

The large chorus will be composed of approximately 210 voices and four soloists. A small group of Salem students have also shown an active interest and will participate in the performance on Sunday.

The purpose of presenting "The Messiah" is to give all music lovers, whether or not they are professionals, a chance to sing and take part in a beautiful and outstanding Christmas oratorio.

The program Sunday is under the direction of Grady Miller, assisted by Paul Robinson at the organ. Before the program begins, Mr. Robinson will play a half hour of Handel's music, thus setting the stage for the performance to follow.

Everyone is reminded of the large crowd that will be attending and the necessity of going early to get a seat.

Writing Contest Is Postponed

Because of term papers and the Christmas rush the Salemite is postponing the deadline for its writing contest until Monday, January 17th. This will give contestants extra time during the holidays to work on their entries. Winners will be announced in the first issue of the Salemite after exams.

Ten Atrocious Salem Hags Win Chesterfield Fags

by P. Evans

The following girls' pictures were winners in the Sad Sack Contest, held last Wednesday night. In addition to winning a pack of Chesterfields apiece, these pictures were submitted to Hairy Goneover, famous advertising and modeling agent, who said that these pictures soon would appear in the following ways.

Shirley Baker will soon be seen in the magazine, "Optical Illusion," under the caption, "Is there fission in your vision?"

Don't miss the next issue of "Hag Mag" Lola Dawson will illustrate the story "I Was So Mad I Could Squeeze Grapes."

The next Karter's Kidney Kapsules advertisment will feature June Elder with the slogan, "This may be you today, if you don't use K. K. K.

Tootsie Gillespie, Annual Editor of Sights and Insights, has risen to Air Wick fame; the December edition of The Household Hearld carries a picture of Miss Gillespie with the caption, "I smelled a dead rat until I used Air Wick."

Stage Door star Winky Harris will endorse "Mere Smere Lipstick" in the forthcoming edition of the "Cosmotologist Currier."

Look for Dawson Millikin's picture and story in the January issure of "Peteeaye," "What Nursery School Teaching Did For Me."

Wilma Pooser's picture will be used on the back cover of the movie magazine, "Slick Flicks" in the ad, "Jerry Colonna because—"

Carter Read, Salemite Copy Ed, will advertise for Eye-Lite Luggage. "Pack 'em and stack 'em. Always easy to close. Always easy to carry." is Carter's slogan.

The next ABC ad will show Betsy Schaum as she felt before she smoked Chesterfields.

Watch for Carolyn Taylor's face in the book section of the New York Times advertising the brand new book, I Was Salemite Editor My Senior Year; The Inside Story of an Inmate.

Your Chesterfield representative was happy to sponsor this ABS Sad Sack Contest on Salem Campus. This contest has already given these ten girls a start in advertising photography. Congratulations and best wishes to these Sad Sacks in a successful career.
