

Try-outs For Pierrettes To Be Monday Night

by Lee Rosenbloom

All budding Bernhards and Bar-mores be present Monday night in Old Chapel. Final try-outs for Liliom, the first dramatic presentation of the year are to be held then. The play has a large cast and all students, particularly freshmen and men students, are urged to come and try-out.

Miss Reigner, the director of the Pierrettes, has completed plans for the dramatic productions for the coming year. There will be a Theatre-in-the-Round, which will consist of several experimental one-act plays. In this type of production, the audience is seated in a circle around the stage, and the plays are presented without benefit of scenery or costumes. Miss Reigner also plans to do a musical play if the students show sufficient interest and talent. This play will be of special interest to music students as it will require singing actors. The freshman play, with a cast and production crew consisting entirely of freshmen, will be given in the spring.

New students may become members of the Pierrettes only after earning a certain number of points. These points may be earned in acting, make-up, or by work on the stage-crew. One must not necessarily be an actress to become a Pierrette, but only to show genuine interest and capability in some phase of the theatre.

Salem is offering a course in theatre practice, taught by Miss Reigner, for the first time this year. This course covers both the history of the theatre and practical work. The students in Theatre Practice are to take responsibility for the production angle of the plays presented. The first semester of the course covers theoretical work in acting, while the second semester includes production methods and directing.

The course in Theatre Practice and the Pierrette club are designed primarily for those students who are interested and would like to take an active part in dramatics. So if you've been here three years and have been modestly hiding your talents, or if you are a freshman and pulled the curtain for the senior play in high school, please come to the try-outs Monday night.

A. A. Begins Fall Hockey

by Clinky Clinkscales

Would you like to be an athlete? Be on a class team and compete Against any foe that you might meet?

Well, it's easy. Now is the chance to show your stuff, So come on out for hockey and get tough.

We promise the game won't be too rough.

So, get the spirit. The number of practices before you can play

Are five in number, we say Because you aren't a pro, don't dismay

Come on out anyway!

While you are going out for these hockey practices remember that you are not only helping the A. A. and your class team, but also yourself. Each girl who makes her class team is given two points toward her letter. Those making sub-varsity are awarded three points, and those making varsity are given four points. These points are carefully recorded. When a girl has earned a total of 25 points, she wins a letter. It takes 33 to win a star and 45 to win a blazer. So with these things in mind, let's see a big crowd turn out for the class practices.

Davidson, Con. Founders' Day

ing forward to dating John Thompson. Two of our Salemites have dates with husky Davidson football players. Anne Boswell and Jean Stokes will have the pleasure of watching Johnny Richards and Tommy Commer in action on the gridiron. Three other girls have "big" dates planned. They are Temple St. Clair, Elsie Macon, and Harriette Anthony who will be dating Andy Horne, Dave Robinson, and Don Lozenby.

When the big contest between Salem and Davidson is underway tomorrow, it will be quite interesting, and probably amusing, to watch for the final outcome.

Founders' Day commemorates the insight of the Moravian men and women who 178 years ago realized the need in this community for such a school as Salem. These citizens of Salem were very much interested in setting up an adequate educational system for young women. The Salem Female Academy which they founded in 1772 has become two separate institutions, the College and the Academy. The College has developed to such a degree that it compares favorably with any girls school of its size. Though the college and academy are now non-sectarian, Founders' Day celebrates the foresight of these early Moravians.

The friendliness of Salem has impressed her tremendously, "I like everything about it" she stated. Why not drop up to the second floor of Main Hall and meet this energetic new faculty member.

Men Students

Mr. Curlee, head of the mathematics department, is now adviser to the men's group. He takes the place vacated by Dr. Howard Jordan, who served in the capacity for three years.

The new officers plan to hold a social for the purpose of acquainting returning men students with new co-eds and the faculty. This event will be held in the near future.
