Y Combats Exam Blues With Teas

The "Y" will again sponsor exam teas during exam period. From Friday, January 20 through Tuesday, January 26 refreshments will be served in the Day Students Center between three and four each afternoon. Everyone is invited to attend.

A coffee machine has been installed in the basement of Clewell. Permission for the installation was granted by the administration with the understanding that people who use it will dispose of the cups properly—being careful not to spill coffee on dormitory furniture.

Betty McBrayer has reported that the annual Christmas party for the orphans was a success. Fifty Salem girls attended the party at which refreshments were served and entertainment was provided for about 95 colored orphans. Pictures of the party have been posted on the "Y" bulletin board outside of the Day Students Center.

The Y Cabinet is beginning to start plans for a Salem-Davidson Day which will take place at Salem some time before Easter. No definite action has been taken because the cabinet wants to question students regarding their opinion of such a program.

Positive action is being taken to improve worship services on the Salem campus. The cabinet desires a considerable increase in attendance at Y Watch, Morning Vespers and Sunday Vespers. During the past week, Dr. Gramley has led the morning service.

Religious Emphasis Week

Dr. William Childs Robinson of the Columbia Theological Seminary in Decatur, Georgia will be the speaker at Salem's annual observance of Religious Emphasis Week, on February 20-24.

Dr. Robinson will present a series of lectures on subjects chosen by Salem students. Betty McBrayer is receiving suggestions for topics. One lecture will be for seniors only.

Performance Postponed

Mady Christians, stage and screen actress, has notified Salem College authorities here that her program scheduled for January 12th will be postponed. Miss Jess Byrd, Salem Lecture Committee chairman has announced February 12th as the definite date for Miss Christians appearance here.

The actress is currently starring with Raymond Massey in the successful New York revival of August Strindberg's "The Father," which opened last Fall. Her agent notified Miss Byrd that the success of the revival has caused the postponement of the Winston-Salem engagement. Miss Christians' program here will include scenes from classical and modern plays.

With the postponement of her appearance here, the next speaker on the series will be Dr. William Hung, Chinese scholar now associated with Harvard University, who will discuss "China In the World Drama" at Salem on Feb. 2.

Campus Earns New Paint

The administration offices of Main Hall, the Infirmary, Cozy Corner, and the showers in Clewell received new coats of paint over the Christmas holidays. Cozy Corner and the showers were painted a shiny white, and the Infirmary a restful green.

Faculty Play To Climax Day

Salem will observe a Student-Faculty Day some time in February. Betty McBrayer, President of the Y. W. C. A., has reported that her cabinet is planning one day in which students and faculty members will get together at mealtime and during afternoon and evening.

Arrangements will be made to have students and faculty members eat together, have open house, and finally in the evening the faculty will present the Faculty Play, an event which takes place every fourth year at Salem. Admission will be charged for the play, the proceeds of which will be contributed to W. S. S. F.

Registration Plans Given

The Administration has announced that registration for second semester will be held Monday, January 30, from 2-5 p.m.

The regular procedure will be used, with the students paying their semester payments at the Treasurer's office, going to Old Chapel to secure their grades for this semester, going to their advisers for final registration, and then checking by the Recorder's office. The administration expresses the hope that few changes will be made from the students' preliminary registration plans, because the second semester schedule has already been made out.

Miss Simpson, Recorder, has stated that no grades will be announced to the students from the office or from the teachers until registration day. An exception is that seniors who have failed a subject, and must take a re-exam immediately, will be notified in writing.

All students are reminded that they must pay their exam fee at the Bookstore before taking their exams.

John M. Graham Dies In Swannanoa

John M. Graham, a truck driver at Salem since March of 1948, died at the Veterans Hospital in Swannanoa, N. C. on Dec. 23.

* The most representative student teacher on the Salem campus will be chosen next month by the students. A new state program to "glamorize" the teaching profession, under the sponsorship of the North Carolina Education Association, is now getting underway. Beverly Johnson, State president of the Future Teachers of America; Dr. Elizabeth Welch, State president of the Division of Higher Education of the N. C. E. A.; and Bernice Pierce, president of the Salem Chapter of the F. T. A., are planning the campaign on this campus.

All twenty of the practice teachers are eligible to be chosen. A screening committee of Louise Stacy, Cammy Lovelace, and Mary Alice Hudson will each select five of the most representative teachers from the practice teacher group. This makes a possible list of fifteen girls to be voted on by the students. These students will be selected on the basis of the evaluation criteria that was worked out this year by a state committee for this purpose. Also extra-curricular activities and scholastic records will be considered.

The girls selected by the screening committee will be voted on by the Education Club at their meeting on February 7. They will select six girls from the group. These six girls will be presented to the student body in chapel the following Thursday, February 9. Later on these six girls will appear before the student body in evening dresses, since poise and personality are important parts of the contest. The students will then select three girls from this group. The three girls that receive the most votes from the students will appear before a faculty and administration committee for final selection. The girl who is then selected as the most typical of the student teachers at Salem will represent us at the North Carolina Education Association meeting March 9-11 in Raleigh.

The twenty girls, all seniors, who are eligible to be selected are: Carolyn Dunn, Betsy Evans, Louise Stacy, Laura Harvey, Sarah Walston, Bernice Pierce, Ann Linville, Lou Huntley, Mary Ann Spillman, Sue Stowers, Jean Starr, Fran Isbell, Betty McBrayer, Betty Jo Welch, Mary Alice Hudson, Logan Vaught, Beverly Johnson, Mary Jane Hurt, Sarah Hamrick, and Eula Mae Cain.

Meeting Of A.A.S.U. Held

Miss Covington will attend a two-day conference on Undergraduate Education and Social Work in Raleigh on Friday, January 13.

This conference is sponsored by the North Carolina chapter of the American Association of Social Work. Its purpose is to determine to what extent social agencies are able to employ college graduates. The discussion will cover the number of positions open and the nature of the work involved.

Upon her return Miss Covington will be glad to discuss the conference with any Salem students who are interested in Education and Social Work.

Carroll, Hung To Speak On February 2

Salem will hold an International Day on Thursday, February 2, featuring the new purpose of the recently created Strong Fund for National and Inter-National Understanding.

Highlighting the activities of the morning will be an address by Wallace Carroll, executive news editor of the Winston-Salem newspapers, in Memorial Hall at the regular assembly period.

Mrs. Hattie M. Strong, founder of the fund, will return to her home on the campus January 22, and will be honor guest for International Day.

Foreign students from surrounding colleges will conduct a round table discussion in the afternoon on the subject "The Common Ideals as Foundations for World Peace." All Salem students are invited to attend the discussion. The foreign students will be guests of the International Relations Club in the college dining room for dinner.

Those students who will be present are: High Point College—Mr. John Czarniecki; Mr. Ray Vargas, Cuba; Guilford College—Jun Ayusawa, Japan; Jennie Chu, China; Wilhelm Anders, Germany; Melba Gorgas, Cuba; Fred Katz, Germany; George Makropoulos, Greece; Anne Isonaga, Hawaii; Farid Sughayyar, Palestine; Fahim Qubain, Trans Jordan; William Louis Serog, Poland; Greensboro College—Miss Marie Sheng, China; Miss Nyi Tsung Tsu, China.

Dr. William Hung, second speaker in the 1949-50 Salem College Lecture Series, will speak at 8:30 in Memorial Hall. His subject will be "China in The World's Drama."

Civic Concert To Be Feb. 7

The Cincinnati Symphony with Thor Johnson conducting will present a concert Tuesday, February 7, at Reynolds Auditorium. The concert will consist of the following works: Concerto Grosso in D minor by Vivaldi; The White Peacock by Griffes; and "Suite" from Der Rosenkavalier by Richard Strauss. Following intermission, the Symphony will conclude with Tchaikovsky's Fifth Symphony.

Mr. Johnson is almost a native of Winston-Salem. He began his musical training here at Salem College. Dr. Vardell was his piano teacher, and he also began violin in our Music Department. At that time his father was pastor of one of the town Moravian Churches in Winston-Salem. Mr. Johnson's sister Marian, who has since become Mrs. Johns, is a graduate of Salem.

Besides this added interest in its conductor, the Cincinnati Symphony concert is one of the concerts presented by the Winston-Salem Civic Music Association.

Dr. Carmichael Spoke Tuesday

Dr. William Carmichael, acting president of the Greater University of North Carolina, opened the 1950 session of Salem College Chapel programs on Tuesday morning, January, 10.

Dr. Carmichael stated that North Carolina is a good state because its people have faith in God, faith in themselves, and faith in each other. He emphasized the fact that while we are pursuing our studies we should give much thought to our faith.
