Gorsuch Protects Campus; Dr. Gramley Entertains and Pampers Us

MR. GORSUCH

lf you are ever down in Davy Jones about three o'clock in the morning and you think you hear strange noises, just relax and stop worrying because you are well protected. We can thank Santa Claus for our new night watchman, because Mr. Gorsuch came to Salem just after Christmas.

Mr. Gorsuch hails from Worcester, Massachusetts, but for several years he and Mrs. Gorsuch and their two little girls, age thirteen, have made their home in Winston-Salem. Son Jimmy, age seventeen, is in the United States Navy and is stationed at Treasure Island, California, where he is attending Radar School. Last time Jimmy was home he came out to Salem for a visit.

If you ask Mr. Gorsuch what he did before he came to Salem, you'll be astonished at his versatility. It seems that he has done almost everything from being head foreman at Firestone to being Chef in a Worcester restaurant. In addition to all this, our night watchman raises chickens and goats, designs furniture, finishes antiques, and has just set out five hundred new strawberry plants in his garden. Mrs. Gorsuch prefers flowers and her garden will be full of them this spring.

The Gorsuch's home is a favorite visiting place for celebrities, too. Movie star Ava Gardner once stayed for four days!

Mr. Gorsuch has made himself popular at Salem by doing hundreds of little things that everyone else is too busy to think of. In addition to locking the dorms and turning off the lights in the smokers, he can prescribe treatment for colds and he keeps the Salemite office supplied with pocketized magazines and Chinese news papers. Incidentally, girls will be interested to know that he avoids the side doors of Clewell at eleven o'clock at night. Although Mr. Gorsuch is probably best known in the Catacombs where he is a frequent visitor in the Salemite office, everyone who knows him will agree that he is quite an addition to the Salem campus.

It's Tavern Time Again

The Salem College Home Economics Club will sponsor Gingham Tavern tomorrow night, Saturday, March 25 from eight to eleven forty-five in the Day Students Center. The central theme of the affair will be the development of a and Dr. Welch welcomed the new 'ranchlike" atmosphere.
