

Seniors Tell Santa Claus What To Bring Them For Christmas

By Betty Page Beal and Joann Field

The Senior class is eagerly looking forward to a visit from St. Nick the twenty-fifth. Here is a letter we found.

Dear Santa, Please bring Clara Justice the Rosetta Stone so she will be able to translate Egyptian hieroglyphics in order to introduce variation in her Spanish classes at Gray High School.

Winkie Harris wants a roulette table and a green eyeshade for dull nights during the week.

Anne Mosely, star education major, wants to go back to the William and Mary game next year under the exact same circumstances.

Fay Stickney wants De Abellard's book, "BRAIN CONCUSSIONS AND THEIR USES"—in case of future Army-Navy games.

All the girls on second floor are begging for heaters and electric blankets for their drafty rooms.

Betty Leppert wants a tennis racket, hockey sticks, golf clubs, a javelin, and polo mallets so she can get out of shape during the holidays.

Emmy Rowland wants an invitation to Spring Frolics at Pilgrims Bible College.

Betty Gwen Beck and Ann Spencer want extended visits from Dr. Welch and Mrs. DeBardelaben and any other heads of departments to see if they are applying education to everyday life—during the holidays.

Cammy Lovelace wants ten volumes of the Bach Brandenburg concertos in her stocking.

Sis Pooser's wants are quite simple. She has her heart set on a shiny new annual.

Sis Hines wants a pogo stick in case she ever has to go out to Mineral Springs again to practice teach.

Squeaky Carson is begging Santa for a book entitled "How to Study, in Three Short Chapters". Lee Rosenbloom wants a complete set of the works of Thomas Tickell, eminent writer, so she can continue research in the 18th century.

Cackie Pearson wants a blind date for the Christmas festivities in Gastonia.

Sis Honeycutt hopes Santa will bring her the sheet music to "Careless Hands", for use in her spring recital.

Jess Byrd has advised Clinky Clinkscales to ask for a subscription to True Confessions Magazine to use as a model for her future composition papers.

Nancy Florance wants to find a copy of George Santayana's Philosophy and Metaphysics under her tree.

Bill Greene, noted homemaker, wants a nice easy recipe for three-minute boiled eggs.

Joanne Field and Betty Beal want an autographed copy of Paradise Lost with pithy comments and footnotes by Dr. Todd.

Bowman Weds Hutton On December 27

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Bowman have announced the engagement of their daughter, Martha Wood to George Norman Hutton III. The marriage is to take place at 12:00 noon on December 27 in the Lutheran church, Hickory, N. C.

Muggins, who is a music major, this year has been Chief Marshal, Music Editor of the Salemite and Assistant Business Manager of the Sights and Insights. She has also been very active on the May Day Committee, serving as chairman of the dance committee last year.

After their marriage, Muggins and George will live in Chapel Hill where George is a Junior at Carolina. Muggins plans to continue her studies at Salem until the end of the semester and then join George in his studying Spring quarter at Chapel Hill.

"Romeo and Juliet Overture"? All boys at one time or another lose their cigarette lighters and feel they "can't do without one". Is that hint enough? What would be a more perfect gift than a piece of luggage, and 2 to 1 says he carries his clothes around in a duffle bag. One last suggestion—equipment to take on his favorite sport outing—be it hunting, fishing, or just plain picnicing.

These little hints are actually few—And if they don't help you in any way, Go window shopping—you'd be surprised how much good that will do—Have happy shopping and a happy holiday!

Club membership was also discussed. Permanent membership will be composed of a group of interested students who will meet every other Wednesday with Mr. Spencer for informal discussions of international affairs. The entire student body will be invited to the Club's formal meetings, where there will be a visiting speaker.
