

Tentative Plans For Future Revealed By Senior Class

By Emma Sue Larkins

If the seniors can live through comprehensives they will be prepared to go out into the world, maybe.

The mesdames Beth Kempton, Vicki Hagamon, Katherine Brown, Anne Huntley, Janet Weir and Cacky Moser are definitely assured of a job while Ann Coleman, Betty Griffin, Kenan Casteen, Mary Lib Elrick, Dee McCarter, Sybil Haskins, Emmie Rowland, Joanne White, Polly Hartle, Sis Pooser and Jane Krauss will soon join the married ranks.

Martha Scott and Frances Morrison are planning to go to New York and anywhere else they find interest, after they attend all the weddings, that is.

Sis Honeycutt, Ros Fogel, and Bennie Jo Michael will be busy using their music majors to play for some of the weddings.

Dena Karres hopes to teach the third grade in Charlotte if she can only "get that job!"

Ann Spencer might be teaching first grade in an Episcopal school in New York. If that fails, there's always Rocky Mount.

Mary Lib Weaver might teach or she might not—you figure it out.

Betty Gwen Beck and Nancy Florence are going to teach in grammar school in Winston and Norma Woosley, Joan Mills, Dot Reynolds and Doris Willard hope to be teaching somewhere.

Clara Justice will be looking for a job teaching Spanish or she may go into the candy business.

Marie Cameron and Carolyn Johnson will be "home ec-ing" somewhere and Effie Chonis "diet-itioning" somewhere else. Jane Hart will be "Tug-ing" and teaching somewhere.

Betty Kincaid wants to teach in Raleigh or at home. Cammy Lovelace wants to teach public school music and Jean Tegmeier wants to teach music in Boston.

Squeaky Carson is going on to higher things. She has a scholarship to take graduate work and aspires to be a youth director of Religious Education.

Lucy Harper will spend the summer in Maine studying with Carlos Salzado, the famous harpist.

Faye Stickney is going to Katherine Gibbs Business School in the fall to "prepare for a job".

Joanne Fields is going to graduate school either at Carolina or Julliard to study music.

Frances Tucker will continue her med tech training at Bowman Gray after she gets married.

Winkie, Lee and Clinky are going to Europe to study, tour or—?

Betty Jean Mabe might set up her own music studio or go to Cuba.

Clara Belle LeGrand has been interviewed for a job with the Journal-Sentinel and Ann Graham has been interviewed for social work here in Winston.

Betty Leppert hopes to work in a publishing house and Joan Kenyan wants to work in Winston near Will.

Billie Green is trying to get a job with General Electric to demonstrate home appliances.

Ann Moseley will be working with high explosives at $400 a day. That's what they told me!

Betty Beal, Betty Pfaff, Mariam Swaim, Evelyn Tatum and Peggy Osborne will use their music majors to entertain themselves with chamber music.

Sis Hines? She may run a Packard place. If not, there's always tobacco auctioneering.

Ruby Nelle Hauser and Florence Messick hope to use their English majors advantageously and Louise Hecht will probably teach the grammar grades to talk "yankee."

The two co-eds, Jack Crim and Daniel Hodge, haven't much choice, you know—Uncle Sam.

haps not shared by others, but it seems to me that the Salemite is too literary.

I don't mean that students should not be encouraged to be creative, but I think that the place for short stories from the composition class is not in the campus newspaper.

Perhaps, I am not qualified to judge beginning writers' endeavors but, I feel that the stories are too long and are not applicable to campus affairs. It seems to me that the newspaper should have as its function the presentation of events and ideas pertaining to the campus.

The stories appearing several times have had no appeal to student interest.

Two checks—voices saying simply, "This is for the curtain fund." One check was given by the Y. W. C. A. and one by the Odred of the Scorpion, totalling $105. The curtain fund now amounts to $160, a third of the way.

The Pierrettes wish to say, "Thank you!"

News Briefs

Teachers of Winston-Salem will be held Monday, May 14, 1951 in the Club Dining Room at 6:15 p.m. Host and hostess for the occasion will be Dr. Gramley and Dr. Welch.

Guests of Dr. Gramley, Dr. Welch and the practice teachers will be Dr. Brimley and Mr. Moore, superintendents of the county and city schools, heads of various departments in the secondary and elementary schools of Winston-Salem, the principals of city and county schools, all teachers of Central School and all critic teachers.

The International Relations Club entertained Salem's foreign students at a coffee in Biting living-room after dinner last Wednesday. Members of the club and faculty attended.

Remembrance gifts were presented by Anne Blackwell to Violeta Castro, Catherine Birckel, Cary Borges, Erika Huber, Inge Sigmund, Astrid and Ingrid Parmele.

Eugene Connally, noted tenor, appeared in the last in a series of concerts of the Civic Music Association last Tuesday.

Tickets are now on sale for membership in the association, but because there is a limited number available, Salem students are urged to get their tickets early. They may be obtained from Mrs. Algene Ogburn in the Music Hall.

"H. M. S. Pinafore" or "The Lass That Saved A Sailor", Gilbert and Sullivan's gayest operetta, was presented by the Salem Academy Glee Club last Friday in the academy social room.

The lead, Little Buttercup, was played by Georganne Coble of Lexington; the captain, Jan Saxon of Charlotte; Josephine, Kate Rudy of Paducah, Ky.; Sir Joseph, Ann Currie of Carthage and Ralph Rackstraw, Lois Plummer of Bravard. The remaining characters were played by other members of the glee club.
