

Kit Sinclair Hurt In Car-Truck Crash

Kit Sinclair suffered a severe head cut and bruises recently when the car in which she was riding collided with a log truck near Tallahassee, Fla. As the car started to pass, the truck driver made a sudden left turn without giving a hand signal.

Kit was on her way to Panama City, Fla. to see her fiance, Hal Ingram, who was stationed at Tyn-dall Air Force Base. She was accompanied by Hal's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Ingram of Laurin-burg, N. C. who also received bruises.

The automobile was damaged be-yond repairs and was left in Tal-lahassee. Kit and Mr. and Mrs. Ingram continued the trip in a rented car.

If our privileges were given to the Strong girls, it would also have to be extended to the other juniors living in Sisters. In future years, this would eventually have to be extended to underclassmen who will be living in these same dorms.

The Office of the Dean of Stu-dents is in Clewell. It is to the good fortune of those who live in Clewell that they can sign out in their own dorms and to the mis-fortune of others who must walk to Clewell.

Faculty Plan Three Recitals

Three faculty recitals have been scheduled for October and early November.

The first of these will be a violin recital given by Eugene Jacobow-sky, Oct. 8 at 8:30 p.m. in Memori-al Hall.

Mrs. Eugene Jacobowsky, voice teacher at Salem, will present a concert Oct. 29 in Memorial Hall.

Miss Margaret Vardell will give an organ recital in Memorial Hall on No. 5.

front of a long wooden shed which was used as a wash house.

The last reproduction shows the buildings on Church Street just above the Home Moravian Church. One of these, the retired ministers house which was first used in 1816, was later moved to the Salem campus and was used until this year as the science building.

All of these paintings are exact in their fidelity to the original, but their color and lifelike figures bring life to what might otherwise have been dead copies.
