

Art Group Will Sponsor Exhibit, Films

An exhibition of paintings by Dallas Caldwell will be held from Oct. 10 until Nov. 8 in the Salem College Art Gallery. Mr. Caldwell will be present at an informal opening on Oct. 17 at 8:00 p.m. Both the exhibition and the opening will be sponsored by the Salem College Art Club.

Mr. Caldwell, a native of Chapel Hill, is a graduate of the University of North Carolina. He studied under Eugene Weiss for five years at the Corcoran Art School in Washington, D. C. Mr. Caldwell is employed now by the International Business Machine Corporation.

His paintings are of a rare nature, entirely uninfluenced by modern trends. Mr. Caldwell is neither an academic nor a modern painter, but a creative artist with an entirely original approach.

In addition, the Art Club plans to present an exhibition by Ralph Rosenborg, a well known New York artist, Nov. 8 through Dec. 12.

At a date yet to be announced a panel discussion will be held on the topic, "Do the modern arts represent human progress?" Both students and faculty will participate in this discussion.

Nine films have been acquired from the Film Library of the Museum of Modern Art and will be presented by the Salem Arts Club. Admission to this series of films may be obtained by purchasing a ticket from Art Club members for 75 cents.

Five German films with comments by Stanley Kimball will be shown on Nov. 6 at 7:30 p.m. They will consist of primitive German films, Don Juan's Wedding, filmed in 1909; Misunderstood, filmed in 1912 and starring Henny Porten; The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari, filmed in 1919 and ranking in fame with Birth of a Nation; and The Golem.

On March 6, a group of three comedies will be presented. The first will be Dream of a Rarebit Friend, filmed in 1906, produced for $350 and grossed $30,000; the second will be High and Dizzy, filmed in 1920 and starring Harold Lloyd; the third will be The Navigator, filmed in 1924, produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and starring Buster Keaton.

A film adopted from a 19th century play by Eugene Labiche will be featured on May 8 and will be the last of the film series. This film, The Italian Straw Hat, was directed by Rene Clair.

Freshmen Arabs Bow To Soph Princesses In Sheets, Turbans, Mustaches, Boots

Rat Week officially began Monday after lunch when the sophomores, dressed in black and led by Louise Fike, marched into Old Chapel.

Ratting began at 10:00 p.m. Monday in Davy Jones when the freshmen appeared in the garb of Arabs. They were dressed in long, flowing, sheet robes, towel turbans and boots, and had black mustaches painted across their pale faces. At a command from their "princesses" the Arabs had to kneel on their prayer rugs and praise Allah.

Rat Week continued for two full days during which time the freshmen were seen riding around campus on their stick "camels," writing letters for the sophomores, or offering their "superiors" candy and cigarettes.

13, in Memorial Hall. He will be accompanied by Hans Heidmann.

After receiving the B. S. degree at Julliard School of Music where he majored in violin, Mr. Jacobowsky continued his studies at Columbia University and there received his M. A. degree in music education.

Mr. Jacobowsky's program will consist of selections by Brahms, Beethoven, Faure, and Fritz Kreisler. The Concerto by Kreisler that Mr. Jacobowsky will perform is an original composition written in the style of Vivaldi.

In a musical sense the chamber music does not employ the piano as an accompanying instrument, but gives it an intricate part with the violin.

Mr. Heidmann, instructor of advanced piano at Salem College, is a graduate of Julliard School of Music. He has studied with Rudolf Serkin in Switzerland, Mariz Hedwig Rosenthal in New York, and is now taking courses in history, English and Bible at Salem.

Before supper Tuesday the Arabs entertained the upperclassmen in Sister's. Tuesday night they entertained their "princesses" with original skits.

Rat Week culminated in Rat Court on Wednesday night. The members of the Court were Rooney Barnes, Bryan Bowman, Diantha Carter, Jean Curran, Emily Heard, Jane Little, Allison Long, Sally Reiland and Norma Spikes.

80 Salemites Dine In Bed

Junior Breakfast was served to about 80 Salemites last Sunday morning.

This year the Juniors adopted a new method of serving. A breakfast of coffee and doughnuts was carried to the dormitory rooms for 25 cents.

A group of ten girls served the breakfast to those who signed the order lists in each dormitory.

Order lists are placed in the dormitories each week and those who want to be served Sunday morning between 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. must sign by noon Saturday.

The idea of serving breakfast in bed was suggested by Betsy Forrest, who had been told by her aunt that the plan had been effective here several years ago.

The chairmen of the Junior Breakfast Committee are Carol Glaser and Jean Edwards.

Bitting Decorated

The girls in Bitting have been redecorating the basement this week. The piano and tables have a new coat of red paint, the footstools have new covers, and the windows are decked with new red pots filled with ivy.

Ruthie Derrick is doing sketches of all the inhabitants of Bitting to decorate the walls. Next red ruffles and tie-backs will be made for the white curtains, and the chairs will be painted black.

of the Court called onto the stage each member of the Freshman Class to perform some task. After Rat Court was over the sophomores gave the freshmen a party in Davy Jones, thus ending Rat Week and restoring friendliness between the two classes.

Y Cabinet Has Camp Retreat

A Y. W. C. A. Cabinet retreat was held last Monday night at Camp Betty Hastings to discuss various Y activities for the coming year.

After a picnic supper a brief period of song and worship was held with a talk on "Our Faith in Prayer" by Sara Outland.

Marilyn Summey then asked for reports from the various committee chairmen. The Vesper committee decided to have programs planned around the students' interests with a definite time limit each Sunday night. Students will be given a chance later to suggest topics of interest to them.

The Y-store committee decided that students shall not be allowed to charge at the Y-stores unless their bills for the previous month have been paid. Notices will be sent out.

Projects for the social and community service committees include visiting an old ladies' home and the orphanage parties at Christmas and Easter.

Also discussed and of primary interest is Religious Emphasis Week to be held Oct. 26-30. The speaker is Dr. George Farell, professor of Philosophy at Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn. His topic will be "The Time is Now."

The meeting was then closed with the singing of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds." Guests included Miss Evabelle Covington, Dr. Gregg Singer and Miss Margaret Barrier, new advisor to the Y.

Scorpions Receive Six Students

Two seniors and four juniors were recently elected to membership in the Order of the Scorpion. The new members, Marilyn Summey, Ann Rhyne, Jean Calhoun, Alice McNeely, Jean Shope and Joan Shope, were announced in chapel last Tuesday by Dr. Ivy Hixson, advisor to the organization.

Marilyn, a senior, is president of the Y. W. C. A. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Summey, Marilyn is a member of the Honor Society and the F. T. A.

Ann, also a senior and F. T. A. member, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. A. Rhyne of Statesville. She has been active in the Pierrettes and was treasurer of her class last year.

Jean Calhoun is now secretary of Stee Gee and managing editor of the Salemite. From Clinton, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Calhoun. She was recently elected chairman of the Monogram Club and member of the A. A. council.

Alice, Junior Class president, is from Mooresville. She is secretary of the Y, junior editor of Sights and Insights, and has worked on the Salemite staff.

Jean and Joan Shope were elected marshals for the Senior Class last spring. They are from Weaverville. Joan is advertising manager for the Salemite, and Jean is circulation manager.

Other members of the Scorpion elected last year are Ann Lowe, Eleanor McGregor, Peggy Cheers, Marian Lewis, Jane Schoolfield, Jane Smith, Jeanne Harrison and Emma Sue Larkins.

Barnes Chosen For Lead Role

The cast of the fall Pierrette production, "Antigone," has been announced. Ronnie Barnes of Bennettsville, S. C., has the title role of Antigone.

Others in the cast are Joyce Billings, Ismene; John Fries Blair, Creon; Glenn Pettyjohn, Haimen; Jim McDonald, Teirias; Margaret Blakeney, Eurydice; Bill Long, sentry; John Byrd, guard and Sally Reiland, messenger.

The speaking chorus will be led by Ann Edwards. The members of the chorus are Laura Mitchell, Betty Riddle, Francine Pitts, Jean Curran, Nancy Florence, Diane Knott and Jane Little. Choreography will be staged and directed by Florence Swindell.

Research on Greek costumes has already begun, and the costume committee will have one of the most important jobs.

At the Pierrette meeting on Monday night a committee was selected to choose plays for forthcoming productions. Members also signed up for the various other committees of the club.

Frances Horne To Teach Here

Miss Frances Horne has received an interim appointment to teach at the Salem College School of Music beginning Monday, Oct. 13, 1952. She will temporarily replace Miss Mary Jones who is in the hospital.

She received her B. M. at Salem College in 1950. She was a piano major and studied under Mrs. Margaret Merriman and Dr. Charles G. Vardell, Jr. Immediately after graduation, she did graduate work at the University of Michigan and has since been a private music teacher in Warrenton, N. C.
