

Banquet Held For Teachers

Teachers and administrators of the Forsyth County and Winston-Salem city schools were honored at a banquet in the Club Dining Room Tuesday night.

The teachers and administrators had co-operated with Salem's Education Department by acting as critics for Salem's practice teachers.

Dr. Dale H. Gramley, Loma Faye Cuthbertson, president of F. T. A. and Dr. Elizabeth Welch, head of the Education Department, expressed Salem's appreciation to these teachers and administrators.

Claude Rains Will Lecture

The College Lecture Committee, headed by Miss Jess Byrd, has announced that Claude Rains will be the outstanding attraction of the lecture program next year.

Mr. Rains, distinguished stage and screen star, will be presented in cooperation with the Winston-Salem Little Theatre. He will give a unique program of dramatic recitations, some with piano accompaniment.

Although other speakers to be on the '53-'54 series have not been chosen, four or five will be picked from the following tentative group: In the field of current and foreign affairs, Mrs. Alan Kirk, James B. Reston, Eric Sevareid, Lady Rany Ran and Chester Bowles are being considered.

One or two from the group of editors and critics will appear—John Mason Brown, Bosley Crowther and Merle Armitage. Joyce Cary and Frederick Prokosch are the writers under consideration; while either Bennett Cerf or Alastair Cook may be chosen for a miscellaneous program.

Girl Of Month Likes Bridge, Eggs, Roommate And Salem

By Connie Murray

"The only way to ever get something out of college is to participate—become part of the things that go on." So said Peggy Chears, Salem's girl-of-the-month, who was chosen for her wonderful class spirit.

Since she has been at Salem, Peggy has found this to be true by experience.

Helps "Y"

As treasurer of the "Y" one year, Peggy helped with the idea of the foreign student party. During her sophomore year, as house president of Clewell, she started plans for redecorating "Davy".

This year she was associate editor of the Salemite and copy editor for the annual. As for student recognition, she is in "Who's Who" and the Scorpions.

Loves Eggs

Peggy, from Danville, Va., loves eggs, bridge, studying, good music, and her roommate Jeanne Harrison, whom she has to "get up every morning." She enthusiastically added, "I'll go anywhere at anytime with anyone."

A willing worker with good ideas—that's Peggy Chears, our girl-of-the-month.

A.A. News

The Athletic Association will present its annual A. A. Banquet at 6:00 Tuesday, May 19.

The members of the old A. A. Council, and the members of the new council will be seated at the head table. Dr. and Mrs. Gramley, Miss Chapman and Miss Palmer, will also be guests at the head table.

Following the dinner the athletic awards will be presented. These awards consist of the letter, stars and blazers. The climax of the presentation will be the awarding of the blanket to the senior with the highest number of points.

Swimmers Win

The annual swimming meet was held last Tuesday in the Salem pool with the sophomores and juniors trying for the championship with 20 points each.

There were eight events: four in form and four in speed. Betty McGlaughon walked off with individual honors by capturing two firsts and a second for her team.

Other first place winners were Jane Schoolfield, Bobbi Kuss, Louise Fike, Jackie Nielsen, Jody Meilicke and "Pook" Johnson.

The highlight of the meet was the fancy diving by the Salem clowns, Joan Shope, Betty McGlaughon, Allison Long, Jean Currin, and Carolyn Kneeburg. Later, McGlaughon and Kuss showed the Salem girls some form diving.

Team Announced

The 1953 varsity softball team has been announced as follows: Margaret Raiford, Nellie Ann Barrow, Betty Morrison, Jody Meilicke, Jackie Nielsen, Carolyn Watlington, Louise Fike, Betsy Lasitter, Joan Shope, Betty McGlaughon and Jean Calhoun.

Ex-Salemite Holds Offices

Eleanor Fry, a sophomore at Salem last year who transferred to Bryn-Mawr, has received numerous honors on her new campus.

According to a Philadelphia paper, "Honors have been heaped on Eleanor Fry, who, after two years at Salem College, transferred to Bryn-Mawr. She was chairman of the Junior Prom in April, has been elected to the editorial board of "The College News", Bryn-Mawr's weekly paper, and elected house president of Merion Hall."

Election to the house presidency caused her to withdraw her name from the ballots for vice-president of Student Government and vice-president of undergraduates.

Students To Model

A fashion show will be sponsored by the home economics department in Corrin Refectory, at 1 p.m., May 19. Students in the first and third year clothing construction classes will model the clothes they made this semester.

Sallie Kerner will provide the organ music.

Novelty programs will be given to students and faculty.
